2 CONFESS MURDER IN PARK

GREEN UPBRAIDS C. I. O. FOR SPLIT IN LABOR FORCES

Cause Set Back by Lewis, He Says.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 6.—(AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor upbraided the C. I. O. today for disrupting the family of organized labor, for sitdown strikes "likely to pave the way to a Fascist dictatorship" and for "welcoming communistic support and methods."

Green emphatically reasserted the federation's nonpartisan policy, predicting the forthcoming national convention at Denver would renew its previously asserted position.

Speaking under auspices of the Dallas Central Labor council at a massmeeting of American Federation of Labor members from all parts of Texas, where the C. I. O. has in recent months concentrated in organizing oil workers, Green said the federation stands ready to compose differences and restore "the united family of labor."

Deplores Split in Labor.

"In the midst of labor's deepest concern over the problem of unemployment and other economic questions, the American Federation of Labor is forced to deal with a new foe," he declared.

"It seems almost unbelievable that any group which professes to believe in the unity and solidarity of labor would deliberately create a split in the organized labor movement.

"Two years ago a minority which could not force or compel the majority in a convention to accept its will formed a dual organization. They called themselves the Committee for Industrial Organization.

"This dual movement has been praised and supported by the spokesmen of the communist party. The representatives of this subversive movement have placed their stamp of approval upon the C. I. O. . . .

"This development creates the issue. It marks the difference between the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Refuses Communism as Ally.

"The American Federation of Labor will have nothing to do with communism, communistic teachings, or communistic philosophy. We stand now as we have always stood, as a barrier to any advance which the communists may seek to make within the ranks of labor. . . . Never will the American Federation of Labor spend the dues collected from honest working men and women who love America and American institutions in the employment of communists."

Working men and women "meet the test of true Americanism" in deciding whether they will align themselves with the A. F. of L. or the C. I. O., Green told the Labor day audience. He assailed sitdown strikes as "industrial warfare' and said:

"The right to strike must be preserved and protected as a part of democratic procedure and democratic administration. We cannot surrender this right. . . .

Creates Charge of Lawlessness.

"But when property is illegally seized and held labor subjects itself to the charge of lawlessness and the destruction of property. That means labor places itself outside the pale and protection of law and lawful procedure. It is then subject to the charge of attempting to secure the redress of economic and industrial wrongs through the use of illegal methods. Public opinion . . . turns against it. When this occurs any temporary advantage gained must inevitably result in a permanent injury.

"The application of the sitdown strike on a wide national basis would pave the way not to the establishment of a communistic state, but to a Fascist dictatorship. No working man or woman would knowingly contribute toward such an outcome because individual freedom and liberty depends upon the preservation of democracy and the democratic form of government."

Discusses Third Party.

Green referred to "patient pleading" of the American Federation of Labor's executive council for a conference with C. I. O. representatives to reunite labor. All overtures, he said, were scornfully spurned."

Turning to the position of the American Federation of Labor in re-

CUBS AND SOX

The Cubs divided a double-header with the Reds yesterday, winning the second game, 2 to 1, after Cincinnati had taken the first, 7 to 3. Lee Grissom, Reds' left hander, although defeated, allowed the Cubs only one hit. The leading Giants won twice and went three full games ahead of the Cubs.

Bob Feller and the Indians defeated the White Sox, 2 to 1, in the second game of a double-header at Cleveland yesterday afternoon after the Sox had won the morning battle by the same score on Ted Lyons' five hit pitching. Feller allowed only four hits and struck out nine.

HOLIDAY DEATHS PROVE NEED OF SAFE HIGHWAYS

Toll 280 in Nation; 17 in Chicagoland.

Seventeen persons were killed in Chicagoland and at least 250 were injured in automobile accidents during the three day labor holiday. Eleven of the deaths were in the city of Chicago and 7 of the 17 were recorded yesterday. The nation's trafic massacre was more than 280 during the week-end.

The massacre in Chicagoland emphasized the need for modern, safe thoroughfares, police and engineers asserted last night.

They pointed out that most of the city streets and rural roads were built many years ago to accommodate slower and fewer automobiles, and cannot handle even normal present day trafic. Consequently the roads are wholly unable to meet the demands of holiday trafic such as that during the week-end when thousands of cars were on the highways in this area. They recommended immediate construction of elevated highways to stop the massacre.

Two Killed by Train.

Two of yesterday's seven victims were killed last night in a train-auto crash in Evergreen Park. Two others were hurt. Those killed were Miss Beatrice Mola, 20 years old, a visitor from Hastings, Neb., and John Gagen, 2½ years old, of 7835 Emerald avenue. They were in a car owned by John Lux, 27, of 7965 South Green street. Other passengers were Peter Gagen, 28, and Mrs. Laverne Gagen, 23, parents of Baby John. Miss Mola was driving.

As she started to cross the Wabash railroad tracks at 87th street and Pulaski road, Evergreen Park, another driver cut her off. She stopped and stalled her automobile just as the Banner Limited, inbound from St. Louis, thundered onward. Gagen, who was sitting in the rumble seat, leaped out and made a frantic effort to rescue the others, but had to jump aside just as the train struck. Miss Mola, the baby, Mrs. Gagen, and Lux were taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital, where the first two died and the last two were reported in critical conditions.

Four Pedestrians Killed.

Four of the five other trafic victims were pedestrians, and their deaths brought from engineers the observation that elevated highways would make such tragedies impossible, because pedestrians would not be permitted on elevated roads.

Michael Mogelson of Mount Prospect, a golf club employé, was killed by an automobile while he was walking in Northwest highway, west of Golf road, Des Plaines. John Callahan, 1502 South Elmwood avenue, the driver, was held.

A few minutes later Francis Joseph Reade of Yorkville was killed by a car driven by C. H. Dickson of the same town while walking along U. S. highway 34, east of Yorkville.

Hit by Cab, Pedestrian Dies.

Louis Gayden, 159 Goethe street, was fatally injured by a Yellow cab at Clark and Elm streets. The driver, Wallace Jones, 323 Center street, said the accident was unavoidable.

Peter Vandervin, 2015 Hiawatha trail, Highland Park, who died yesterday, was injured Sunday by a car driven by Harold Larson, 1939 Waveland avenue, in Skokie road, north of the county line.

The seventh victim yesterday was Dink Stroud, colored, 1527 West 14th street, who was killed when the car in which he was a passenger overturned as a tire burst in Harlem avenue at 63d street. Lillian Matthews, 1432 Washburn avenue, Susie Booth, 934 South Wood street, and Jessie Mathies, 1819 Taylor street, all colored, were hurt. Andrew Gardner, 1240 13th street, the driver, was uninjured.

Woman Dies at Belvidere.

Outside of Chicagoland, one Chicagoan, Mrs. Mary Sherman, 30 years old, 8413 Baltimore avenue, was killed yesterday. Her husband, John, a steel worker, was injured. They were thrown off their motorcycle when they ran into automobile on Route 20 near Belvidere, Ill.

The Labor day deaths and injuries here gave trafic observers an opportunity to study causes and effects. In some cases they found that the accidents resulted from mechanical faults, while in some others human factors were to blame. In general, however, it was found that one main cause of death on the highway is

REVEAL NEW FUEL TO GIVE AUTO OF FUTURE SPEED OF 150 MILES

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(AP)—One hundred and fifty miles an hour, with "smooth easy riding," is the power of the newest form of gasoline, iso-butane, described to the American Chemical society here today. This gas would also double present mileages per gallon, said Dr. Gustav Egloff of Chicago. For autos it would require redesign of engines and straightening of highways.

He said vast quantities already have been made and probably 18 million gallons will be used by the United States army for aviation in 1938.

Iso-butane is not a product of nature. It is an improvement on gasoline, he said, made by extracting from petroleum one of its common ingredients, known as octane. This stuff explodes so fast that it would wreck a cylinder.

Chemical treatment converts it into iso-butane. A pound of iso-butane, said Dr. Egloff, possesses more energy than a pound of T. N. T.

Discovery of a process to convert gasoline into toluol, which makes T. N. T., in quantities enough to supply the United States' entire needs for this explosive in wartime, also was reported to the society.

FIGHT DUEL WITH AUTOS; 2 YOUTHS DEAD; ONE HELD

Silver Spring, Md., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Two youths were killed today in a duel in which automobiles were the weapons, the unusual fatalities growing out of what started as a minor wrangle in a tavern.

As the argument became more serious the participants moved outside, entered their cars, drove on to the highway and began their duel of auto against auto. One of the cars was rammed by the other, skidded almost one hundred feet and crashed into a telephone post.

Two occupants of one car, Arnold C. Wolfe, 22 years old of Takoma Park, Md., and Roy Butler, 20, of Washington, were killed. The driver of the other car was John C. Wingrove, 19, of Washington. He was arrested on charges of manslaughter.

Kling Wins Air Race by Wing to Wing Finish

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—By a margin of fifty-seven hundredths of one second Rudy Kling of Lemont, Ill., won the Thompson trophy race here today in the most sensational finish in the history of this world premier closed course speed event.

Kling's average speed for the 200 miles flown around the 10 mile course was 256.910 miles an hour. Earl Ortman of Hollywood, Cal., the second place winner, made an average speed 256.858 miles an hour.

But their elapsed times for the race tell the story even more graphically. Kling spent 46 minutes 42.54 seconds on the course. Ortman was clocked at 46 minutes 43.11 seconds. Kling was behind Ortman until within 400 yards of the finish line. As the two ships flipped past, Ortman's propeller was even with the tail of King's machine.

Turner Beats Himself.

The race was a sad affair for Col. Roscoe Turner. After battling for 16 laps and well out ahead he cut a pylon on his last lap. Immediately he banked his ship into a vertical turn at 250 miles an hour and turned back to circle the mark and return to his course.

This maneuver was acomplished in only a few tenths of a second, but in that flash of an eye Ortman and the zooming Kling whipped past, locked in their duel which ended at the finish line. Turner was a poor third, although his average speed up to the last lap was well above the two ships that finished ahead of him.

Kling's lap position tells the story of his race. From a relatively poor start he eased along until in the last seconds he flashed up and across the line startling the 110,000 spectators who had not believed he had a chance.

Starts in Seventh Place.

For the first lap Kling was in seventh position and then for the next five he was in sixth. He moved into fifth and remained there from the seventh through the fifteenth lap. For the next three he was in fourth and then at the beginning of the 19th lap he was in third.

In that last ten miles with the throttle wide open he trailed Ortman and Turner to the third pylon. This was the mark Turner missed. Kling admitted later he became confused by seeing Turner suddenly swing round in a full circle.

FIVE PRISONERS SLUG FT. SHERIDAN KEEPER AND FLEE; 2 RETAKEN

Five military prisoners at Fort Sheridan knocked the guard house superintendent unconscious last night and escaped through a window, the bars of which they had sawed. Two of the men were captured in Glencoe early today.

The men who escaped were Lawrence B. Deacon, 24 years old; Richard B. Carroll, 18, and Edward A. Swanson, 25, all of Chicago; Harold Hensley, 23, of Shumway, Ill., and Richard Troy, 18, of Detroit, Mich. Carroll is under a three year prison sentence for desertion and robbery and the others are awaiting trial for various offenses.

Private Jack Curtin, 29, guard house superintendent, surprised the men just as they finished sawing through the bars. He was felled with a blow on the head from a bucket. Then the five men climbed through a window and fled. Carroll and Troy were recaptured about 1 a. m. by Corporal John P. Nichols and Private William Davis.

Seize Second Bandit, Shot in Holdup Fight

A solution appeared last night to have been reached in the mysterious murder of Herbert W. Lee, alias Robert F. Burns, Evanston market proprietor, who was shot to death on Aug. 22 as he strolled in the moonlight with his party girl sweetheart in Grant park.

The definite break in the case came with a new confession, supplementing one reported to have been made last Friday by Leonard Doxey, vice procurer and sweetheart of Miss Lucille Buehler, with whom Lee was walking at the time he was slain.

Make Secret Capture.

Although the state's attorney's office would make no official announcement, it was learned that Albert Minella, 26 years old, was seized in a flat near Lawrence avenue and Rockwell street Sunday night and that he made a confession yesterday. One major police task remaining is to capture a third man who has been incriminated by the two confessions.

Doxey has been charged with a part in the murder and it was his confession which led to Minella's capture.

The story of the killing, as reconstructed last night, stood as follows:

Doxey, Minella, and the third man, who is still being sought, learned that Burns was going out frequently with the blonde Miss Buehler and surmised that he had considerable money. They planned a moonlight robbery.

Trail Pair from Saloon.

Early on the morning of Aug. 22 Lee and the girl left a drinking spot and entered Grant park at Madison street for a stroll. Doxey and his two companions trailed them there, Doxey remaining in an automobile about a block from the scene selected for the holdup. With guns drawn Minella and the third man stealthily approached the couple from the rear. Whether Lucille knew a robbery was planned remained one of the minor mysteries of the case last night.

In any event, Burns resisted the robbers and was shot to death in the ensuing struggle. The third man, it is understood, has been named by his confederates as the one who fired the fatal shots.

During the struggle one of the holdup men was wounded near the neck by a wild bullet. The victim was Minella, who in his confession is understood to have told how he was taken to a physician, treated for his wound and then secreted in a north side hideout.

Hunt for Physician.

Minella, when captured, was found nearly recovered from the wound. The physician who treated him is being hunted by police. Six other persons who are said to have aided Minella at one time or another are reported to have been captured and are being held incommunicado.

Doxey, after the murder, fled from his room in the Metropole hotel to St. Louis, Mo., where he was arrested a few days later. Arrested with him was a friend, John Martin, who is being held by police as a material witness.

It was after Doxey's return that the state's attorney's office began to report progress in the investigation. Under questioning by Assistant State's Attorneys Emmet Moynihan and Harry Posner, Doxey revealed that he and the Buehler girl were acquainted. And finally, as evidence piled up, he is reported to have told the whole story.

Hold Robbery Only Motive.

The theory first held—that Burns was killed to prevent the Buehler woman from marrying him and so depriving the killers of a lucrative vice income—was discarded as a result of developments centering about Doxey. And the later theory, apparently proved by the reported confessions, was substituted—that the killers' only motive was robbery.

One peculiar feature of the case was Miss Buehler's story that one of the killers slapped her in the face just before the firing began. It was believed this indicated that she was known to them. Minella is reported to have denied that she was slapped.

FIRE DESTROYS $250,000 MANSION IN NEW JERSEY

Pine Valley, N. J., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Fire tonight destroyed the twenty-five room dwelling of the palatial Virginia Ireland Hearn estate here, often described as the "show place of South Jersey." The damage was $250,000. Family heirlooms and priceless antiques were consumed, among them a table once owned by Napoleon Bonaparte. Mrs. Hearn is said to have refused $75,000 for it. She valued the table at $125,000, the dwelling at $85,000, and the furnishings at $40,000. Firemen from seventeen municipalities fought the flames.

SOVIET CHARGES ITALIAN SUBS SANK TWO SHIPS

Rome Bars Demand for Indemnity.

ROME, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Russia blamed Italy tonight for the torpedoing of two soviet merchant ships in the Mediterranean. Italy at once denied responsibility and sharply rejected Russian demands for indemnity.

Foreign Minister Count Ciano.

This situation was the latest and one of the most serious springing from the civil war in Spain and from sympathy by European nations for one side or the other — Italy and Germany for the rebels, Russia and France for the Madrid-Valencia government.

The Italian rejection, in effect, appeared to foreign observers to be Premier Mussolini's direct challenge of Russia's right to any legal discussion of Mediterranean affairs.

Might Lead to Break.

Two direct and immediate developments seemed likely because of the Russian charge:

FIRST—Italy may not participate in the conference at Nyon, Switzerland, called for Sept. 10 by Britain and France to review the Mediterranean situation, particularly as it concerns the safety of merchant shipping which frequently has been molested by unidentified submarines and warships in recent weeks.

SECOND—There was the possibility that Italy's unequivocal retort to Russia's protest over the loss of two of her ships might bring a rupture of diplomatic relations between the two nations.

Russia's protest was made known dramatically late this afternoon when all members of the foreign press were summoned to the ministry of popular culture. The press minister issued a typewritten communique. It declared the Russian chargé d'affaires had handed to Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano the protest over torpedoing of the two ships, coupled with soviet demands for indemnity and punishment of the guilty.

Reply in Severe Language.

The ships were not named, but the Timiryazev and the Blagoev were the most recent of Russian ships to be sunk in the Mediterranean.

The protest was received with frank governmental disdain, the communique asserted, and Count Ciano's note of reply stated bluntly that "Italy denies this responsibility, even as it rejects en bloc the demands of soviet Russia."

An official said that Count Ciano's note was phrased in "extremely severe language."

Authoritative quarters said that Italy had been planning to accept the British invitation to the forthcoming Mediterranean conference, but that the Russian demands now compel the Fascist government to reconsider.

The Fascist government, said one official, regards Russia's action at this time as the "most serious obstacle" to an understanding among Mediterranean powers. Italy, he said, would await reaction by other nations before deciding her course.

BRITISH PROTEST SEIZURE

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain interrupted his vacation and sped to London tonight from Scotland to deal with the explosive international crisis. He will head the cabinet meeting called for Wednesday.

Another note of protest dealing with the Mediterranean raids on shipping was sent today to Gen. Francisco Franco, chief of the Spanish rebel régime, over the seizure of a British ship. The London owned tanker Burlington was seized off Palermo, Sicily, by a Spanish rebel cruiser. The tanker was taken to Palma, Mallorca, rebel naval base, and her cargo, 7,700 tons of Russian oil, was confiscated and unloaded. Though it was revealed only today, the incident took place Sept. 2.

Under Charter to Loyalists.

The tanker, although flying the British flag, was under charter to the Spanish government and was bound for Cartagena, Spain, from Batum, U. S. S. R. She was under the same management as the Woodford, British freighter torpedoed and sunk off the Spanish east coast a week ago.

Like other seizures and attacks, the Burlington incident is piracy in international law since the Spanish rebels are not recognized as belligerents by the British.

SURRENDER CATHEDRAL

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The surrender of 600 Spanish rebel soldiers besieged in the cathedral at Belchite was reported today in a Spanish government communique from that war torn town on the Aragon front.

The government claimed capture of the cathedral gave its forces complete control of Belchite, strategic point twenty miles south of Saragossa along the line of rebel communications with Teruel.

The 600 who surrendered were imprisoned while 1,700 rebel dead were gathered up from batttlefields around the cathedral, the communique said.

In northwest Spain, disorganized Asturian troops were described in rebel dispatches as being in full flight before Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel army storming westward along the Bay of Biscay toward Gijon.

The rebels captured Llanes, port town twenty-five miles east of Gijon, and paused there only long enough to round up 5,000 surrendering government soldiers.

The town of Villaviciosa, lying midway between Llanes and Gijon, is the next big objective of the rebels, and Gen. Franco's commanders said no serious resistance was expected until Villaviciosa is reached.

Government troops feebly attempted to hold a line of trenches between the Llanes airport and that town yesterday, but overwhelming masses of rebels drove them out and they retreated into the Pecos de Europa mountains to the west.

South of Gijon, rebel troops moving on the city established contact with the enemy in the Europa hills lying along the Asturian border. Operations were started to clear government units out of the hills.

'CLEARS' CAIN IN ABEL'S SLAYING; BLAMES RITUAL

NOTTINGHAM, England, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Cain and Abel, two fellows who are supposed to have invented fighting, were absolved today by Prof. S. H. Hooke of Kings college, London.

"I want to point out," he told the British Association for the Advancement of Science, "that Cain's slaying of Abel was not jealous murder but a ritual for increasing the fertility of the soil."

The professor said that Cain and Abel, in the first place, had nothing to do with the Garden of Eden or Adam and Eve, and in the second place he doubted that they even were brothers.

Sir Richard Livingstone, president of Corpus Christi college, Oxford, urged that public and industrial officials be sent back to school on full pay periodically to keep them abreast of the times.

"Adult education is the only remedy for the chronic intellectual ill health from which all of us suffer with the advancing years," Sir Richard said.

Evanston Resident Shoots Himself to Death in Auto

Victor J. Bernhard Sr., 46 years old, a salesman for the Spar Hardware company, 2250 South Kildare avenue, was found shot to death yesterday in his automobile at the rear of the family home at 1136 Maple avenue, Evanston. The body was found by his son, Victor Jr., 23, in a sleeping bag in the rear seat of the car. A suicide note addressed to Bernhard's widow, Sophie, was beside the body.

FARMER FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

LICENSE TO WED MAY COST HEIR $475,000 LEGACY

When Mrs. Anne Wood Battle died in 1929 she willed $475,000 in trust to her husband, Joe Allen Battle Jr. of Evanston, on the condition that he would not remarry. Saturday a marriage license was issued here to Mr. Battle, who is 49 years old, and Miss Louise James, 50.

Mrs. Battle's will divided $950,000 between Henry Clay Wood, her son by a previous marriage, and Mr. Battle, but specified that if Mr. Battle remarried his share would revert to the son.

Reached at his home at 1426 Chicago avenue, Evanston, where father and stepson live, Mr. Battle last night refused to admit he had applied for the license. His stepson, however, said Mr. Battle and Miss James would be married, but refused to discuss settlement of the estate.

Mrs. Battle, daughter of the late Judge W. F. Solly of St. Louis, was married to Mr. Battle, a civil engineer, in 1926. She had received large bequests both from her former husband, Henry Clay Wood, and her father.

Eight Seized in Two Raids in New War on Gambling

Willow Springs county highway police continued their gambling raids yesterday. They raided an alleged handbook at 5123 West 26th street, Cicero, seizing P. J. Harper as the keeper and four patrons. Then they visited the Cottage inn, a tavern at 7743 Ogden avenue, Lyons, arresting John Slatke as the keeper and two patrons.

6 RED OFFICIALS' DRUNKEN REVELS BARED IN PURGE

Accused of Debauches in Home for Girls.

MOSCOW, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The soviet "purge" today caught six officials at Tashkent, capital of the Uzbek republic in the heart of Asia, on charges of squandering the city's funds on wild drinking debauches with girls from a "rest home."

The communist party organ, Pravda, called the Tashkent officials "bourgeois nationalists" and accused them even of slaughtering the municipality's horses to provide meat for their revels. Pravda said the six were eliminated in a "clean up" but did not specify their fate.

Pravda claimed the officials turned the communist party rest home at Tashkent into a "brothel" in their drinking bouts with girls from the home.

Political Boss Assailed.

Akmal Ikramov, deposed secretary of the party's central committee, was criticized as the "political boss" of Uzbek in the Tashkent newspaper Truth of the East. The paper said he failed to expose conditions there.

[Only last June the head of the Uzbek republic and numerous other officials were removed from office for allegedly stirring up anti-government agitation in middle Asia.]

Ten Believed Executed.

Elsewhere, the nation-wide campaign against enemies of the régime went on with no sign of abatement. Ten officials tried in the Ordjonikidze region of the Caucasus apparently have been executed.

Twenty-nine collective farm officials have been executed in Leningrad province and in Georgia as accused traitors to the régime.

Lazar Kaganovich, new commissar for heavy industry, ousted several assistants in a shakeup of the administration of the lagging coal industry.

ITALIAN SHIP EXPERT WORKING FOR RUSSIA IS ARRESTED AS SPY

LONDON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—It was disclosed today that the chief of a delegation of Italian shipbuilding experts, named Patrone, has been arrested by soviet authorities in Leningrad on a charge of spying.

For three years Patrone has been advising the soviet government on the construction of warships at the naval shipyards in Leningrad, the advices said. He and technicians assisting him, all from the famous Ansaldo shipyards in Genoa, Italy, were under contract to the soviet authorities. Although Patrone has been arrested, 22 other Italians still are employed in the yards.

"La Pasionaria" Thanks Stalin for Help to Spain

MOSCOW, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Dolores Ibarruri, Spain's "La Pasionaria", today thanked the soviet union and "Comrade Stalin, brave defender of our cause" for the help Russia has given the Spanish government in the civil war. The leftist woman deputy's thanks were expressed in a letter to her two children. Her son is working in a soviet factory and her daughter is in a soviet children's home. The letter was made public on the occasion of "International Youth day."

PAPER DEALER'S WIFE OVERCOME BY SLEEP PILLS

Mrs. Marie Fleweger, 35 years old, wife of Frank H. Fleweger, 202 East Walton street, a paper dealer, was found unconscious from poisoning in her room in the Morrison hotel last night. She was taken to the County hospital, and reported in a serious condition.

Mrs. Fleweger registered at the hotel Sunday night. Beside her bed was found a bottle that had contained forty sleep producing tablets. There were only five left.

At the County hospital Fleweger told police his wife occasionally took sleeping medicine, and that she must have taken an overdose accidentally. He said he and his wife had a minor spat Sunday night. Fleweger is head of Acer & Co., 111 West Washington street.

ALL-STAR TEAM OF SOLDIERS IN ALL AGES CHOSEN

Five Americans Get on First String Lineup.

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—An army officer picks an all-time, all-star, world-wide squad of military commanders—and such great marshals as Washington, Pershing, Grant, Genghis Khan, and Alexander the Great aren't even on the second team.

Among the twenty-four honored in the first string fighting lineup are five Americans. Lieut. Col. George L. Simpson, field artillery, U. S. N. G., publishes his stars in the Infantry Journal.

The head man of this supersoldiery named by Simpson as "an all-time corps command and staf" is Frederick the Great, "Who took a bunch of Prussians and, through the seven years' war, built 'em into a major power while handcuffing the rest of Europe."

Napoleon and Wellington In.

Napoleon and Wellington, the rivals at Waterloo, are bracketed in the classification of division commanders —Napoleon of the first division, Wellington of the second.

Here's the top lineup with some of Simpson's salty observations on their aptitudes for their jobs:

Commanding general — Frederick the Great . . . "Never kidded himself into believing he could conquer Russia as Napoleon did."

Chief of staf—Alfred, Graf von Schlieffen . . . "Would work more harmoniously with the great Frederick than any other all timer."

G-2 [intelligence]—Robert Edward Lee.

G-3 [operations]—Pierre de Bourcet.

G-4 [supply]—William Tecumseh Sherman.

Adjutant general — Gaius Julius Cæsar.

Inspector—Jacques Antoine Hippolyte, Comte de Guibert.

Finance officer—Alcibiades.

Chemical officer—Karl von Clausewitz.

Chaplain—Mohammed.

Chief of artillery—Thomas Jefferson [Stonewall] Jackson.

Air officer—Mannfred, baron von Richthofen.

Engineer—Erich von Ludendorff.

Provost marshal—Winfield Scott.

Ordnance officer — Gustavus Adolphus.

Hannibal for Commander.

Commanding general, first division —Napoleon Bonaparte.

Commanding general, second division—Arthur Wellesley, duke of Wellington.

Commanding general, third division —Hannibal.

"For the south Lee is the greatest general of all time," he writes, "and should have been nominated for the post of head man. But Lee's too-great intellect, his lack of ruthlessness, his inclination to listen to long-winded opinions of lesser lights with established weaknesses—these lovable shortcomings and his self-effacing courtesy let him out."

SO, PHILANDER! IT COMES TO THIS! Philander Johnson, 25 years old, 4312 Langley avenue, colored, and Henry Wilbert, 25, 4055 Michigan avenue, also colored, were arrested early yesterday at the Walgreen drug store at 41 South State street. They admitted stealing 75 cartons of cigarets and 12 bottles of liquor.

She's just Edna Tolman again this morning, but last night she was a queen. Edna, a pretty, red headed St. Charles girl, reigned over the ball which climaxed the three day Labor day celebration in St. Charles. COOLER WEATHER EASES HAY FEVER VICTIMS' MISERY

Low temperatures and a wind from the lake brought relief to hay fever sufferers during the Labor day holiday, according to O. C. Durham of the Abbott Laboratories in North Chicago. Incomplete figures showed the count of ragweed pollen per cubic yard of air to be 88 grains Saturday, 60 grains Sunday, and 52 grains [in North Chicago only] at noon yesterday. Mr. Durham warned victims that the season is not over and that the count may rise again.

Girl Admits She Faked Amnesia to Avoid Trip

Anna Winicki, 3402 North Ashland avenue, who pretended to police Sunday night that she had lost her memory, admitted the sham yesterday when identified at the Racine avenue station by her brother Arthur. She said she was to have made a trip to Detroit to visit her mother. "I didn't want to go, so I pretended to be an amnesia victim," she said. Hudson avenue police returned her pet chow dog, which was with her when she told her amnesia story to a policeman.

Labor Day Lures Throngs to Idle Under Warm Sun

Labor day, the traditional end of the vacation season, found thousands of Chicagoans yesterday taking advantage of clear skies, a warm sun, and moderate temperatures for another day in the open. The boulevards were filled with cars, and the parks with people. At Brookfield zoo, 41,258 visitors came to look at Su-Lin and the other animals.

TWO BROTHERS DROWN IN RIVER CYCLE TRAGEDY

Neither brother could swim. And so when the elder plunged with his bicycle into the Des Plaines river in River Forest yesterday, the younger knew what it meant to go to the rescue. Yet he never faltered. Springing from his own bicycle, he dived. Despite his heroism, both boys were drowned.

They were Joseph Motka, 15 years old, and Stanley Motka, 19 years old, of 1415 North Maplewood avenue.

Loses Control of Wheel.

The brothers were cycling on a trail beside the river near the Lake street bridge when Stanley lost control of his bicycle and fell with it into the water. Joseph had already gone to the rescue when Theodore Kaezmarski, 14 years old, and his brother Robert, 12, of 1420 North Maplewood avenue, rode up.

Joseph did not reappear, but the elder Kaezmarski boy tried in vain to save Stanley with a pole while the younger Kaezmarski boy attempted to wade in to reach the drowning youth. Like the Motyka brothers, the Kaezmarskis could not swim.

Father Makes Tragic Discovery.

Meanwhile, in the village of Hollywood, Shirley Anne Andorf did not answer when her mother called in their home at 3716 Woodside avenue. Mrs. Andorf asked her husband, William, to look for the little girl, 2 years old and the youngest of their twelve children.

He found her drowned in the fish pond in their back yard, into which she had presumably fallen while reaching for a water lily. Chief Thomas Mahoney and an inhalator squad from the police department of neighboring Brookfield tried unsuccessfully to revive her.

Miss Anna Nemec, 22 years old, of 4726 South Damen avenue, was the day's fourth drowning victim. She was on a Labor day outing at Beverly Shores, Ind., when she was caught in an undertow and drowned in Lake Michigan.

VISITING FIRE FIGHTERS PROVIDE THRILLS AND FUMBLES FOR 50,000

The visiting firemen showed an estimated 50,000 persons at Soldiers' field yesterday a few things about their art. A team from Colorado Springs, Colo., nosed out Chicago's crack drill school team, 44-22, to win the grand prize of $1,000 in the first national fire fighters' tournament.

Evanston placed third among the ten teams representing professional departments and Gary was fourth. The volunteer events were run off Sunday but announcement of the winners was delayed until the firemen's banquet last night at the Sherman hotel. With twenty-three towns competing, Western Springs, Ill., won the $500 grand prize; Steger, Ill., was second, and Sault Ste. Marie third.

With many of the country's best firemen competing in such events as scaling a five story wall, rescues by rope and ladder, and laying fire hoses, the meet yesterday had not only thrills but comedy. A dummy, dropped five stories, missed the rescue net of the Louisville team. The Chicago team dashed to the wall with its net, looked up, and found no dummy had been provided.

CHINESE TROOPS HURLED AT JAPS IN FURIOUS DRIVE

Invaders' Lines Are Split; Warships Bombed.

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 7 (Tuesday).—(AP)—The American Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai today protested vigorously to Secretary of State Hull in Washington, D. C., against President Roosevelt's warning that American citizens remained in China at their own risk as seriously damaging to the prestige of the United States. The protest was cabled to Mr. Hull.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 7 [Tuesday].—The Chinese army abandoned the defensive today and countercharged with desperate fury at the Japanese lines fringing the Yangtze and Whangpoo rivers on the northern Shanghai battle front.

Mayor O. K. Yui of Shanghai said the sudden Chinese thrust had driven the Japanese from the Jukong wharf district midway between Shanghai and the confluence of the two rivers, splitting the Japanese front.

Twelve miles to the north, he declared, the Chinese had recaptured much of the lost ground around Woosung and Paoshan and were threatening the Japanese forces within Paoshan's ancient walls. Other reports from Chinese sources said Paoshan had fallen.

Bomb Three Jap Warships.

Still further up the Yantze two Japanese destroyers and a Japanese cruiser, guarding troop ships attempting to land reënforcements, were bombed before dawn by Chinese planes. Mayor Yui said one of the destroyers was in flames and one bomb had caused a terrific explosion aboard the cruiser.

Japanese army spokesmen admitted that their advance was meeting determined pressure on all fronts with the Chinese strongly entrenched in concrete pill boxes and dugouts.

The spokesman warned that neither Christian churches, Chinese temples, hospitals, nor schools would be spared from Japanese artilley and air bombardment if the Chinese army continued to use them for troop concentrations and bases. He added that it did not matter to the Japanese whether these institutions were Chinese or owned by Americans and other foreigners.

Recall Volunteer Corps.

Because of the serious situations along the boundaries of the International settlement all American and British members of the Shanghai volunteer corps who were demobilized ten days ago were ordered to return to immediate active duty along the barricades.

Yesterday the undeclared war dealt death and devastation over a 2,000 mile expanse, reaching its greatest ferocity on the outskirts of Shanghai itself.

The Japanese army, navy, and air force struck with all the force they could muster along the fronts north of this city in what neutral observers called a major offensive. Chinese lines yielded at some points but did not break, and at the end of a day's bitter fighting the invaders had little to show for their losses.

Chinese officers said those losses ran into thousands killed, more than 1,000 at one point, and admitted their own casualties were heavy.

Civilians Blown to Death.

Again hundreds of Chinese noncombatants were blown to death as the Japanese bombers carried terror far and wide. Japanese planes again bombed the West station of the Shanghai-Hangchow railway and Chinese said 200 noncombatants were killed.

One hundred Chinese were reported killed when Japanese planes raided Tatung, Shansi province, in the semidesert in the northwest. Cities along the lush, subtropical coasts of Kwangtung province, below Hongkong, felt the power of the Japanese warships and planes. From Tatung to Kwangtung is more than a week's journey by any means but airplanes.

At Shanghai the fighting was the most extensive of the twenty-five day battle for this city. It stretched from Shanghai to Woosung, twelve miles along the curving banks of the Whangpoo, then curved back twenty or more miles to the southwest along the shores of the Yangtze, through Paoshan and Lotien to Liuho.

From both rivers the Japanese tried to thrust inland and drive the Chinese from the 100 square mile triangle, Shanghai-Woosung-Liuho. They had an estimated 60,000 men ashore, many warships and planes to press the attack. Some 200,000 Chinese troops were at or near the front.

Kiangwan, halfway between Shanghai and Woosung, bore the brunt of the Japanese attack from the Whangpoo side. The Japanese flagship Idzumo and several destroyers supported the infantry assault with their heavy guns. Here the Chinese had to give ground. They admitted retirement from the civic center district on the outskirts of Kiangwan.

Lotien, near the Liuho end of the battle line, saw desperate fighting in which Chinese officers said the Japanese lost 1,000 killed.

Neutral observers believed yesterday's attack was the Japanese long heralded "big push" and that into it the Japanese command had put all the force at its command.

Foil Landing of Troops.

Further Japanese attempts at landing at Woosung and on the opposite side of the Whangpoo, at Pootung, were hurled back with heavy losses, the Chinese said.

Reports from Hongkong said there had been no communication since Saturday with Pratas Island, base of the Chinese customs service, 180 miles south of Hongkong. The Japanese were believed to have seized the island as a base for their South China operations.

Chekwan, northwest of Hongkong, where large quantities of Chinese war stores were reported landed recently, was bombarded by the Japanese. Japanese warships and planes attacked Sanwei, Houmen, and Makung, between Hongkong and Swatow, to the northeast.

Blockade Pearl River.

Near Hongkong a flotilla of Japanese warships established a blockade of the Pearl river, main highway of the teeming Chinese southland, to Canton and further inland. A Chinese customs vessel was sunk and another seized. British officers aboard them were first landed by sampans.

Just off Hongkong a Japanese warship dropped shells close to the British river steamer Taishan, 3,174 tons, compelling it to return to Hongkong.

Sunday the Japanese navy clamped a blockade on the entire 2,150 mile coastline of China, but it was ostensibly against Chinese shipping only and specifically excepted Hongkong and other foreign holdings.

Because of punishing Japanese naval and air attacks on Amoy and Foochow, ports of Fukien province, and other South China cities, the United States embassy at Nanking urged all Americans to evacuate those places. It authorized closing of the consulates at Foochow and Amoy.

U. S. WRITER PAID $240 FOR INVASION OF HIS HOME BY JAP TROOPS

PEIPING, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Japanese embassy announced today Gene Lamb, American writer, had been paid 800 Chinese dollars [$240] as reparation for the invasion and plundering of his compound in the western hills by Japanese soldiers.

Gene Lamb.

The embassy said Lamb, formerly of Washington, D. C., signed a receipt for the money, and also a statement that full satisfaction had been received and he would make no more disparaging remarks about the Japanese army.

Lamb and his wife arrived in Peiping Aug. 4 from a Buddhist temple refuge to tell of ruthless warfare carried on by the Japanese. He said they invaded his compound, ignoring the American flag flying over it, and took food, valuables, and money. Lamb said Japanese troops looted homes, threw children from windows and attacked women.

JAPANESE BOMB BOX FACTORY OF EX-CHICAGO MAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 6.—Japanese planes today bombed the Bloch Lumber Manufacturing company, owned by Morris Bloch, formerly of Chicago. The concern was engaged in the manufacture of boxes used for packing tea and dealt chiefly with lumber from the Philippines. Bloch is in Manila.

Three large rafts of American lumber belonging to the Dollar Lumber company and containing several millions of feet of lumber were broken from their moorings by Japanese artillery fire in the Pootung section of Shanghai and floated downstream. They were seized at Woosung by the Japanese navy and used in landing operations.

Another raft of 1,000,000 feet of lumber from the state of Washington, also owned by the Dollar company, was loosened from its moorings in Soochow creek by yesterday's air bombardment and floated toward the sea.

COREA PROTESTS SOVIET SEIZURE OF PATROL BOAT

TOKIO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Domei [Japanese] news agency dispatches from Corea said today that soviet vessels had seized the Corean patrol boat Asakaze Maru and that the Corean governor general had demanded her release. The protest was made to the soviet consul.

The foreign office said one radio report from Corea stated the ship was seized; another said she was stopped and searched by two soviet patrol boats. There was no official report.

Yesterday the Domei agency reported from Seishin, Corea, that soviet vessels and a plane had seized five small Japanese or Corean fishing boats in waters near the Corean-Siberian boundary. The report said also that the Asakaze Maru had gone to the rescue of a sixth Corean fishing boat which was boarded by a Russian officer in hand to hand fighting.

Robbers Loot Office Safe and Burn Ledger Sheets

Strange working robbers broke into the offices of George Costello & Co., window glass dealers, at 523 South Dearborn street yesterday. They hammered open a small safe, and stole an undertermined amount of money. Then they removed a business ledger. They carefullly burned the outer margins of every sheet which contained business figures. Police were unable to learn the purpose of this.

JAPAN WARNS IT WILL STOP ARMS TRAFIC TO CHINA

Naval Chief Says Nation Is Ready to Act.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Sept. 6.—Japan will seek to halt trafic in arms and ammunition to China from other nations through diplomatic and other means, Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, minister of the navy, today told the war session of the Japanese parliament.

Mitsumasa Yonai. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The minister declined to enter into details as to how the matter will be handled, saying that no such cases have been encountered yet.

"But if they do occur," he said, "we believe there will be some means of solution, either through diplomatic or other channels."

Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe told parliament that after the undeclared war in China is cleared up, Japan expects to commence ousting the communist influence from the orient through coöperation among Japan, Manchukuo and China.

Japan Replies to Protest.

TOKIO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Japan's reply to Great Britain's protest over the wounding of the British ambassador to China has been delivered to the London government, the foreign office announced tonight.

Previously Foreign Minister Koki Hirota had indicated Japan does not accept the British contention that Sir Hughe Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugesson was wounded by machine gun bullets from a Japanese plane.

Hirota, answering a question in parliament, said that "so far no tangible proof has been produced to show" that the British envoy's automobile "was attacked by a Japanese plane."

Note Expresses Regret.

Domei, Japan's national news agency, said that while the Japanese note expresses regret it does not even refer to any of the three demands by the British government. This, the agency said, is because the official Japanese investigation of the shooting is incomplete.

Britain's demands were for an apology, punishment of the guilty parties, and guarantees against recurrence of the affair.

[The text of Japan's "interim reply" was not disclosed in London pending "consideration of its contents." Authoritative sources said that the interim nature of the reply apparently indicated that Great Britain would refuse to accept it unless it satisfied British demands.]

4 WHO CROSSED U. S. IN COVERED WAGON IN 17 MONTHS FLY BACK

New York, Sept. 6.—[Special].—Three men in their 90s and a woman, 84, who journey to California in the days of the covered wagon, returned tonight on a TWA airliner opening a new route between New York and San Francisco. They stepped down from a Douglas 21 passenger plane at Newark airport and boarded an automobile for the city.

"If I had any money this would be the only way I ever would travel," said George Van Gorden, who will be 92 Wednesday and who first went to California as a youth in a covered wagon that took 17 months to cross from New England to the Pacific coast. The same trip can now be made by an airliner in a little more than 17 hours.

The three other aged flyers were George Cameron, who will be 96 tomorrow; Adam Lee Moore, who is 90, and Mrs. Frances Hatfield Ryan, who is 84.

Japan Told C. I. O. Keeps Hands Off War in China

TOKIO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota assured the Japanese parliament today that John L. Lewis and the Committee for Industrial Organization were not interfering with the undeclared war between China and Japan. Tadahiko Okada, a member of the important Seiyukai political party, asked in parliament if the C. I. O. was preventing the shipment of American munitions to China. Hirota replied: "America is maintaining the strictest neutrality which is America's internal affair and Japan has no right to comment."

Father Dies, Unaware Son Was Born After Car Crash

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 6.—(AP)—James Welborn, father of a baby born Saturday morning four hours after both parents were injured critically in an automobile crash, died in a hospital here today. Welborn, 21, died without learning of the birth of his son. He did not regain consciousness after the accident. Mrs. Welborn, whose skull was fractured, also has been unconscious since the crash.

BULLETS ROUT TWO BANDITS.

Anton Daniel, owner of a tavern at 87th street and Oakwood avenue, Willow Springs, fired two shots and routed two would-be bandits from his place of business last night.

ARSONIST SETS TWO MORE FIRES ON NORTH SIDE

The firebug who started several small fires in apartment buildings on the north side a few nights ago was busy again last night and early today.

He stole up to the third floor rear porch at 7534 North Oakley avenue, and after sprinkling gasoline on some waste lighted it. The apartment there is occupied by Dr. Eugene J. Rooney. The firebug was seen running down the stairs by Della and Rose Serritella, sisters, first floor tenants, whose porch was set on fire Sunday.

Early today, about two hours after this incident, the firebug started a fire on the third floor porch at 1528 Ardmore avenue, at the apartment occupied by Ralph Veccie. Police believe the arsonist is a beggar who was refused alms at these two buildings recently. The Serritella sisters say they can identify him. Division Marshal James Cowhey has ordered a general investigation.

Corean Nationalists Hit Japs for Warring on China

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 7 [Tuesday].—Corean nationalists, who maintain a precarious existence here, and who have connections with Corean revolutionists in the United States, Hawaii, Russia, and elsewhere, have issued their first anti-Japanese manifesto since the beginning of the Chinese-Japanese conflict. The manifesto said the war in China affects Corea because the Corean conquest was the beginning of Japan's continental policy which "now is in its final stages."

GREEN UPBRAIDS C. I. O. FOR SPLIT IN LABOR FORCES

Says Cause Is Set Back by Lewis Tactics.

gard to a third party movement, he said:

"Nothing has occurred thus far which would cause the American Federation of Labor to change its nonpartisan political policy.

"In my opinion that policy will be reaffirmed at the convention in Denver Oct. 4. Candidates who are known to the progressive and social-minded will receive the support of labor without regard to political party or political affiliation. This is the American way which the organized labor movement, represented by the American Federation of Labor, will follow."

Assails C. I. O. Policies.

Green characterized the C. I. O. as "a perversion and contradiction of all the ethical standards which organized labor has created and observed.

"The destructive policy pursued by those who composed this committee was manifested in the way in which it conducted its affairs," he declared.

"Based upon insubordination, it continued a policy of personal abuse, discord, and denunciation. In introduced hate, enmity and bitterness into a movement where the principles of brotherhood and reciprocal sacrifice had always been accepted and practiced.

"The national labor relations act has revived to some extent the agitation for compulsory incorporation of labor unions. . . . The American Federation of Labor must stand unflinchingly against legislation providing for the incorporation of trade unions. Such legislation would be undemocratic and unadaptable to the needs of labor unions in so far as internal organization and discipline is concerned."

Freedom of Press.

On freedom of the press, Green declared:

"The protestations of the leaders of organizations and organized movements that they believe in this great principle is not enough. Any movement of any kind which interferes with or limits the freedom of the press can not be tolerated by the American Federation of Labor."

Labor's struggle for the right to organize and bargain collectively, Green said, has been won through passage of the national labor relations act and affirmation of the act's validity.

LEWIS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 6.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, leader of the C. I. O., asserted at Pennsylvania's largest Labor day rally that the workers will demand shorter hours, higher wages, and greater voice in the councils of industry.

Lewis told a throng in Allegheny county's South park, estimated at 250,000 by P. T. Fagan of the United Mine Workers:

"Greater productivity must be governed by shortened hours of work and upon this depends our economic well-being."

Neither by inference nor direct statement did the labor leader refer to his recent criticism of the Roosevelt administration. He steered clear of political issues.

The C. I. O. chairman reviewed the history of labor, tracing the developments in industrial and labor relations.

Of today's celebration he said:

"Labor day, 1937, is unprecedented by the achievement of labor.

"There is but one point which I wish to emphasize. Labor's militant struggle will take its rightful place in history. There must be a crusade."

Earlier, in an address before thousands of miners and mill men of the Kiskiminetas valley at Leechburg, Lewis had warned that machines would increasingly replace men unless the workers organized.

FARLEY AID BARS FOOD MAILED TO STRIKE SHUT SHOP

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Food sent through the mail for men in a strike-closed plant surrounded by pickets is "abnormal mail" and need not be delivered, William W. Howes, first assistant postmaster general, said here today.

"Letter carriers will not be used as police or soldiers in labor troubles," Howes told the National Association of Letter Carriers.

"It would be just as reasonable to ask the mails to carry a new dynamo or a machine into a plant as the carload movement of meat and bread. Our stand is that we are handling the normal mail, not abnormal."

He said letter carriers would not be sent through picket lines with "abnormal mail" in a situation that would endanger their lives.

BRITISH LABOR LAUNCHES FIGHT ON GOVERNMENT

NORWICH, England, Sept. 6.—(AP)—British labor fired its opening salvo today in a campaign against the national government. An attack on British foreign policy at the first session of the sixty-ninth trades union congress here set off what was expected to be a drive for 100,000 new Labor party members before the annual Labor party conference at Bournemouth Oct. 4.

A major conflict apparently was developing within labor ranks, however, over Britain's $7,500,000,000 rearmament program. The national council of labor and the Labor party executive committee approved rearmament. The Amalgamated Engineering union publicly dissented, and accused the government of sympathizing with the Fascist powers.

Ernest Bevin, secretary of the Transport and General Workers' union, speaking as president of the congress, assailed militarism and declared that labor and economics, not politics, should determine foreign policy.

GOOD FISHING FOUND BY ROOSEVELT AFTER HEAVY STORM ABATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard U. S. Destroyer Selfridge, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Running out of stormy weather into comparative calm, the yacht Potomac carrying President Roosevelt cruised leisurely on the homeward stretch of a five-day trip today.

The Potomac dropped anchor in the lee of Fisher's Isle, six miles off New London, Conn., at noon. There, the President enjoyed four hours of fishing, the best of the cruise.

Late in the afternoon, the Potomac resumed its westward course in Long Island sound. Tonight, it was anchored off Larchmont, N. Y. The schedule called for weighing anchor early in the morning and arrival at Mr. Roosevelt's estate at Hyde Park on the Hudson river at noon.

AT 70, THEY'LL TROOP OFF TO SCHOOL AGAIN!

An Elgin Doctor's Dream Becomes Reality.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

Fifty men and women, none of them younger than 70, will be setting off for school next Monday morning in Elgin. Formal opening of the School of Maturates, the second of its kind in the United States, was scheduled yesterday, but was delayed a week in view of the prevalence of infantile paralysis.

There will be no laggard scholars at the School of Maturates. Their steps may falter, but they will reenter school as a great adventure. Their leader, Dr. Charles E. Sharp, 78 years old, has seen to that. He is a graying, kindly little man, who has practiced medicine in Elgin for 50 years.

Good Times Ahead.

Yesterday some of the old people who will be school pupils again next week had taken possession of the old three-story white house that the doctor has repainted and redecorated. They played sentimental tunes on the wheezy old organ that Dr. Sharp bought for them and viewed the cheery tile fireplaces in anticipation of this warmth when winter comes.

"It's like being young again, coming to school and all," said Mrs. Flora Kee, a white-haired grandmother of 71. "My family is gone, I am a widow, and I hope to make new friends here. I want to study psychology."

"And I'd like to study painting," said Mrs. Cornelia App, who is only 66, but will get into the school as a student instructor. "I've been a practical nurse all my life, and painting is different."

To Mrs. Francis Pierce, a quaint, lively figure in black satin, school will mean a change to do book reviews and to hear others' opinions of them.

Will Have Dormitory, Too.

The school, which will be free, will have a dormitory on the second floor, where pupils too infirm to come and go on cold days may live without charge.

"My old patients are really responsible for the school," said Dr. Sharp, who has been known as a quiet philanthropist in Elgin for many years. "They did not seem to have any incentives or interests in life. The school should change all that."

Her Wedding Off

MISS ANNA RIVELLI.

Weymouth, Mass., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—This town is still buzzing today about how Miss Anna Rivelli did not get married. With 200 guests waiting at the church Miss Rivelli, who is 19, and her fiancé, James Martin, started from the girl's home for the ceremony. On the way Martin changed his mind and threw away the wedding ring. The bride-to-be then tossed her engagement ring and a bouquet out of the car and fainted. The pastor was forced to announce that there would be no wedding.

Mr. Kent Was Better, but Now He's Not So Well Again

When Mr. Kent got home to 4653 Drexel boulevard, he understood the stranger's interest. His wallet, containing $106, was missing.

CHICAGO HOST TO RADIUM AND X-RAY EXPERTS

Scientists and physicians from thirty nations are arriving this week for the opening next Monday at the Palmer house of the fifth international congress of radiology. The five day sessions are expected to attract 3,000 of the world's leading X-ray and radium specialists.

Dr. Arthur C. Christise of Washington, D. C., president of the congress, said it would take up latest discoveries in the diagnosis and treatment of disease with radium and X-ray, including advances in the war on cancer. More than 300 papers will be read and will be projected on screens in French, German, and English. The American Roentgen Ray society, the Radiological Society of North America, the American Radium society, and the American College of Radiology will hold their conventions in connection with the international meeting.

Black with gold is a good choice for now because it's dressy-yet-chic—a refreshing change from the casualness of vacation clothes. Gold pipings, gold embroidery, gold sequins, gold jewelry, gold buckles were shown in profusion at the Openings. And black is always smart. The three dresses illustrated show how simply yet how effectively black and gold can be combined for women who wear sizes 33 to 44.

1. A gilded bracelet-belt and painted golden flowers are accents on this simple black dress of rayon-and-acetate crepe. 33 to 44. $29.95

2. Metal nailheads and a gold kid belt to add the finishing touch. Black or brown rayon-and-acetate crepe. Sizes 33 to 44. $29.95

3. Gold-plated buckles fasten the leather straps which decorate this one. Black or brown rayon-and-acetate crepe. 33 to 42. $29.95

COATS and SUITS

for the reasons given below

1. Lynx has always been a favorite fur of well-dressed women because of its soft warmth and special flattery. A huge pouch collar trims this tweed coat. Lined in Duchess rayon satin. Brown, gold, green, blue. 12 to 20. Coats, North, State. $97.50

2. Beaver was confirmed by our Paris cable as one of the important furs of the Openings. Here it is on a coat of Lustrelaine camel's hair lined in Duchess rayon satin. Nude, tan, ginger brown, green, dubonnet. 12 to 20. Coats, North, State. $97.50

5. This three-piece outfit has a special advantage: a full-length topcoat that can be worn with other things. The collar is Greenland blue fox; the fabric a new nubby woolen. Black, green, Mexicana rust, night blue. 12 to 20. Suits, Middle, State. $125

6. It's a good idea to have a soft suit to wear right now, and later under your fur coat. This one is made of imported Shetland woolen. The high side fastening is smart. Black, rust, brown, green. Sizes are from 12 to 20. Suits, Middle, State. $29.95

3. The furless twin (see coat below), has a definite place in your fall wardrobe. Note the interesting stitching on body and sleeves. Nice to wear over a two-piece suit. Brown, green, rust, black Bagaru woolen. 12 to 40. Coats, North, State. $35

4. The fur-collared twin (see coat above) is a find for college, for football week-ends, early winter in the country. The raccoon collar is dark, handsome, warm. Brown, green, black, wine Bagaru woolen. 12 to 40. Coats, North, State. $69.75

7. British-looking, this three-piece suit. Topcoat is imported English tweed; jacket and skirt are soft domestic woolen. Topcoat: black and white, brown and white, navy and gray. Suit: black, brown, navy. 12 to 20. Suits, Middle, State. $55

8. Here's an excellent example of the important dressy suit. The three-quarter box jacket trimmed in Persian lamb is both chic and alluring. The skirt is slim and straight. Black or gray Juilliard woolen. 10 to 18. Suits, Middle, State. $79.75

COUNTY TOWNS OPEN SCHOOLS ON SCHEDULE TODAY

Paralysis Danger to Keep City Classes Closed.

Although public and parochial schools in Chicago will not open on schedule today because of the danger of infantile paralysis, classes will begin in most of the schools in the Cook county country towns. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, was hopeful yesterday that the delay in opening Chicago schools would not be a long one.

"We can't say when the schools will open," Dr. Bundesen said. "The number of cases of infantile paralysis appears to be increasing, and we must wait until the disease is under control. Time alone will tell when that will be, but it should not be long.

"Meanwhile, parents are again advised to keep their children out of crowds, give them plenty of sunshine and fresh air, good food, enough rest, and to call a doctor at the first sign of any illness."

Barred at Broadcasts.

Children under 16 years old are not to be allowed in audiences for shows at the National Broadcasting company studios in Chicago. Motion picture theaters are continuing to bar children from 5 to 15 years of age.

Of the 377 elementary schools and nineteen high schools in the country towns, all except fourteen of the elementary and seven of the high schools will open today.

In only four of the elementary schools, however—those in district 148 in Dolton and Riverdale—is the opening date indefinite because of the infantile paralysis danger. Elementary schools in Barrington and Des Plaines are scheduled to open tomorrow and those in Evanston, districts 75 and 76, and in Wilmette, Winnetka, Kenilworth, Glencoe, Niles Center, and Golf will begin classes Sept. 13, the scheduled date.

The township high schools in Maine and Lyon will open tomorrow. Classes resume Sept. 13 at the Evanston, New Trier, Northbrook, and Thornton Township high schools. The opening of the Blue Island Community High school is set for Sept. 20, the delay being caused by uncompleted construction work.

64 New Cases in Week.

In the week ending Sept. 5, the city health department listed sixty-four new cases of infantile paralysis and seven deaths from the disease, an all time high for the first week in September. Totals for previous weeks were:

Week ending Aug. 8......13 cases, 1 death
Week ending Aug. 15......21 cases, 3 deaths
Week ending Aug. 22......31 cases, 3 deaths
Week ending Aug. 29......30 cases, 1 death

The Samuel Deutsch Serum center at the Michael Reese hospital reported that thirty-five volunteers who have had infantile paralysis came there yesterday and gave blood for the preparation of serum for use against the disease.

At Kansas City, Mo., the board of education yesterday postponed the opening of school for at least a week as a precautionary move against infantile paralysis. There are more than 70,000 children in the Kansas City public schools.

THREE BELIEVED DEAD IN PLANE CRASH IN LAKE

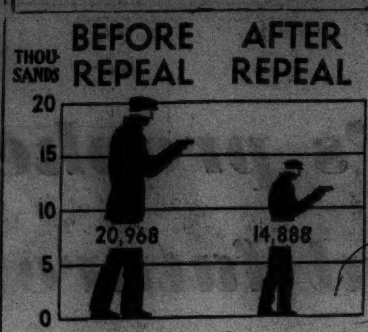
Detroit, Mich., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Three Detroit men were believed tonight to be the victims of an airplane crash this morning half a mile off Pointe Pelee, Ont., in Lake Erie. The trio had departed for the national air races at Cleveland in a ship similar to the one that fell. Cleveland airport officials had no record of their arrival. Coast guardsmen were unable to raise the wrecked plane due to rough water.

Those believed dead were: James Munro, pilot; Harry Corley, owner of the plane and proprietor of a filling station, and Jerry Teffens, an employé of Corley.

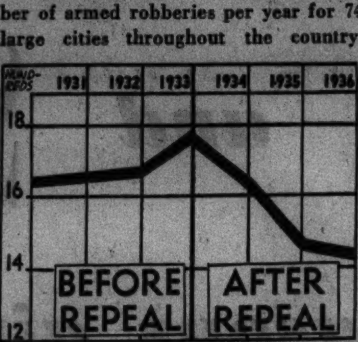
One Dies in Alaska in Plane Crash.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Aviators reported one person was killed and two injured in a plane accident in the wilderness 50 miles from Flat today. A plane piloted by Dan Victor left here for Flat Sept. 2 with three passengers, a woman and two prospectors.

Repeal Cuts Crime



This diagram shows the average number of armed robberies per year for 74 large cities throughout the country.



The number of homicides each year in the 74 cities covered by the report also shows a favorable balance in favor of repeal.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—A decrease of crime in the United States since repeal of prohibition was shown today in statistics of the federal bureau of investigation of the department of justice.

The figures covered crime reports from seventy-four major cities of more than 100,000 population for three years before repeal and three years after. The report lists the four major crimes—homicide, robbery, burglary, and aggravated assault.

The federal bureau also estimated the total of major crimes in the country had decreased 7.8 per cent from the 1,445,581 committed in 1935 to the lesser figure of 1,333,526 crimes in 1936. The consumption of liquor increased during that period, treasury figures show.

Year.	Homicide.	Robbery.	Assault.	Burglary.

7 GOVERNORS IN SAILBOAT RACE; WHITE IS VICTOR

New Orleans, La., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi won a yacht race from six other governors today.

Gov. Richard Leche of Louisiana, who came in second for the second consecutive year, was philosophical.

Gov. James D. Allred of Texas, a sailor during the world war, brought in his boat, the Windflower, third. "I have only one complaint," he said. "I was leading, but Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky talked so much he pushed White and Leche ahead of me."

Gov. Gordon Browning of Tennessee, with his Miss Delgado, was fourth.

Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama, who brought over his own crew from the Buccaneer Yacht club of Mobile, came in fifth in the Fairwind.

Gov. E. D. Rivers of Georgia and his Lady Lou was sixth and Chandler last.

Lemont Flyer Comes Up from Behind.

a daze. Although he made the prettiest last second finish ever witnessed, he afterward said he had not even seen Ortman's black racer ahead of him until 200 feet from the finish line.

Kling's first words after he landed were: "How did I finish?"

Told that he'd won, he said in great surprise: "What happened to Turner and Ortman? I didn't see either of them."

First place prize money for Kling was $9,000, bringing his total winnings to $13,500, since he also won the Greve trophy race for airplanes with engines of 549 cubic inch displacement and a prize of $4,500 on Sunday.

Local Boy Makes Good.

Kling, who is 32 years old, is the operator of a garage in Lemont and the airplane he flew was bought and paid for by his fellow townsmen and Kling himself. It was a brand new Folkerts Special, a cream colored low wing monoplane with retractible landing gear. The engine is a six cylinder Menasco from which he takes 400 horse power.

Turner followed Kling to a microphone and announced that he had no alibis for his failure to take the race. Then he said that he'd had oil on his wind screen and that he'd had no sleep for two days because of his last minute efforts to get to Cleveland.

Another disappointed man in the race was Steve Wittman of Oshkosh, Wis., who led from the start to the 18th lap. At that point he throttled back his engine and pulled up high to have Turner, Ortman, and Kling slip past him. In the last seconds of the race he was passed by a fourth ship, a Seversky fighter flown by Frank Sinclair, chief test pilot for the Seversky company. Oil failure forced him to throttle back his engine with the race almost won.

Turner Tries Hard.

Turner's desperate efforts to get into the race included an early morning flight here from St. Louis where he spent last night. He said he covered 450 miles at an average speed of 333 miles an hour. This high speed was made by climbing up to 10,000 feet, where he found strong tail winds.

While this year's race was the most exciting and thrilling of any previous Thompson trophy race the speeds of the contestants were well behind those set in 1936 by Michel Detroyat, the great French pilot. His average speed in Los Angeles was 264.261. He had two laps at over 300 miles an hour.

Art Chester, formerly of Glenview, Ill., was forced out of a qualifying heat of the Thompson trophy race yesterday by a cracked gasoline tank, but he stepped out and easily captured the first prize of $900 in the consolation race today.

Although Roger Don Rae, flying Wittman's smaller Menasco powered ship, was first away, Chester caught him on the first lap and continued to widen the gap through the other nine. Chester's average speed was 234.9 miles an hour. Rae was second at 214.4 miles an hour, and C. W. Whittenbeck of Tulsa, Okla., was third, being flagged down before finishing.

CHARGES DEMOCRATS DOUBLE-CROSSED U. S. CIVIL SERVICE MEN

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—A charge that there has been "double-crossing" and a failure of the Democrats to keep platform pledges in respect to extending the merit system in the federal service was made today by Luther C. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employés.

His accusation was made in a reply to President Roosevelt's edict that government workers should not strike. Luther, heading delegates of the federation's 75,000 members in convention here, said the organization regards as sound and just the principles the chief executive "enunciated with respect to the privileges, limitations and responsibilities of organizations of federal employés."

DUCHESS SUES CZECHOSLOVAKIA FOR 5 MILLIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Sept. 6.—A suit brought by Duchess Dorothea Maria of Schleswig-Holstein against the Czechoslovakian government for 5 million dollars will come to trial shortly, it was announced today.

The duchess is the daughter of the late Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. The prince owned an entailed Coburg estate of 150,000 acres in what formerly was Austria-Hungary. He made his nephews, the present Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and Prince Cyril of Bulgaria, his heirs, obliging them to pay an annuity to Duchess Dorothea.

When the estate was expropriated by the government, the princes said they were able to satisy only part of the duchess' claims. They maintained this attitude when Czechoslovakia paid them a certain sum, which, however, was far below the value of the estate. Dorothea thereupon sued the government on the ground that through its intervention it prevented the heirs of the estate from fulfilling their duty to her.

Kills Wife, Mother-in-Law and Dives from Window

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Dolores Wamble, 30 years old, bride of five months, and her mother, Mrs. R. H. O'Neal, 55, died today of gunshot wounds inflicted by Horace Wamble, 40, husband of the younger woman, who was injured seriously when he plunged head first from a second story window.

WOMAN DIES OF CAR INJURIES.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Mrs. Dolly Parsons, 72, of Schoolcraft, died last night in a local hospital as the result of injuries received Saturday when the car driven by her daughter, Miss Ruth Parsons, a Battle Creek school teacher, collided with one driven by Joseph Veasy of Sturgis.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

FASHION'S FOUNDATION NO. 1

By CALEB

WE have just been through an electric, vital, stimulating time of year in the apparel business. The great stores were all represented by buyers at the grand Paris openings. Cables flashed vivid descriptions across the ocean floor. Fast ships brought back memos, notations, and specifications which are influencing the expenditure of millions of dollars for fall apparel.

The daily apparel and retailing publications have been alive for weeks with fashion flashes.

"Alix collection, the newest skirts are straight and narrow" . . . "Chez Robert Piguet, the narrow silhouette predominates" . . . "Rochas style comment, slim lines are reiterated" . . . "Chanel news is of straighter cuts for evening" . . . "Lucien Lelong, touches of bright color on black" . . . "Patou, pre-war drapes" . . . "Molyneux, narrow silhouette supreme" . . . "Mainbocher, stunning new bead trims" . . . "Paquin, many suits in vivid colors."

Not everything that Paris presented will be popular in America. Since American buyers abroad have selective discrimination, little or no American sponsorship develops for those Parisian fashions not adaptable to American taste and demand. But the most plausible and practical Paris innovations are accepted by the nation's leading stores and made available post-haste in this country.

Large stores employing fashion people who work rationally, usually know before going to the openings what general movements or trends to expect. Thus they are more than ordinarily prepared to take rapid action when the expected trends materialize.

Many people have an opinion that new styles and the fashions growing out of them are matters of isolated and spontaneous inspiration. Generally speaking, nothing could be further from the truth. There is fundamental and, to some degree, predictable movement to fashion. Fashion never goes off at tangents materially inconsistent with the economic and social backgrounds of its own times.

Relieved His Own Mother's Torturing Neuritis Pain

So quickly does Nurito ease the torturing pain of sciatica, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago and neuritis that the head of the syndicate which purchased this doctor's formula treated his own mother with it. Although 73 years old, she found great comfort through it. Other sufferers the country over report the same quick and joyous relief from pain after a few doses of Nurito. Best of all—it has eased their suffering without the use of narcotics or opiates. If you're tired of using ineffective remedies, make this simple test: Go to your druggist and ask for Nurito. If the very first three doses do not relieve even intense pain to your satisfaction—money will be refunded.

Use juniper oil, buchu leaves, etc., made into little green tablets called Bukets to flush the kidneys, just as you would use castor oil to flush the bowels. Help nature eliminate troublesome waste and excess acids. Ask any druggist for the test box of Bukets. Locally at Walgreen Drug Stores.

HOLIDAY DEATHS PROVE NEED OF SAFE HIGHWAYS

Nation's Toll Reaches 236; 15 in Chicagoland.

With few exceptions, investigators agreed, the accidents of the last few days were of a character virtually impossible on elevated highways. The proposed 160 miles of elevated highways, which could be built from existing sources of revenue, would easily carry—safely and smoothly—two-thirds of the city's motor travel. Many lives, especially those of pedestrians, men, women, and particularly children, would be saved, engineers said.

Boy Steps Into Street; Dies.

An elevated highway would, for example, have spared Joseph Neubeck, 6 years old, 607 West 39th street, Gary, Ind., who was visiting his grandmother at 4542 South Paulina street. The boy stepped out from behind a parked car at 45th and Paulina streets Saturday afternoon and was knocked down by an automobile driven by Joseph Flonek of 4938 South Marshfield avenue. On an elevated highway there would be no string of parked machines through which a pedestrian could step to his death.

Elevated highways also would have permitted Harold Castle and his young wife, Mary, both of 920 North Wells street, to be alive today. They were riding in a car with two relatives and a friend, Walter Alschlager, 1720 Vine street, Sunday morning, when their car crashed into another machine at 67th street and Pulaski road. The car burst into flames. Mrs. Castle was burned to death; her husband died later. Such an accident would be impossible on elevated highways, because there would be no cross streams of trafic.

Nine Injured at Crossing.

Similarly, elevated highways would have prevented injuries to nine persons at a railroad grade crossing at 87th street and South Central Park avenue. Andrew Solis of Oak Lawn was driving. Eight other persons were in his car. As he approached the tracks, he saw a freight train approaching. He swerved to avoid a collision, hit a post, and the car overturned twice into a ditch. An elevated highway would cross high above the railroad tracks.

The moral of safe highways can be carried beyond the city proper, where many highways, engineers say, still are far from adequate. Many accidents still occur on four lane highways which a few years ago were deemed suitable for all purposes.

Accidents occur, however, when reckless drivers use the third or approaching lane, in their illegal eagerness to pass cars. Collisions inevitably result. Similar accidents result on two lane arterial highways. In modern highway design opposing trafic lanes are separated by center parkways or curbs.

No Parkway; 3 Dead.

A center parkway—an example may be found along Roosevelt road in stretches—doubtless might have moderated if not prevented the tragedy at Warsaw, Ind., Saturday. On the Lincoln highway near there William Harman, a cattle buyer, his son, Lowell, and Miss Roseanne M. Certia were killed and four others were injured when Miss Certia's car skidded on the wet pavement and crashed into Harman's oncoming car. A third car crashed into the wreckage. A center parkway certainly would have saved the Harmans.

Wider and separated highways in the country, engineers declared, would have the comparable beneficial results of elevated highways in the city. Motor trafic could proceed unhampered. The ever present peril to pedestrians would be eliminated on elevated thoroughfares, and reduced immeasureably on wider, separated country highways. The rural modernization, also, would call for extension of improved or four lane highways.

Safety Highways Urged.

"The immediate need is for safety elevated highways in Chicago," one police official said last night. "They not only will save human life but also will save time and money. The human element is most important, of course. There is hardly an accident about which we cannot truthfully say: 'It could not happen on an elevated highway.'"

The police official, scanning the records, discussed some trafic deaths that could have been prevented. Among such victims were Armand Dorgan, 731 North Clark street, killed Saturday night in Stockton drive; Eugene W. Mock Jr., 4 years old, 7428 North Damen avenue, fatally injured Saturday when he stepped between parked cars and in front of an automobile in front of 7451 North Seeley avenue, and Hubert Buchanan of Crete, killed when his car hit a milk wagon at Halsted and 185th streets, near Chicago Heights.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 712 persons had been killed in auto accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 550 were killed in Chicago, where 15,342 were injured.

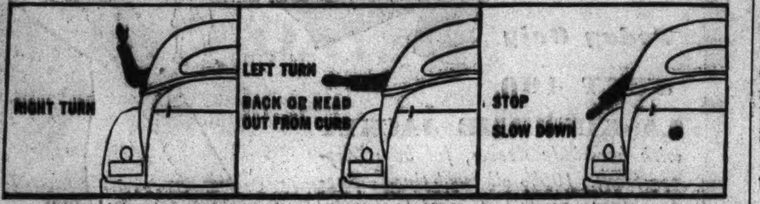
SIGNALING IN CHICAGO TRAFIC

(Story in adjoining column.)

Somewhat typical of Chicago trafic, the driver of this limousine did not signal those following him that he was about to turn. Had he signaled the three cars he is here blocking could have been passing him on his right while he is waiting to turn into Bryn Mawr avenue from Sheridan road. The license of the limousine, 130-632, was issued to Irving S. Florsheim, shoe merchant.

In contrast, the driver of this car turning into Bryn Mawr avenue from Sheridan road has notified the following automobiles of his intention and they are swinging into the lane next to the curb so as not to be blocked should the leading car be delayed in making the turn. The exemplary driver, winner of The Tribnue's daily politeness award, was B. E. Fisher, 3156 Sheridan road, who was trained under New York's drivers' license law.



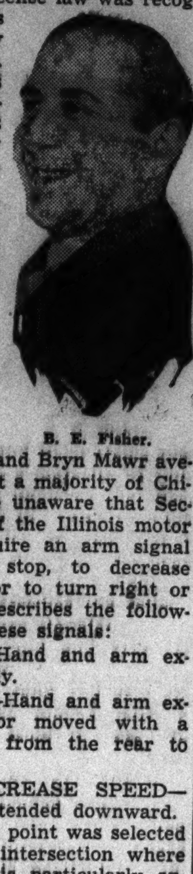
The Illinois motor vehicle law specifies that hand signals shall be used to give notice of intention to stop, to decrease speed suddenly, or to turn right or left. The code prescribes the above system for these signals.

DRIVERS' LICENSE TRAINING WINS A POLITENESS PRIZE

N. Y. Autoist Is Example of Proper Arm Signals.

BY HAL FOUST.

Expertness developed under New York's drivers' license law was recognized in Chicago's trafic yesterday and won for B. E. Fisher, 36 years old, 3156 Sheridan road, THE TRIBUNE'S daily $5 prize for polite motoring.



B. E. Fisher.

Proper use of hand signals was the subject of the day's survey. Other phases of motoring courtesy have been covered in previous surveys in this series.

Observation for a couple of hours at Sheridan road and Bryn Mawr avenue indicated that a majority of Chicago's drivers are unaware that Sections 65 and 66 of the Illinois motor vehicle code require an arm signal of intention to stop, to decrease speed suddenly, or to turn right or left. The law prescribes the following system for these signals:

LEFT TURN—Hand and arm extended horizontally.

RIGHT TURN—Hand and arm extended upward or moved with a sweeping motion from the rear to the front.

STOP OR DECREASE SPEED—Hand and arm extended downward.

This observation point was selected because it is an intersection where failure to signal is particularly annoying. Two lanes of Sheridan road carry the bulk of northbound trafic from the outer drive by way of Foster avenue. Many cars turn left here to reach Ridge or Peterson avenues by way of Bryn Mawr avenue.

One-tenth Make Signal.

With the motor courtesy reporter were Policemen Harry Howelka and Thomas Farmar. Only about one of every ten drivers turning left made any kind of a gesture with their arms, and most of the indiscriminate signals were made too late to benefit following motorists.

"That's what happens when there is no signal," said Policeman Farmar.

He pointed to a limousine with license 130-632 [issued to Irving S. Florsheim, shoe merchant]. While waiting to turn, it was blocking three automobiles that with proper advance notice might have passed the big car.

Tardy Signal Useless.

"You get the same blockade from a tardy signal," said Policeman Howelka a few minutes later.

He pointed to a sedan with license 75-808 [issued to J. Albert Muzio, 1271 Cleveland avenue] which was delaying three automobiles whose drivers had not received enough advance notice to pass.

Fisher's car was noticed a half block before he reached the intersection. His arm and fingers were extended horizontally. There was no mistaking his intention to turn left. Drivers behind him had ample time to swing to the lane next to the curb to pass him on his right should he be delayed in making the turn.

"I learned hand signals in passing the New York drivers' license examination," Mr. Fisher said when he was stopped for an interview.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S NEW AUTO LAW IS TERMED MOST DRASTIC IN U. S.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—New Hampshire put into operation on Sept. 1 what Insurance Commissioner James E. Sullivan describes as "one of the most drastic motor vehicle financial responsibility laws in the United States."

Designed to relieve automobile dealers and finance companies from severe penalties, the amendment required every registrant of a motor vehicle to state whether any money was owed for it and whether it carried any lien or mortgage. If so, he must personally assume financial responsibility, and insurance is the easiest way to do this.

100 KILLED IN BOOTLEG MINES DURING 2 YEARS

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—The state's first report on deaths in bootleg coal mines fixes attention anew on moves to solve that condition. More than 100 unauthorized miners have met death during the last two years in coal holes in the anthracite district.

The Anthracite institute has estimated that 5,000,000 tons of hard coal are taken by unauthorized miners annually from company owned property which has been abandoned or held in reserve. The institute said that represented a market value of $35,000,000.

C. J. HARRINGTON TAKES REINS IN CRIMINAL COURT

Ceremony Installs Him as Chief Justice.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, the youngest judge on the Cook county bench, was installed yesterday as chief justice of the Criminal court. The court opens its new year today with seven judges on the bench and the grand jury resuming work after a two weeks' vacation.

The new chief justice, who is 40 years old, spent two years as an associate judge in the court during the drive which was responsible for reduction in the court calendars.

Gives Credit to Predecessors.

"My predecessors in this position made great strides in the abolition of crowded court calendars," said the new chief justice at the installation ceremonies. "We will always have crime. I shall strive with the help of my associate judges to keep crime at a minimum by speeding up court machinery. Prompt trials of all criminal cases and quick punishment of the guilty will be my motto."

The new chief justice opens the court year with the smallest docket in the memory of veteran court attaches. Judge Michael L. McKinley, who presided at the ceremony yesterday for his successor, left only 81 indictments pending. Speakers yesterday recalled that six years ago, when the drive to clear the court calendar began, the docket was clogged with over 2,000 pending cases.

Family Attends Ceremony.

The courtroom was crowded with judges, lawyers, and personal friends of the new chief justice, and was banked with flowers. Judge Harrington's mother, Mrs. Daniel Harrington, his wife, Carolyn, and his four children, Robert, Cornelius Jr., James, and Joan Marie, attended the ceremonies. Among the speakers were Judge Denis E. Sullivan of the Appellate court, and Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court.

The new judges sitting in Criminal court are Francis Allegretti, Joseph Sabath, John C. Lewe, and George Fred Rush. Rudolph Desort and Robert Jerome Dunne hold over for a second year.

Detective Henry Farmer, colored, who shot Harris, said the young man is believed to be a member of a Chicago hijacking gang that has taken $75,000 loot in the last few months.

Barbara Hutton and her husband, Count Haugwitz von Reventlow, as they arrived in New York.

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Many pounds thinner, the Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz von Reventlow returned to the United States today on her first visit in two years.

The blonde ex-princess, former wife of the late Prince Alexis Mdivani, said she plans to remain in this country about a month. She was accompanied by her husband.

"We are building a home in London," she said, "and for the present, at least, have no plans to establish residence here."

The countess said she did not bring her year and a half old son, Lance, on the trip because she felt the heat in New York would be uncomfortable for him. He is in Switzerland.

SHORT DISSECTS ROOSEVELT RULE AT G. O. P. RALLY

Misourian's Pithy Attack Cheered by Crowd.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Saying he believed in pouring the oil on the spot where he heard the squeak, Congressman Dewey Short of Missouri tickled a large crowd at the annual Republican Labor day picnic at Riverview park yesterday afternoon by aiming his attacks on the opposition directly at President Roosevelt.

Dewey Short Speaking at Republican Picnic.

In reviewing the Supreme court fight and other subjects that occupied the attention of the recent congressional session, the Missourian assailed the chief executive as a would-be dictator, a ruthless politician, and a slippery eel. He began quietly but, when his first sally brought a burst of applause, he sensed the spirit of his audience and thereafter cast off most of the restraint.

Judge Nelson Among Speakers.

He was the principal speaker at the annual outing which, although the G. O. P. was described by Chairman Hill Blackett as having just passed through a political Valley Forge winter, was pronounced the most successful in several years. Others who spoke were Judge Oscar F. Nelson of the Superior court, Richard Nowinson, chairman of the Cook County Young Republican organization, and State Representative Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville.

Some of Congressman Short's pithy sentences follow:

"Every 20 or 30 years the American people go hay wire in the election of a President, but they soon come to their senses."

"The Houdini of the White House has just about run out of rabbits to pull out of his hat."

"The power sought was more than any good man should want and more power than a good man should possess."

"He can use fifteen hundred million dollars as a club over the heads of recalcitrants of his own party and make them do his will."

G. O. P. in Background.

"The Republicans had sense enough to keep their mouths shut and stay in the background."

"Joe Robinson died of a broken heart because he didn't believe in these crazy, cockeyed propositions any more than I did."

"If Franklin Delano Roosevelt is a Democrat, then I'm a Chinaman."

Some of these shots Congressman Short has used before, but never, it was said, with the direct application to President Roosevelt that he gave to them on this occasion.

Chairman Edward F. Moore and most of the members of the county central committee and other leaders occupied seats on the platform. Among the downstaters present were George A. Barr of Joliet, Justus L. Johnson of Aurora, State's Attorney Charles A. O'Connor of Kane county, Congressman Leo E. Allen of Galena, former Congressman Frank R. Reid of Aurora, and Charles W. Hadley of Wheaton.

LA FOLLETTE PREDICTS ONLY CONSERVATIVES AND LIBERALS IN '40

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin predicted today the rise of a new national political alignment by 1940 from "the vitality and liberalism of the middle west."

Speaking at a Labor day celebration marking the 50th anniversary of the Omaha Central Labor union, he declared if American democracy is to live and function, "there must be a political realignment that will give the American people a real choice between progressive and reactionary government."

"The American people no longer can be herded into political lines formed on the issues of the civil war," he declared.

"Realignment already has begun in America. The development will continue until reactionaries are in one camp and progressives in another. Political alignment that enables politicians to be liberals before election and reactionaries afterward must end. It is not important that these politicians betrayed the leadership upon which they rode into office. What is important is that they betrayed the people who elected them."

"CAN PEOPLE APPRECIATE THE CHOICER TOBACCOS IN CAMELS?"

A QUESTION FREQUENTLY HEARD . . .

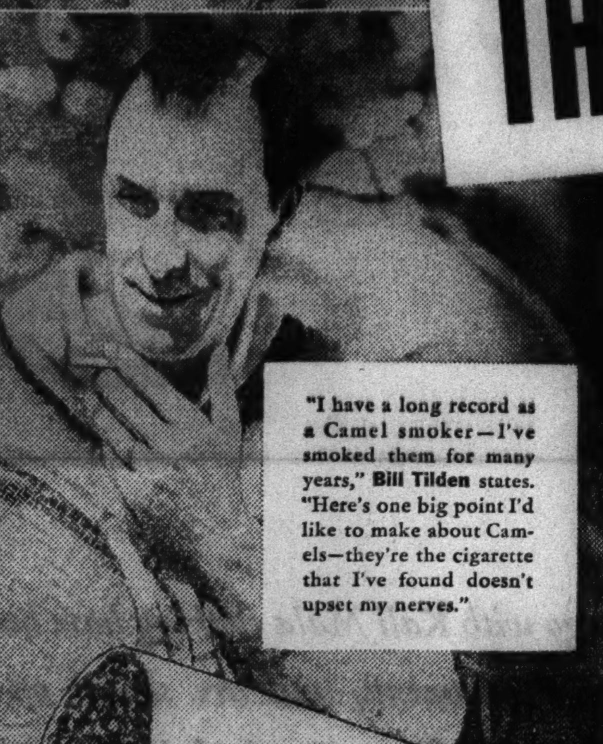
ANSWER:

THEY SMOKE MORE CAMELS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE IN THE WORLD

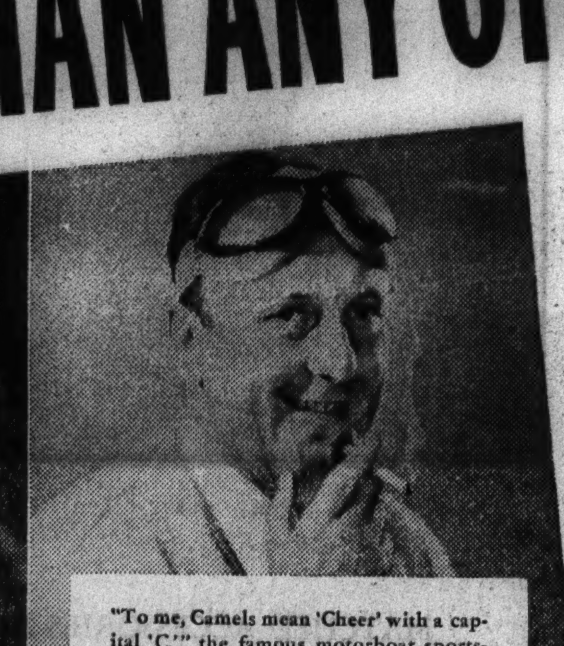
"Camels went 'round the world with me. I'll bet on them any time," famous round-the-world reporter, Miss Dorothy Kilgallen, says. "With Camels, steady smoking's a steady pleasure."

"Camels go big out our way," says Charlie Belden, boss of the Pitchfork Ranch, Wyoming. He is shown delivering a load of antelopes to a zoo, via plane. "Cowboys are great Camel smokers. They like that 'lift' they get out of Camels."

"So many girls at college smoke Camels," says Miss Josephine O'Neill, co-ed. "Mental work often has an effect on digestion. I find that Camels help make food seem twice as good."



"I have a long record as a Camel smoker—I've smoked them for many years," Bill Tilden states. "Here's one big point I'd like to make about Camels—they're the cigarette that I've found doesn't upset my nerves."



"To me, Camels mean 'Cheer' with a capital 'C,'" the famous motorboat sportsman, George Reis, says. "I also like Camel's hearty flavor. And I like the quick 'lift' I get with a Camel after I've been through a tough race."

Men and women respond to the unadorned fact that costlier tobaccos play the most important part in making Camel Cigarettes milder and better

THE deeper you dig into the facts—the more you find that real mildness and real flavor must be grown into cigarette tobaccos. Nothing man can do to inferior tobaccos can take the place of good tobaccos to start with. As you'd expect, naturally milder, better-tasting tobaccos cost more to buy. And Camel willingly pays millions more year in and year out to get them. That's why Camels are different—why they appeal more to men and women in all walks of life—why they're the largest-selling cigarette in America . . . or in the world!

Camels don't tire your taste—there is no "cigaretty" after-taste to Camels, no matter how many you smoke. In fact, Camels open the door to all-around smoking pleasure.

"One thing I've found about Camels is they don't have a 'cigaretty' after-taste or irritate my throat," says Miss Helen Stansbury, aviation executive.

"I've been enjoying and reaping the benefit of Camel's extra mildness for years," the famous parachute jumper, Joe Crane, begins. "And I mean that I smoke plenty of Camels. I've smoked enough of them to prove that Camels don't frazzle your nerves. Flavor? Well: 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!' You can't beat 'em for real, downright goodness."

COSTLIER TOBACCOS . . . IN A MATCHLESS BLEND

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic. The skillful blending of leaf with leaf brings out the full delicate flavor and mildness of these choice tobaccos. That's why Camels have given more people more pleasure than any other cigarette.

LABOR EXPLOITED FOR LEWIS' GAIN, COPELAND WARNS

Rips Into C. I. O. Head for Attack on Roosevelt.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—A warning that the working man is being exploited to further the personal ambition of John L. Lewis, C. I. O. dictator, was sounded today by United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, a candidate for mayor of New York, in a Labor day statement. Copeland compared the "blatant leader of the C. I. O." with the God of Baal.

The senator charged that his rivals were puppets of Lewis and urged the public to turn from them. He referred to Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, seeking reëlection, and Jeremiah T. Mahoney, former Supreme court justice running on a platform of complete indorsement of the Roosevelt administration.

Assails Tirade at President.

Senator Copeland ripped into Lewis for his recent speech threatening to break from Roosevelt and form a farmer-labor party unless the administration bows to his wishes.

"To my mind, the most impertinent statement I ever heard was that of John L. Lewis, when, referring to the President of the United States, he said in effect that 'one who has supped and lived in the house of labor' must do so and so," asserted Copeland. "I shall admire the spunk of the President if he retort in language unmistakable, letting Lewis know that the sovereign power of America never will bow the knee to the God of Baal impersonated by the blatant leader of the C. I. O.

"It is shameful that the individual units making up the rank and file ct labor, and the wives and children who suffer when there is no pay envelope, should be exploited to further the personal ambition of Lewis.

Finds Tactics "Nauseating."

"Insulting the President, seeking to intimidate members of congress by threats against their chances of election, seeking to undermine the Supreme court, which has been the shield and protector of labor, and seeking to climb into the presidential chair—all these things are nauseating. They are doing more to dash the sympathy of the public for labor organizations than any other line of endeavor possibly could do."

The Copeland statement was the only visible activity of any of the candidates during the day.

To date Copeland has been the most aggressive of the three contenders. Republicans are flocking to Copeland's camp in great numbers and nis chances of winning the nomination over Mayor LaGuardia are considered excellent.

JUGO-SLAVIAN KING CELEBRATES 14TH BIRTHDAY

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Sept. 6.—(AP)—King Peter II. of Jugo-Slavia, serious and thrifty, got up at 6 o'clock this morning, put on one of his best suits and had his fourteenth birthday.

This was a national holiday, and so, after breakfast with his mother, Queen Marie, and his brothers, Tomislav and Andrei, Peter watched the proud and growing Jugo-Slavian army parade before him. There were gifts and telegrams to look at in the castle, which is a big, gray stone affair, not unlike many American apartment houses. Long lines of subjects, many of them boys and girls of Peter's age, came to see him.

Peter will be ruler in his own right in four more years. He became king at 11 when his father, Alexander, was slain by an assassin at Marseilles, France. Three regents, headed by Prince Paul, his uncle, now rule in his name.

Lige Debowski, heroic chef who was wounded five times July 18 in a gun battle in which he killed two liquor store robbers, was feeling so chipper yesterday that he began to worry about getting a job when he is released from the county hospital. Dr. Clayton Brock, assigned to the case yesterday, told him it will be several weeks before he will be discharged. His wife, Wanda Debowski, visits him every afternoon at the hospital. She has moved from 4644 Sheridan road to be near her husband. "We don't want the new address known for fear of reprisals from the robbers' gang," she said.

THE AMERICAN AVIATOR IN SPAIN.

The plight of the mother in Champaign, Ill., whose son, Harold E. Dahl, was captured by Gen. Franco's army while flying for the Spanish government and who has been sentenced to death by a court martial, arouses universal sympathy. Regardless of Dahl's legal status, any legitimate move by our state department to save him will be applauded.

Dahl, of course, forfeited the right of protection accorded to American citizens abroad when he joined the loyalist forces. If he swore allegiance to the loyalist government he forfeited his citizenship as well. What has happened or may happen to him gives point to the wisdom of our state department in doing everything it can to prevent Americans from joining either side in Spain.

Dahl, according to some dispatches, was purely a mercenary in the Spanish ranks, having joined their service because he was broke. It is hard to see, however, where Gen. Franco can find any justification for treating either foreigners or mercenaries among his opponents as outlaws when the backbone of his own army is Moors, foreign legionnaires, Italians, and Germans. The incident rather illustrates the added savagery arising from the current European practice of fighting undeclared wars. It is reported that 22,000 foreigners are in the loyalist ranks and many more in the Franco forces.

Between two nations which are formally at war various Hague treaties to which most civilized nations have subscribed provide strict protection for prisoners of war. They may not be exposed to fire, nor subjected to public exposure and ridicule, nor coerced into giving information concerning their own forces. Neither may they be subjected to reprisals for any injuries their captors may sustain at the hands of the prisoners' forces. They may be punished only for infractions of military discipline and law committed as prisoners, in the same degree that the captor nation punishes its own soldiers for similar offenses.

But in Spain there is, legally, no war. Each side regards the other as a faction of traitors, and each has slaughtered captive partisans of the other, both military and civilian, in the most hideous fashion.

This is not necessarily a concomitant of civil war. In our own civil war the federal government naturally refused to acknowledge the confederacy as a legal government and was able to prevent its recognition as such by the European powers. From the beginning of the war, however, confederate forces were accorded belligerent rights. The general practice was to treat prisoners according to the rules of civilized warfare.

In theory the granting to Gen. Franco of belligerent rights which he and his allies are demanding might put an end to such incidents as that involving Dahl. In practice it is doubtful if any legalistic moves can abate the present Spanish barbarism.

STAKHANOFFISM.

This is the second anniversary of the Russian industrial movement known as Stakhanoffism, a word which is the equivalent of our mass production. It is Taylorism.

Two years ago a young miner in the Donetz coal basin reorganized and reëquipped the system of mining and made a record for coal output of 102 tons in 6 hours. Stakhanoff immediately became celebrated. He was what the sluggish soviet production needed. The commissars began an extensive search for the like of him in all industries and in farm production as well. They found a number of these natural geniuses who, inspired by the reputation and profit they could gain, succeeded in speeding up production beyond the average Russian conception of possibilities.

A young foreman in a ballbearing factory boosted the plant's output from 2,000,000 to 3,200,000 bearings a month. Another Donetz coal miner produced a two year quota in six months. Many privileges were the reward of these achievements. The men who succeed are allowed to drive their own automobiles. They have what Russians regard as luxury living conditions, and their pay in rubles is high. One combine driver made 13,600 rubles in the harvest season.

Not only is a moneyed class of workers being established, producing a proletariat of many disparities, but foremen and managers who cannot keep the pace are being punished. It is undoubtedly true that a great deal of the wreckage which Stalin attributes or pretends to attribute to plots is due to the accidents which happen when unskilled and incompetent men try to drive their plants or their machines to a production capacity possible only under skilled management.

A wretch so unfortunate to cause an accident because he is trying to boost his production and cannot do it, neither he nor his workmen knowing how, becomes a Trotzkyite or an agent of Germany or Japan. There is no doubt political revolution is going on in Russia, but that does not explain the wholesale executions. Where there is a failure the person who can be held responsible for it is the victim of the soviet form of justice, which is secret trial and execution.

On the second anniversary of the movement the youth of Russia were urged to make increased efforts to speed up production. That may result in more goods, and it may also result in more misery for the incompetent. It means that communism has failed in Russia and that private initiative is being recognized there. It is strange that communism should be making its great drive here at the moment it is dying at home.

NEW DEAL'S REVOLUTION BITES ITSELF.

John L. Lewis, the man "who paid for it," came out of his sulks Friday night of last week and roared his disapproval of the federal administration and the Democratic party.

One shot particularly directed at the White House was: "It ill behooves one who has supped at labor's table and who has been sheltered in labor's house to curse with equal fervor and fine impartiality both labor and its adversaries when they become locked in a deadly embrace."

That reference was to Mr. Roosevelt's impatient: "A plague on both their houses." Mr. Roosevelt is not a long suffering man. He likes to tell other people what they must do, and when orders are given to him the dictation is at once resented. Mr. Lewis was trying to collect what he paid for and was trying in a manner offensive to the chief beneficiary. People who try to tell Mr. Roosevelt that he is not doing the right thing will soon have plenty of hard names thrown at them.

Mr. Lewis tried to hold a club over Mr. Roosevelt publicly and force him into more ignominious surrenders than the federal departments had already made. The C. I. O. men might have bullied Miss Perkins, Mr. Farley or Mr. Cummings all they wanted. But the imperious man in the White House would not stand for it, and, moreover, he is smart enough to know that what Mr. Lewis was doing was not helping the White House occupant.

If Mr. Lewis had stormed at Miss Perkins, Mr. Farley or Mr. Cummings, he would have been a fine ingrate. They subordinated themselves to the insurrection against the laws which had amazed the entire country. They permitted the stoppage of the mails. The department of justice didn't investigate crimes against interstate transportation, against the postoffice and against the laws of the United States and of the various states which were the battlefield of the C. I. O. attack on motors and steel.

Has Mr. Lewis forgotten that he was allowed to take violent possession of property, prevent workers from working, and that he had the support of state troops and the encouragement of federal government in doing so? When he spoke last Friday he didn't know what the examiner of the federal relations board was to find in the Fansteel sitdown. So long as law mocks law why should the insurgent be discouraged?

If the law had been enforced Lewis' communistically supported revolutionaries would have made small progress. Their insurrection against the law had a long period of successful violence because the law officials protected the very men they should not have protected and did not protect the people who had a right to expect the support of law enforcement.

Mr. Lewis paid a very large sum of money to make Mr. Farley's campaign a success last year. He turned over in various forms something like $600,000. He was getting what he paid for from the federal government until his own methods made that government withdraw a bit from the common front it had with him. He is undoubtedly the most violent but probably far from the wisest of the men in his revolutionary labor movement.

Even he, however, is wise enough to know that the real nucleus of the Democratic party was against him from the start, and he knew that he could not even peaceably enter their territory. He would not have dared to try any place south of the Ohio river what he did in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan.

The men representing that southern region have no use for his methods, and they have precious little use for any great reform unless it comes to them in the form of subsidies. These men can control their party in congress through the control of committees which has been given them. They want none of Mr. Lewis in their region and he is aware of that.

Mr. Roosevelt found he had enough trouble with his court bill and the bad name it got without taking orders from the C. I. O. generalissimo. However, Mr. Roosevelt had asked for everything Mr. Lewis gave, and he had tolerated nearly everything Mr. Lewis did. The alliance is a natural one for Mr. Roosevelt even if he cannot keep Mr. Lewis in respectful attitude. The two men want the same thing, but Mr. Roosevelt wants it known that he occupies the White House and that Mr. Lewis doesn't.

There is a possibility that Mr. Lewis is the stronger man. It has been frequently observed that Mr. Roosevelt might start something that somebody else would finish. Such has been the history of such revolutions. When they have gone far enough somebody else takes them over. Mr. Lewis seems about to declare that this point has been reached in the present American struggle.

VERMONT HUMOR.

[Detroit News.]

After a research of years in which samples from all parts of the globe have been taken and assayed, a college professor comes to the conclusion that the humor of Vermont is the best on earth. By a coincidence he is teaching at this time in Vermont.

This is a bold assertion of a sort dear to the hearts of press commentators who must fill long columns, for it is controversial without being too contentious, and as hopeless as any comparison in which the standard can only be one of individual taste. Humor is like wine. It is dry [extra dry in Vermont] and sweet, sparkling and still, light and heavy, overt and insidious, as wines are. The best of it improves with age; a great deal of it must be consumed in the year.

Cited as typical Vermont humor is one about a conspicuously large woman who married Elmer, a conspicuously small man, and some time later was seen shaking a bed sheet from a window. "Looking for Elmer?" asked a passerby. This is laconic, but otherwise not particularly Vermont. It could have been said in rural Indiana. The late Calvin Coolidge was a noted exemplar of the Green mountain wit. His was a sound vintage but only to be recommended to those who look for a certain dustiness on the tongue. Apparently the professor does, and we shall string along with him to this extent, that if one's preference is Vermont humor, then Vermont humor is best.

PEGGED FOR SUCCESS.

About 1900 a poker game was held over the drug store in a little Minnesota town every Saturday night. One of the five players was Jake Wormser, civil war veteran who had a wooden leg. On his way home after a session one zero night Jake let his wooden peg be caught in a grating. He froze to death. This left a no-quorum game and Peter M., a youngster who worked in the drug store and had saved up $500 toward a partnership, was invited to fill the vacancy. By summer the oldsters had the $500, and his employer fired him for shirking business. . . . So Pete came to Chicago and, twenty-five years later, was the millionaire head of a manufacturing concern. "I always attribute my success," he said, "to Jake Wormser's wooden leg."

IS THIS ART?

Oh, I can't be casuistic
With this "art" called modernistic;
It's the darnedest, crudest stuff I've ever seen.
With its squares and cubes and angles,
My esthetic sense it mangles,
And to violence it stirs my dormant spleen.

It is horrible, horrendous;
It's the stuff that well might send us,
Mad and manacled, right to the padded cell.
It's atrocious, and I hate it!
So, I'll damn it, deprecate it,
Lacerate it, relegate it plumb to hell!

If this is art, and you can prove it,
Pick your mountain, I will move it!
Why, I'll even trust a foreign diplomat.
I'll believe the "true" confessions,
I will love my wife's relations—
And I'll masticate your old fedora hat!

TROUBLE'S CLAWS.

A north side apartment hotel recently paid a woman singer generously to move out. With her went twelve canaries, each individually caged, and six cats. To another tenant the manager explained. "She seemed a nice woman when she came—didn't kick on the price—and we gave her the only grand piano in the house. Her scale running wasn't too bad. But the cats! Once a day she closed her windows and let the canaries out for exercise. The birds, it seems, were lazy, and she'd permit the cats to chase 'em when they lighted to rest on the furniture. You have no idea what ruin a cat can accomplish when he slaps at a canary and hits a piano or an overstuffed chair. We got rid of her to save our furniture." . . . The manager said he didn't know where the lady went. "I am wondering," he added, "what I can say if I'm asked whether she's a desirable tenant. The truth is so goofy."

That "no fish" complaint doesn't hold in Iowa City. Nearby Lake Macbride has been stocked with bass, crappie, blue gills and bull heads, and fishing has been prohibited until next year. Broke from its pedestal and fell,

Was not so great at all.

WHEN POETS WERE MEN.

The young man on the L, who looked the football player type, was reading Dante's Inferno. We crashed his privacy and asked why. "I like this," he said. "It means something; it has force. Today's poetry isn't being read because it isn't written by robust men. Dante was a fighting man who knew his times and the ups and downs of politics. I like Marlowe, too, and he was killed in a saloon brawl. Those fellows wrote knowingly of strife. They told something. Poetry might get somewhere again if poets could do that instead of merely padding their egos."

WE WOULD rather read a stirring novel like Kenneth Roberts' "Northwest Passage" than any verse that's likely to be written soon. A good work, with its own poetical passages, it makes some obscure and probably dry history tingle.

HITHER AND YON.

How many Chicagoans have visited all: Rosenwald and Field museums, Shedd aquarium and stockyards? . . . From the north the Art institute simulates station with train shed in rear. . . . Is there no way to make loop pigeons a civic asset, like Venice's? . . . Not many have Michela's courage; seized magazine in Central station and wouldn't pay; explained she paid for and forgot it the day before. Old saw: "It'll be a great city when it's finished." . . . When it's finished it will be through.

"YOU AN ACTOR!" growled the director. "You speak your lines like every one had a wool petticoat on it."

WHEN THE ADRENAL GLANDS FAIL.

We have had much to say about the glands of internal secretion—the pituitary, the thyroid, the adrenals, etc. As most of us know, the thyroid may become diseased and bring on many troublesome symptoms. What is known as Graves' disease, or exophthalmic [toxic] goiter, faces many persons in the so-called goiter belts of the world. The remedy lies first in restoring the patient as nearly as possible to a normal condition through the administration of iodine, after which the offending gland is removed.

But our discussion today has to do not with the thyroid but with the relatively small glands—the adrenals—which lie at the upper poles of the kidneys. While they are quite different and distinct from the thyroid, nevertheless all of these hidden [endocrine] structures are interrelated and many factors which affect one will influence another. The adrenals are triangular bodies which measure from 1¼ to 2 inches in length, a trifle less in width, and approximately ⅛ of an inch in thickness.

When some general infection, such as tuberculosis, attacks the adrenals the physical response of the victim suffers. In the first place the man or woman complains of great weakness, persistent fatigue, and digestive disturbances. Brown, pigmented spots occur on the body, especially in constricted areas or on those portions of the skin subjected to pressure, for example, at the waistline if a belt is worn. The discoloration may also cause the skin to appear soiled, possessing, as Addison described it, a dingy or smoky hue. Freckles that are jet black are common, particularly on the backs of the ears. There is loss of weight, the blood pressure is down, and all in all the patient is miserable.

From the time of Addison's description in 1849 the search has been on for some compensating measure that might be employed to augment the adrenal substance. It is obvious that all of the symptoms are due to the fact that the disease has destroyed or reduced the power of the gland to manufacture its quota of internal secretion.

Although the cortex [the outside portion of the gland] is known to produce the needed hormone, earlier attempts to give this by mouth or by injection met with but partial success. A recent report, however, by Wilkinson of Manchester, England, details his experiences in giving adrenal extract on a regularly controled program. While the trials were not remedial in all cases, enough benefit was obtained to warant further study and to hold out the hope that exceedingly large doses of the cortex of the gland may be followed not only by restoration to health but by what seems to be a clinical cure.

Of the nine individuals treated, four were unrelieved. Five are in good health and carrying on their activities. The first patient has been under care somewhat more than three years, the last 19 months. All were acutely ill when treatment was begun. Large quantities of the extract were used and, for the most part, the drug was given directly into a vein. The amount required daily was divided into three or four doses and no reactions were observed.

Weakness was the first symptom to yield. The mental attitude returned to that of an ambitious, industrious person. All nine patients were suffering from loss of appetite, nausea, and vomiting. Five lacked free hydrochloric acid in the stomach. In every instance signs of the failure of digestion vanished within a few days and appetite picked up. The effect on skin pigmentation [brown colorations] was not noteworthy. Subnormal temperatures disappeared, the basal metabolism, which had been minus, became normal, and gain in weight was the rule.

The blood pressure showed far less change than was expected. It should be recorded, however, that at the beginning of treatment the levels were strikingly low. In one case systolic pressure rose to 145; the next highest was 115.

DOUBTFUL VALUE.

E. F. K. writes:

1. Several years ago I read of a cure for sinus trouble by means of heat produced electrically. Has this method been developed effectively, and is it generally employed?

2. For about ten years Georges Lakhovsky of Paris has been publishing a series of books in which he sets forth a new cure for disease by the use of electric currents of high frequency. He claims to have cured cancer and other serious ailments by this method and writes interestingly of cosmic waves and their effects upon health. He is violently attacked by some scientists in Europe, and favored by others. Has there been any recognition of his theories in America, and is there a place where his apparatus is for sale—girdles, collars, etc.?

REPLY.

1. It is not generally employed, and is of doubtful value.

2. These are not considered effective either here or abroad.

The high frequency current has some uses in medicine but is far from a "cure-all." Do you remember the time when electric belts were worn by patients who, in laudatory terms, praised their healing properties?

Verily, the power of the imagination transcends the universe!

DUST.

J. G. writes: I work in a factory that has a lot of dust. This clogs my nostrils and makes them and my throat very dry. Would you advise me to spray my nose? If so, please recommend an oil that will not affect my health and will help keep my nostrils clear.

REPLY.

Place a bit of white vaseline in each nostril several times daily. Clear the nasal passages before inserting a fresh supply. Irrigating the airways with warm dilute salt solution will help. If the dust is very heavy you can wear a gauze mask, moistened with water, over the nose and mouth.

SCARS.

S. S. writes: An accidental cut on my cheek has healed, but left a puckered scar. Can the appearance of the cheek be improved by any salve or lotion?

REPLY.

Probably not. However, the scar may contract slightly as time goes on. Massage the area daily with a small amount of cocoa butter.

ESTATE MANAGEMENT.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own property from an estate, one-eighth in my name.

1. Have I the legal right to evict a man who is living on the property and who has paid no rent to me for two years? He is not an heir.

2. This estate has not been probated. If probated, would the entire cash assets have to be paid the heirs when proof is at hand that one heir lost the cash assets?

3. Or do we have to take what is left?

4. If all the heirs but one signed a document releasing all claims to the real estate, could the one remaining heir demand full payment of his share from the sale of the real estate or take as his share a part of the real estate?

5. A man collected $500 belonging to eight heirs by forging the signature and the brokerage company paid him. Who is responsible, the man or the brokerage company? The estate was not administered.

6. Can this man be ordered to stay out of town for this offense? To date the eight heirs have not been paid.

7. Could the man be arrested? The estate is in Iowa—the broker in Chicago.

8. The broker refuses to pay and refuses to arrest this man. J. G.

1. The heirs should unite in employing a managing agent. You do not indicate whether this has been done.

2. We do not understand the question.

3. Your right to collect from a party who has embezzled the cash would depend on your proof as to the embezzlement.

4. Yes.

5. Both.

6. He would be subject to prosecution. The decision whether to stay out of town would be for him to make.

7. Yes.

8. We advise the employment of an attorney. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

UNEXPLAINED ABSENCE.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I have heard through different sources that if a husband or wife is gone for seven years and cannot be traced that you are automatically free and they are declared dead. Is this true?

2. Is it necessary to go through court with a lawyer to do this? My husband left on Jan. 27, 1930, for Michigan to get another job. He was to have returned in three days but did not, so I wrote to the place he was to go, but the letter came back stating he was not there and never had been. I then wrote to the police in that city and gave his description so they could try and find him, and in the meantime I tried to trace him here through his old job, all of which was in vain. I have a son now seven years old, so would like to do things legally so his name will be clear. You may wonder why I have not secured a divorce in all this time, but I have been out of work six years.

3. Please advise me what to do, and if he is declared dead and would show up again [4] would I still have to get a divorce? G. M.

1. The law presumes a person dead after seven years' unexplained absence, but if it should actually turn out that this person were alive, this presumption would be worthless.

2. We advise you not to contract another marriage on this mere presumption, if this is what you had in mind.

3. If you wish to contract another marriage you should obtain a divorce.

4. Yes, on such facts your new marriage would be invalid.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—By all means the board of education should keep the schools closed temporarily. My brother's daughter was buried yesterday. She died of this dreadful infantile paralysis, and if those who are opposed to the delay of opening the schools could only see or know the worry and hysterical moments of the parents whose children have paralysis, they would soon reconsider. Until this epidemic is under control, which at the present time it is not, parents should keep their children away from school whether they open on scheduled time or not. TED FOWLER.

FROM LIBRARIAN RODEN.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—If the Jerry Schiller, who wrote you complaining that Jewish employés of the public library do not get paid for absence on their religious holidays, is the clerk of that name on the library staf he ought to know better. He ought to know that library employés get three weeks vacation, instead of two as in other city departments, and that the third week was added to liquidate such unofficial holidays as these and others recognized elsewhere in the municipal service, but for which library employés are expected to reserve the needful days from their extra vacation week. He ought also to know that there are sundry other holidays that are recognized in other public offices, while the public library keeps only the eight that are commonly kept by the whole population, and that all this is why he is enjoying three weeks' vacation and the public uninterrupted library service on all working days. C. B. RODEN, Librarian.

SENATOR BLACK'S CLUBS.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Your correspondent, W. J. Mallon, in THE TRIBUNE edition of Aug. 23, 1937, in his apology for Black's membership in the K. K. K., sarcastically says that Black "probably never belonged to the United States Chamber of Commerce, the Liberty league, or the Illinois Manufacturers' association," but the obvious reply is: What of it? Those organizations are legal and lawful, entirely responsible, and highly respectable. On the other hand, the K. K. K. has been outlawed, one way or another, directly or indirectly, in practically every state of the Union. Just try to get a K. K. K. charter, W. J. M., if you don't believe it, and see what happens. But, of course, the chief objection to Black was that he has neither legal ability nor judicial temperament. And now that the smoke has cleared away, why did certain senators vote for him, and was the fight against the court packing bill merely a "sham battle" after all? A. F. D.

A QUESTION OF JOBS.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Kirkland has been paroled and has a job awaiting him. I am a law-abiding citizen over 60 years old that cannot get a job. I am told I am too old to work, yet I feel fine. I was born and raised in Indiana and when I was a young man I was taught right was might and wrong was something else. I am beginning to think real life is stranger than fiction. E. H.

CLASSIC AND CONTEMPORARY ART.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—About a year ago, the late Andrew Mellon came back from Europe with a million and a half dollar picture in his trunk. It was painted by an Italian about the time William Penn discovered Pennsylvania, so there was no danger that the size of the check might have spoiled him.

What's more, Mellon bought the painting from the soviet government. Why they let it go is more than I can say. Maybe they thought a million and a half would feed a good many of their living painters. If so they had my blessing, because to my notion that's the only encouragement of art that's worth anything.

The money our arty innocents abroad spent for old masters would have supported enough American talent to give us stacks of Michelangelos, Murillos, Raphaels, Rembrandts, and Rubens. For there is just as much talent in America as there ever was in any European country. The difference is that the kale holders of Italy, Germany, and Holland, when they were in their prime, hired the painter around the corner, whereas ours hie themselves to Europe and let the painter around the corner starve.

Painting, like every other art, is a living thing. It cannot live without food, and the better it's fed the better it thrives. We've done pretty well developing a literature because it's hard to sell canned soup and toothpaste without mixing some literature with the advertising matter, but when it comes to painting, sculpture, and music, we are just a good market for second hand goods made in Europe. JOSEPH GALE.

BATTLING THE DEPRESSION.

Brooklyn, Ia., Aug. 24.—Stop, you are breaking my heart with your sob stories of "how some Chicagoans battled depression." The story of Mr. F., the industrial engineer appearing in today's issue, is unusually depressing. It is almost unbelievable that a man who was only making $25,000 a year from 1927 to 1933 was still able to keep his family eating for a period of three years after his job terminated as the result of "political disturbance," just by working at odd jobs. It indicates rare courage, good management, thrifty husbandry, and relentless paring of the budget. A $150,000 income in six years, four of which are usually considered depression years, would be in the minds of some of us a lot of money. Anyway the fellow who thought up this feature for you is entitled to a raise, since he is furnishing a lot of us out here in Hometown with a laugh a day. CLINTON RYAN.

FARES FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—School will open soon and I believe there was some movement on foot to request the street car lines to make the carfare for all school children 5 cents as the bus lines do. In Detroit children ride for 3 cents to school.

I am not on relief and am anxious to give my children an education, but it is almost more than I can afford to pay 7 cents for each child. The difference would help to buy them some lunch. C. A. S.

HITLER SALUTES NAZIS AS HE RIDES INTO NUREMBERG

Arrives Hour Late; Hailed by Fair Sized Crowds.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NUREMBERG, Germany, Sept. 6.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler entered this ancient city today to open his annual pageant of the National Socialist [Nazi] party.

Prentiss B. Gilbert.

Previous to the arrival of Hitler, who was an hour late, radio loudspeakers in the streets repeated at short intervals the time of his arrival by plane. Announcers listed the streets through which he would drive and added that "all of Nuremberg will greet Der Fuehrer along this route."

Despite this injunction the streets were less crowded than in previous years, but those present were as enthusiastic as ever. Hitler acknowledged the ovations as he stood in the tonneau of his touring car. His right arm was raised in the Nazi salute and his left hand was tucked in the Sam Brown belt of his Storm Trooper's uniform.

Gets Gift at City Hall.

The Fuehrer was driven to the city hall where the mayor of Nuremberg hailed him as the savior of Germany and presented him with a bronze replica of the monumental fountain which the city will erect near the temple dedicated to the war dead. The fountain will symbolize the triumph of labor.

Hitler in his reply assured Nuremberg that the Nazi party caucus buildings it is erecting are "giving the city eternal character."

Nazi party leaders predicted that 700,000 men and women will attend the rally. All day long special trains kept pouring into the city. One carried most of the foreign diplomats accredited to Berlin. They will live on their train for almost a week. Prentiss B. Gilbert, American chargé d'affairs, was not among them, but he is due to arrive here Friday.

[A one day visit by Mr. Gilbert has received full sanction of the state department, despite objections from Ambassador William E. Todd, who is in the United States.]

Brings Private Bodyguard.

Two other trains brought Hitler's private bodyguard from the Lichterfelde barracks in Berlin.

Tonight Hitler was host at a performance of "The Meistersinger," Wagner's opera, at the Nuremberg opera house. Only persons wearing full dress or uniforms were permitted to attend.

One of the opera stars was Eyvind Laholm, an American of Swedish descent. His real name is Edwin Johnson. He was born in Birmingham, Ala., and was reared on a farm near Moline, Ill. He served in the United States navy in the world war and received his musical education in Chicago under Cleofonte Campanini.

BERLIN WARNED TO BE READY FOR MIMIC AIR RAIDS

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Huge placards, posted everywhere in the city, warned Berlin's inhabitants tonight to be ready for mimic air raids on six consecutive nights, starting Sept. 20.

Street lights and electric signs will be extinguished. All shop windows must remain dark. House windows must have drawn blinds and automobiles must douse their head and tail lights.

When sirens shriek the "warning," the whole city must take to cellars and stay below ground until another signal ends the practice. The placards serve notice that police have been instructed to enforce the drill, in conjunction with civil air defense maneuvers, rigorously.

Flush Kidneys of Acid and Poisons

Gain in Health and Stop Getting Up Nights

When kidneys are clogged they become weak—the bladder is irritated—often passage is scanty and smarts and burns—sleep is restless and nightly visits to the bathroom are frequent.

The right, safe, harmless and inexpensive way to stop this trouble and restore healthy action to kidneys and bladder is to get from your druggist a 35 cent box of Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules and take as directed—you won't be disappointed.

But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine—right from Haarlem in Holland—a grand kidney stimulant and diuretic. Remember also that other symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble are backache, leg cramps, puffy eyes, moist palms and nervousness.

MARRIAGE TEST LAW IN EFFECT!

A new state law requires a couple to prove they are free from syphilis and gonorrhea before a wedding license can be obtained. With separate departments for men and women, and with men and women physicians in attendance, the Public Health Institute is especially well fitted to make the necessary tests. A thorough physical examination in a private room, including Wassermann, Kahn and Eagle blood tests, urinalysis and smears, costs $3.00 per person.

IT'S YOUR MOVE

in the national drive to stamp out the menace of venereal infections!

Protect yourself and your family against syphilis and gonorrhea by being examined by your physician or this responsible clinic—at once!

If you are a happily married man or woman, and are blessed with apparently healthy children, you are more than likely to say to yourself: "Why should I bother to be examined for venereal diseases?" The answer is that syphilis can readily be contracted innocently, and exist for many years without your knowledge!

Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, declares: "I estimate that half the victims of syphilis are innocently infected. The syphilis germ is no respecter of race, creed, color or social station. Moreover, the germ is a treacherous one—its victim may feel fit as a fiddle, with no evidence of illness!"

That is why Dr. Parran and all other outstanding health authorities are urging every married man and woman, as well as every unmarried person, to submit to an examination for venereal infections. For such an examination provides double protection—protection not only for the adult but for his or her children, born and unborn!

The danger to children!

Probably the most dreadful effects of syphilis and gonorrhea are those on helpless children. Syphilis is the principal cause of stillborn, deformed and feeble-minded infants, while gonorrhea may blind babies at birth!

Dr. Parran says that 5 out of every 6 pregnant women with untreated syphilis have dead or syphilitic babies. Only about one-fourth of all infants with untreated syphilis live longer than a year, and of these but few will reach maturity without tragic mental or physical complications.

However, the expectant mother with syphilis who is treated during pregnancy has 9 chances in 10 of giving birth to a healthy, normal baby! For this reason, every woman who anticipates a child should be examined for venereal diseases—preferably before the fifth month of pregnancy!

In addition to protecting children, a thorough venereal disease examination saves adults from such destructive results as heart disease, blindness, deafness, apoplexy, paralysis or insanity from untreated syphilis, and sterility, stricture, crippling rheumatism or serious prostate, bladder and other troubles from untreated gonorrhea. Therefore, don't put off being examined but go at once to your family physician or come to the Public Health Institute.

Examination costs $3.00

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute offers attention for venereal infections at the lowest possible fees consistent with specialized treatment. An examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including blood tests, urinalysis and smears, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less!

Despite these low fees the Institute provides a friendly, personal service. Each patient is promptly attended in a private room, and to avoid embarrassment is known by a number rather than by name. The Institute's facilities are available to all, as even those who are temporarily pressed for funds can arrange to be cared for.

NOTE: Each of the Institute's men and women physicians is thoroughly trained in the superior methods resulting from giving over 4,500,000 examinations and treatments!

EUROPE IS DOING WELL, DOING BAD, SAY 2 FINANCIERS

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Two widely known American financiers, stepping today from the same gangplank after trips abroad, delivered sharply contrasting opinions about European business.

In most continental countries, and in England as well, economic conditions were "improving gradually," said Thomas W. Lamont, a Morgan partner.

But Bernard M. Baruch dismissed observers' reports of renewed prosperity in Europe with this melancholy remark:

"I wonder if those observers used a telescope or a microscope?"

Europe, he added, was in a bad state, and the whole world "is dominated by fear."

INJURIES IN PLUNGE FATAL.

Joseph Willdach, 49 years old, died in the County hospital yesterday of injuries incurred Sunday night in a plunge from a second floor window of a rooming house at 699 Milwaukee avenue.

DYKSTRA WARNS LABOR, CAPITAL TO MAKE PEACE

Madison, Wis., Sept. 6.—[Special.] —Dictatorship either by labor or by capital must be averted if this nation, which the fallen at Gettysburg died to save, is to be maintained, President Clarence A. Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin said as he accepted for the university a bronze plaque bearing Lincoln's Gettysburg address from the Sons of Union Veterans.

The presentation was among today's events in connection with the annual national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and its five affiliated organizations. Registration rolls early tonight showed that 187 of the "boys in blue" are here for this year's encampment.

Face Issue on New Front.

"Today we face a great issue on another battle front," Dykstra said. "Shall those who work with hand and brain and have no tools but their talents determine the future of America as against those who own the instruments of production and control the processes of industry?

"Shall the issue be joined in civil war and thus marshal organized force for the solution?

"If this be the answer, then the sacrifices of '63 will have to be repeated and the desolation following such warfare will be more widespread and more tragic in its significance.

"Lincoln declared that we cannot remain half slave and half free. I say to you today that we cannot have the dictatorship either of labor or of capital and maintain the nation which those buried at Gettysburg died to save.

Urges Domestic Peace.

"We have a common country and a common heritage. It is for us who stand in the shadow of this great utterance, now immortalized for us on bronze, and under the spell of Lincoln's great humanity, highly to resolve that the American citizen shall go forward to peace and plenty without resort to the ultimatum of war.

"Let us pause at this moment to read the lessons of our own history and the story that is being written in blood in Europe. Democracy and representative government, for which Lincoln labored and died, is as worthy of saving today as it was four score years ago."

WINDSORS VISIT BAKER AND LEARN ABOUT PIGS, ART

Pay Him Farewell Call; Will Go to Hungary.

NOETSCH, Austria, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The duke and duchess of Windsor learned something of pigs, paintings, and breadmaking on a farewell visit today to Alfred Wiegele, the versatile village baker.

In addition to delivering the Windsors' breakfast rolls every morning of their honeymoon at Wasserleonburg castle Wiegele often returned of afternoons to trounce the duke at tennis.

The baker was in the midst of his work today when the Windsors unexpectedly called, so he took them around his little shop, showing them first hand how their morning rolls had been made.

A Discourse on Fat Porkers.

Then he displayed paintings by his brother, Prof. Karl Wiegele, which the duchess admired so much she said she would sit for her portrait "when we return next year."

Wiegele next revealed his pride and joy—his pig sty—expatiating on the merits of his fat porkers, Arabella and Zaphronia.

In parting the duke gave Wiegele his cuff links.

The baker advised the duke not to forget his backhand needs developing if he intends to build up his tennis game.

Plan Visit in Hungary.

The visit to Wiegele was the only farewell call made by the Windsors. Noetsch visitors talked of giving a farewell demonstration, but this was unlikely because of Windsor's disapproval.

While honeymooning here the duke played tennis three or four times a week with the 45 year old baker, a left-hander.

From Noetsch the Windsors plan to go to Borsodivanka castle in Hungary for a visit, according to Maj. Dudley Forwood, Windsor's equerry. They will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bedaux of New York City, at whose Château de Cande, near Monts, France, they were married June 3.

HOT SPRINGS MAYOR ORDERS CHAIN GANG FOR CONFIDENCE MEN

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Mayor Leo P. McLaughlin today authorized his police department to reëstablish a chain gang for confidence men proposing to winter in Hot Springs.

Leo P. McLaughlin.

"We'll work these men down on Central avenue, where everybody can get a good look at them," he said.

The mayor inaugurated the chain gang treatment last year. Those convicted in Municipal court, wearing large balls and chains on their ankles, were put to work sweeping the principal business streets.

CONSERVATIVES CLAIM VICTORY IN ARGENTINE VOTE

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Conservative government coalition party expressed confidence tonight that its candidate, Dr. Roberto M. Ortiz, was elected president of Argentina with about 250 out of 476 electoral votes in Sunday's election.

The opposition Radical party, however, claimed a victory also for its candidate, former President Marcelo T. de Alvear. Returns will not be known at least until late Wednesday, because the tabulation, starting here late today, will not be complete in the provinces for several days.

Newspapers criticized alleged pressure on behalf of the government candidate in which at least three persons were killed and several injured in scattered disorders.

FALL ON FIRE ESCAPE FATAL.

Melvin Hickey, 21 years old, 3102 North Leavitt street, died in the County hospital last night from injuries he incurred Sept. 1 when he fell from the third to the second floor of a fire escape which he was repairing at 802 West Madison street.

Posture Training of Teen Age Girls Is Duty of Their Mothers

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"We hear much said about posture as it affects the older woman and her clothes," writes Interested. "But you fail the young girls in their early teens by not directing more of your posture advice at them.

"It so happens that my work is with young girls, but not in a physical education capacity, unfortunately. However, I do inject my feeling on the subject into the youngsters with whom I do come in contact. It is sad to see the young growing girls with their round shoulders, flattened chests, and protruding abdomens. Not only does one see them ten years hence as awkward, ungraceful young women, but, in the meantime, they are not developing the physical beauty that would be theirs with better posture.

"The mothers tell me that they positively can do nothing with their offspring in this connection. Well, I have a couple of them myself and, believe me, mothers can do something about making them stand up straight and carry themselves properly. If they can't do it at the age I speak of then I worry for the girls' future in other respects. What is the matter is simply that the mothers are too lazy, too disinterested, or too ignorant to understand how they are undoing the work of making attractive grown women out of their girls, a work which they pursue avidly enough in other directions. I speak, of course, of the indulgences of permanents, manicures, and lipsticks, etc., they permit the young girls, of the good clothes and becoming ones that they buy them. But all of this is nothing to the young miss either, if she stands with her chest flat, her abdomen out, and her back rounded.

"There still is an enormous amount of work to be done in this field. If the mothers won't take over the job of correcting the faulty postured child then the girls should be lined up in a more prideful way. Please do keep after the youngsters, Miss Donnelly, for they need it!"

It's your duty, mothers, as well as ours. You get after them today and on an early occasion we'll take up the theme.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

Agreeing on a suit after no trump responses: A no trump response is not a suit-bid and consequently any asking bid sets the last bid suit.

South	North
1 heart	1 no trump
4 diamonds: asking bid, setting the heart suit.

Asking Cue Bids.

When the opponents have entered the bidding, a player may find it necessary to make an asking bid in their suit. Since a bid in the opponents' suit is universally employed to show a void or the ace plus excellent support for partner's suit, a player must jump the bidding to make an asking bid.

South	West	North
1 heart	1 spade	2 spades: shows a void or the ace.
		3 spades: is an asking bid; hearts is the agreed suit.

It will be noted that this sometimes results in an exception to the rule that an asking bid must take place at the level of four or higher. When this happens, the responses still are made at the level of four.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	1 spade	2 hearts*	3 diamonds
3 hearts	3 spades	Pass	Pass
Pass

*West's free raise was decidedly skimpy. A pass was his correct action.

West chose to open his lowest heart instead of the queen. This lead often is chosen by experts, although technically the correct lead from "three of partner's suit" is the top card. East, reading West for four hearts, which would mean that declarer had no lone heart to ruff, saw no reason to remove dummy's trump and therefore returned a heart. Declarer won, and ruffed his remaining heart. He then laid down the diamond king. West won, and switched to the jack of clubs. The queen covered, East won and returned a heart. Declarer ruffed high, then led to the club king and played another club from dummy. East nonchalantly discarded a diamond. Declarer ruffed with the six, and led a diamond to the queen, then returned another club from dummy. Completely blind to what was going on, East discarded his remaining diamond, while declarer brought home his seven of trumps on a ruff, thereby insuring his contract.

Declarer's ruffing of a heart would not have been fatal if East later had been on his toes. Instead of discarding right and left and hugging the A-9-3 of trumps to his bosom, East should have "stuck in" that precious spade nine on one of the club leads from dummy. This would have forced an honor from declarer. Later, when East was put in with the spade ace, another heart lead through declarer would have established West's eight of trumps as a sure trick.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: The bidding has been:

East	West
1 no trump	2 clubs

What is East's next bid with:
♠ A J 8 6 ♥ A K 7 ♦ A J 8 ♣ K 9 6?

Answer: Two spades.

JO-JOTTE POINTER.

Question: When can a defender score toward game?

Answer: If the defender outscores the declarer, then the contract is defeated. The defender takes his own trick score, takes the declarer's trick score, adds them together, and scores the entire amount below the line, toward game. A similar procedure is followed on any doubled or redoubled hand. Whoever is the high scorer takes all the trick score of both players, adds them together, doubles them [or quadruples them, as the case may be], and scores the grand total below the line.

Heart Seldom Broken at 18, Only Cracked

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am 18," Sad Girl reports. "I was engaged to a man of 30 for over a year. Suddenly there came into my life a chap just three years my senior, and it was love at first sight with me, and supposedly with him. I couldn't sleep, eat or think straight because of this new fellow.

"I thought it only fair to tell my fiancé and ask him to release me from my engagement. He did it with unexpected grace, as he had worries about marrying a girl so much his junior, he said.

"I was in heaven for about a month. My new boy friend was on my doorstep every moment. My family did not like my switch in affections, but I argued them into believing that the real thing had come into my life. That the other was a mere infatuation of a young girl for an older man. I finally won them over and they took Charles in.

"One day he asked me to elope with him, to my utter surprise. He wanted to get married in another state, he said. I refused to do this because my family would never forgive me and they had been fine about him, after all. Well, immediately after the proposal to elope my Charles disappeared off the face of the map. Not a word or sign of him has been received since.

"Now everybody has it in for me for letting a good man go for an adventurer. The worst of it is that I still am in love with the second man. I can't get over him and never will. My former fiancé came right back and said if becoming engaged to him now would save my face, he was willing. What would you advise?"

We would advise your becoming reconciled to the fact that you are only 18 with grand years ahead of you for older conquests. Your Charles doesn't sound right, anyway. It's well he went off leaving no address behind. Your other man obviously is not the man for you, either, fine as he seems to be. The point is that there's no great hurry in your case. Since you plainly have what it takes to attract the other sex, you will soon be in the midst of another emotional upheaval, we feel sure. But just to protect yourself against what people say, don't rush back into an engagement that plainly is not the right one for you.

Pastor Says Movies Offer Sole Hope of Revival for Church

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 6.—(AP)—In motion pictures lies the secret of the church's battle for revived popularity, the Very Rev. Charles E. McAllister, associate secretary of the National Council of Episcopal Churches, said here today.

Happy over the success of his first visual education sermon consisting of a current events film which brought a capacity house to the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist, of which he is dean, the Rev. Mr. McAllister said:

"It is sad, but true, that Robert Taylor and Myrna Loy exert far more influence on public opinion than do the average ministers.

"The motion picture has a vast effect on the thoughts of the people. Through narrowness and lack of foresight the churches of America have failed to take advantage of the new visual medium to teach the lessons they have to offer."

WOMAN'S AND MISS' TAILORED PAJAMAS.

These pajamas should be in every college-bound wardrobe. They're tailored with precision, and yet are styled for comfort. They may be worn for both lounging and sleeping. The original of this lovely two-piece model is created in satin-finish cotton broadcloth. The background color is marine blue, and the scattered dots are of navy, as are the sash and bindings.

The collar is a shirtwaist model, and the sleeves are strictly tailored, gathered into tight cuffs at the wrists. The jacket extends well over the hips, and the trouser legs are comfortably wide.

If you prefer the ensemble in the tuck-in version, you might use short sleeves. The total effect is most striking.

Other color schemes effective for this outfit are wine tone satin with turquoise trim; natural shantung with bright red and a red slide fastener; stone blue wool crêpe with wine. These are just starters. You know what your favorite shades are, so go to town!

Style No. 2967 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting and 2 yards of binding for the collar and front of blouse.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Heart Will Dictate.

Plays Villain of Five Lands, Then All in One

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 6.—Columbia studio experienced considerable trouble with its own censor in trying to cast Alexander d'Arcy as the villai in "The Awful Truth."

D'Arcy plays a gigolo vocal teacher. At first rehersals he played the rôle as a Frenchman, but then he in turn became an Italian, Austrian, Spaniard and finally a South American.

Then by a flash of talent, he was alluded to as a "Spenchard," and instructed to avoid too much gesticulation which might offend French fans; to talk in an accent which couldn't be identified with any country, and to keep himself merely "foreign and continental" in dress. His makeup is fair, instead of swarthy, which the studio hopes will remove the last offensive inference from the characterization.

The technicolor musical-girlie comedy, "Goldwyn Follies," which began its career as a backstage spectacle has now blossomed into a delineation of Hollywood behind the scenes, at a cost of $300,000 more, and shooting begins only this week.

They are calling Metro studio "New Vienna" for five good reasons: Luise Rainer, brunette who has just finished "Big City" after winning last year's Motion Picture academy acting prize; Andrea Marlo [ex-Rose Stradner], blonde now in her fourth week in this country and starting her first rôle as lead opposite Edward G. Robinson in "The Last Gangster;" Ilona Massey [Ilona Hajmassy] blonde starting her American career by singing in "Rosalie"; Tilly Losch, brunette dancer, and Della Lind, blonde, who is to sing in "The Red Mill" after she gets out of a hospital following a tonsilectomy.

Jimmy Monaco, whose "You Made Me Love You, I Didn't Want To Do It," was a song hit in 1914, is now in Hollywood writing tunes for Bing Crosby's next vehicle, which although yet untitled is based on O. Henry's "The Badge of Policeman O'Roon."

Angie Blue, professional dancer, had been engaged by RKO studio to do the dances with Fred Astaire in "Damsel in Distress," because the studio did not feel sure of Joan Fontaine's excellence in specialty dancing. But much to Miss Blue's distaste, Miss Fontaine swept onto the floor and into Astaire's arms, insisting that she should at least be allowed to try the dancing. She did one long featured dance through a woods, while Astaire hummed, whistled and sang the tune, and did it in such breezy and graceful style that the studio, much pleased, paid off Miss Blue and sent her home.

Yetta Rice, an Indian girl who plays a rôle in "Bad Men of Brimstone" with Wallace Beery and others, told her employers she would like to take a horse and ride over to see her home folks from the movie location site in southern Utah, if the director would give her leave. The director did and Yetta got back the next day.

"Where have you been?" the movie gang asked her. "Where do your folks live?"

"Oh, up over a couple of ridges and valleys from here—about 40 miles away," said Yetta simply, taking it as a matter of no importance that she had done 80 miles in the saddle.

Richard "Red" Skelton, Cleveland vaudevillian, who flew here last week for a screen test, has been signed to play Ginger Rogers' lead in her next, "Having Wonderful Times" at RKO. The story is by Arthur Kober, playwright who won last year's prize for comedy on Broadway. After this one, Miss Rogers will be reunited with Fred Astaire for one and possibly two more co-starring, co-dancing comedy vehicles.

The fashion parade in compacts is headed by three handsome new ones, single, double and triple, each boasting a gold and black case that reflects the season's note of elegance.

This, for fashion scouts, is the serious season when the blend of the old, the new, the spectacular and the simple found in all fall collections must be carefully weighed before they issue their findings on what the American women must or must not adopt.

The experts are unanimous on one point. We're rushing into a season of elegance. Every bulletin from the fashion front stresses the luxurious aspect of the new offerings. Jewelry—not costume jewelry as of old—but the real article, with emeralds and rubies and diamonds and pearls out of the shops and the vaults, is back with a bang.

This same element of richness applies even to compacts. The first of the season's new ones arrived at our desk a day or so ago. "Quiet elegance" is the only descriptive phrase for it. It is the offering of an English house, an establishment which treasures and each year enhances its reputation for good taste.

There are three different types, but in each case the design is the same—a rich gold embellished with a design of ermine tails, and across the top a black band inset with a small, charming figure in the gold. Each compact is a jewellike accessory for the woman who likes to dress smartly and who insists that even the smallest of her accoutrements reflect her good taste.

One is a single compact, with a generous compartment for loose powder; one is a double vanity, with cake rouge and dry powder compartments. The third is a triple threat against wilting—rouge compartment tucked in the top, a loose powder compartment and, on a hinge that pops it out instantly, a nifty lipstick. All are well constructed; all are slim and all are elegant.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

Silk Raincoats Will Brighten the Rainy Days

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Nothing equals the fun of looking bright, smart and superlatively dressed on a rainy day when the usual shopper trails around in old clothes, dull colors and moisture.

Raincoat makers have been sitting up of nights thinking up better and brighter slickers and the gayest umbrellas ever defiantly unfurled to an overcast sky. Their newest brain children, just arrived in time for the usual September outbursts of rain and sloppy weather, are knockouts—instantaneous successes!

This time they used a silk fabric, specially treated by some magic to make it waterproof. The stuff is soft, contains no rubber, sniffs a good flavor to a susceptible nose, and can be washed or swished with gasoline, and even pressed if the pernickity souls insist.

The colors will lure your last penny. See the plaster white or the pale-beige, like coffee with a lot of cream, if you want a new thrill. There are also a stunning Burgundy shade that will delight the brunettes and a flattering aquamarine blue that the coppertops and blondes will fight to own. Four more colors are also available in dark street colors. The coats are long and can be clinched in swagger-like around the waist with a buckled belt. Overlapping almost makes them double breasted, looking like trench coats, with the usual pockets and the collars fit like paper.

Matched to these slick new creations are umbrellas. Some have edges of contrasting color, some are all the same shade as the coat. Braid loops through the handles match the edges. See the white with an outline or scarlet or black. And if you want a slicker of one color and a top contrast for the umbrella, this is your chance.

The visibility enthusiasts should see the absolutely clear numbers, the cellophane umbrellas printed with ten million tiny stars in any color you fancy, the same sort of fish bowl umbrellas with an entire kennel show of red, black or other colored rain-shedding Scotty pups thereon, or the chromium ribbed visibilities that pack into any suitcase with remarkable ease, because the very decorative handles screw off and on. None of them is expensive and all wear with just ordinary care.

Concert Series Ends; 300 Will Appear in Post-Season Event

With afternoon and evening concerts yesterday the regular series of Grant park concerts came to an end. Work begins now on the task of enlarging the lake front band shell to accommodate the giant orchestra which will be used in the gala post-season concert next Sunday night.

This is to consist of 300 persons, the combined personnel of the Chicago Symphony, the Woman's Symphony, the Chicago Philharmonic, and the Chicago Civic Opera orchestras. The director will be Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

The final concert, like the sixty-eight which have preceded it, is open free to the public. The entire series has been sponsored by the Chicago park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians and personally supervised by James C. Petrillo.

UNTIL a lock is put on the door of the Name Department we might as well slip in: That Phil Saks owns a grocery in Council Bluffs, Ia.

That Ray Tanck is a buyer in the plumbing and heating department of a Chicago mail order house and buys all the tanks—storage, septic and pneumatic.

That Finis Bowers was so named, hopefully.

And that the name of Eleftherios P. Limberpoulus appeared on the court bulletin.

THE phonetic spelling of "The Pledge of Allegiance" printed the other day brought in another written version from a school marm—written by a pupil who had learned it orally:

"I pledge a legion to the flag of the United States of America and to the republican for which it stands. One nation, invisible, with liberty and judges for all."

THERE are thousands of them in the parks and on the beaches, on porch settees and in parked cars, but there is only one Necker in the telephone book.

Rogers Shrine Dedicated by Indian Friend

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A buckskin horse, its saddle empty, stepped slowly into the plaza of the Will Rogers shrine of the sun on Cheyenne mountain today.

Chimes in the shrine tower pealed solemn notes while persons assembled to dedicate the shrine to the cowboy philosopher bowed their heads.

Tears came to the eyes of Mrs. W. S. McSpadden of Chelsea, Okla., Rogers' only surviving sister.

The empty-saddled horse, which led a procession of Indians, rodeo riders, and army officers up the roadway to the 100 foot shrine tower, stood still when less than a dozen feet from where Mrs. McSpadden sat.

Tears shone, too, in the eyes of Mrs. Lasca Lane Luckett of Colorado Springs, niece of the humorist, and on the stiff-mustached face of Spencer Penrose, Colorado Springs mining baron, who built the pink granite spire in tribute to Rogers.

Standing by Mrs. McSpadden's chair, Gunter Lane of Claremore, Okla., Rogers' nephew, glumly chewed gum.

The crowd congregated on the shrine's promontory, half a mile above the eastward sweeping plains, was a conglomeration of diverse classes and types—an American group symbolic of Rogers' characteristic friendship for all people, said United States Senator Ed C. Johnson of Colorado.

Rogers' relatives unveiled Sculptor Jo Davidson's bust of the humorist.

Chief Fred Lookout of the Osage tribe, an Oklahoma friend of the cowboy philosopher who died with Pilot Wiley Post in an Alaskan plane crash, christened, in his native tongue, the shrine and delivered it to Rogers' spirit.

Penrose then pressed a button lighting in the tower's pinnacle a sodium vapor flare he intends shall burn as a beacon for Rogers' memory as long as the tower stands.

"Friendship Flower" also is recognized as the old favorite "Friendship Dahlia." The arrangement of the material according to color scheme was responsible for the change of name. "Friendship Flower" is set together with alternate petals of light and dark printed materials. Orange and yellow printed materials are a good combination, with the center of plain yellow. These 16 inch applique blocks are set together with four inch bands of white and surrounded by a six inch border and a one-half inch bias binding.

Two Betrothals Announced on Labor Day

BY JUDITH CASS.

TWO engagement announcements head the column this morning, that of Miss Ruth Patricia Carney of Boston to Richard Mellier Burnes of Chicago, and of Miss Pauline Rudolph of Winnetka to Lucius Booth Sherman Jr., also of Winnetka. The Carney-Burnes one was announced by Miss Carney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Carney of Boston, yesterday at their summer home in Oyster Harbors on Cape Cod.

Mr. Burnes is the son of Mrs. Robert M. Roloson of 1260 Astor street, and of the late Kennett F. Burnes of St. Louis, Mo. Mrs. Roloson's summer home is at Cotuit, Mass., not far from Oyster Harbors, and her son and Miss Carney have known each other for a number of years. Mr. Burnes is a junior at Harvard, where he is a member of Hasty Pudding, and his fiancée is a member of the Boston Junior league.

Miss Rudolph's parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Rudolph of Winnetka, and Mr. Sherman, of course, is the son of the Lucius B. Shermans. Miss Rudolph's brother, Charles D. Rudolph, married Mrs. Marion Blatchford Berry last January. They are living in Glencoe.

Mr. Sherman, who was graduated from Dartmouth in 1922, and his bride-to-be plan to be married next month.

Dr. Samuel Harkness of the Winnetka Congregational church will read the marriage service at 4:30 o'clock, and there will be a large reception afterward.

Miss Sargent's younger sister, Miss Peggy Sargent, will be one of the bridesmaids. Mrs. John J. Mrs. Frederick Sargent, the bride's grandmother, is among the out of town guests here for the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Sargent gave the bridal dinner at home last night, and today Mrs. Nathaniel L. Howard is giving a luncheon at her home in Winnetka for the bridal party and out of town guests.

Mr. Wieboldt and his bride will be at home after Oct. 10 in an apartment in Evanston.

"Find This Girl"

BY ROY VICKERS [Copyright: 1937: By Roy Vickers.]

SYNOPSIS.

Bessie Mersand, a nurse, is acquitted of the charge of administering a fatal dose of medinal to an elderly patient. After the trial, as Bessie Mathews, she is given a job by Gwynneth Bentley, caring for Gwynneth's invalid husband. Gwynneth plans to kill her husband and plant the blame on Bessie so that she can marry her lover, Roy Gleason. Medinal tablets are placed in Bessie's charge. Gwynneth hides a valuable jeweled dagger, then puts the ground medinal tablets in her husband's food. She then gives Bessie the day off and sends away Bessie's luggage to make it appear that Bessie had fled. In London Bessie meets her friend, Jim Watkin, who has learned of the crime. He hides Bessie in his apartment. To his friend, Inspector Rason, Jim introduces Bessie as his sister. Jim gets Roy Gleason to admit that he and Gwynneth attended Bessie's trial. A telegram which Bessie had sent to Jim arouses Rason's suspicions. Rason gives Jim a chance to let Bessie get away for a head start in the chase.

INSTALMENT XXVI.
PURSUED.

"Rason! You knew it—and you've given her the chance to get away." Watkin gripped the inspector's hand.

"That's what I meant by making a fool of myself."

"Called her 'Miss Smith,' didn't you!" snorted Rason. "Marchfield street, indeed! I've risked my pension tonight over this bit of foolery."

"I know you have." Watkin was feeling like a deflated toy balloon. "But why?"

"Why! I've told you before, a detective isn't a judge and jury—and when he tries to be he risks his pension. You can put it this way. I judged that young woman and I came to the conclusion that she's not guilty. She's even a very bad crook—she funked promising me she wouldn't communicate with the supposed fugitive. Just couldn't bring herself to look me in the face and put that over. I suppose, when my back was turned, you had the sense to tip her the wink to get out and stay out?"

"Yes. But there's no need now, is there—if you're not going to pull her in?"

Rason bristled with indignation.

"Look here, friend Watkin, you open your mouth too wide. I'm giving you a chance to make good on the Bentley woman's guilt. Miss Mersand will have a good half-hour in which to make a getaway. That's all you or she will get from me. Directly I get to the Yard I'm going to report that I suspect you of shielding the girl. I've given you all the help you're going to get from me."

Paradoxically Watkin immediately brightened and became his old self.

"Splendid! I'll take you on, Rason. I'll go on hiding Bessie—and you catch me at it if you can." He laughed with vigor and mentally he took up the challenge. "I'll tell you what you'll do. You'll put a relief of men to watch me day and night and trail me wherever I go. You'll——"

"You needn't tell me what I'll do," growled Rason. "If you make one more slip from tonight on, I'll land her—and you as accessory."

"It's a bet," grinned Watkin as he parted from Rason and was driven back to the flat.

He arrived at the flat nearly three-quarters of an hour after he had left it. In his room that had been given up to Bessie he observed the expected signs of a hurried departure.

He went into the living room and sat by the telephone. Another half-hour passed. Bessie was rather putting it off, he thought. It was already past midnight when the bell rang.

As he lifted the receiver he heard a soft, shrill sound like a wire swinging in the wind—which told him that his telephone was already tapped.

"Is that you, Jim?" came Bessie's voice. "I——"

"Don't tell me where you are, Bessie," he interrupted quickly. "Don't say anything. Just answer 'yes' or 'no.' Do you remember the tea shop where we had tea?"

"Yes."

"Be there in half an hour and I'll join you. Goodbye!"

He hurried out of the flat, passed the cab rank and stopped the first roving taxi. For all he knew, Rason's men might already be tracking him.

"Holborn Tube," he ordered. Through the back window he was able to satisfy himself that he was not being followed by a motor cycle. In Holborn he changed taxis and drove to the garage where he kept his two seater.

"They know my car and they know my number," he reflected. But difficulties of this kind were not difficulties at all to Jim Watkin.

It was a big garage with over a hundred cars and the night attendant was well known to Watkin.

"George, I've got ignition trouble on my 'bus and the mechanics will have to look at it in the morning. I have to go out on a job and you'll have to hire me one."

"I can't do that, sir—they're all out."

"Then, George," said Watkin, producing a pound note, "will any one be wanting that Reindert coupe before ten o'clock tomorrow morning?"

"Not before ten, sir—only it's more than my job's worth." He looked ruefully at the pound note.

"Yes, George! But if you were up at the other end of the garage and I had taken it without asking you, you'd never know, would you!" He put the note in the man's pocket. "I shall be back before ten."

Ten minutes later he was outside the Piccadilly tea shop with five minutes in hand. As he saw Bessie approaching he opened the door.

"Bessie!"

She slipped in beside him. "O, Jim! It was bound to happen."

"Nothing has happened except that you've got to change your digs," he returned lightly. "And I'm afraid you'll have to spend the night in here. Where shall we go? What about Richmond?"

Piccadilly was fairly clear and he put on speed, heading westward.

"You've landed me in for a picnic," said Watkin joyously.

At Hammersmith he stopped the car outside an all-night snack bar and presently emerged laden with sandwiches and miscellaneous foodstuffs.

"I don't quite know what I meant myself!" he laughed back. "But I do know there's a moon. As a matter of fact, I've never really quite got hold of the moon stuff—and now is my chance."

"Jim, you couldn't be serious to save your life."

"On the other hand, I can be highly poetic and mean every word of it. I tell you, my dear, that we're going to have a picnic until such time as I can take you 'openly and in the sight of all men'— that is, always assuming that you are willing to be taken. Which is a question I promised not to ask you until we have settled the fair Gwynneth."

The moon waned and with it the light chatter with which he distracted her thoughts.

They drove to the towpath at Kingston for breakfast, where he produced coffee from a thermos. He was bubbling again now and talking of anything on earth except their practical difficulties.

"You've got quite enough to worry about. I'll take a turn at it while you just obey orders. I'm running you back to town presently because—I think I forgot to mention it before—I've stolen this car and there might be trouble. You'd better hang about the big shops and I'll meet you this afternoon at, say, five o'clock."

"Where?"

He thought it over for a minute or two, then laughed.

"Outside the Kennington Oval," he answered.

He set her down in Hammersmith, then returned the car to the garage. From the garage to the flat to change and tidy up.

Outside the flat were two plain clothes men.

"Mr. Watkin?"

"Yes."

"Have you a lady living in this flat, Mr. Watkin?"

"No."

"Would you have any objection to—showing us round?"

"None whatever."

Pepper, in the days of Queen Elizabeth, was worth its weight in gold. Only the rich and the influential could obtain it to season their food. Rent and even taxes were paid partly in peppercorns, precious cargo of the spice ships.

Pepper is so cheap and so available in these days that it seems unimportant. Yet if it were denied us to season our foods with pepper there would instantly be a great clamor for it.

Pepper as it comes to our tables is ground from the dried berry of a climbing shrub which grows in India, Borneo, Java, and other islands in the East Indies. The dried peppercorns are brought to this country in large bags and are taken to spice factories, where they are cleaned and packed as whole peppers or crushed and sieved for ordinary household use.

Considerable confusion exists about the various types of ground pepper—cayenne, paprika and the like. Briefly, the differences are these.

Black pepper differs from white pepper only in that the hard outer covering of the peppercorn is removed for grinding the latter. Peppercorns for white pepper may be partly or fully ripe, for black pepper they never are fully ripe. White pepper has a finer flavor than black, but is less pungent. The pungency of pepper is due to a resin which it contains, and the flavor is due to a volatile oil.

Cayenne pepper is ground from the seed pods of the capsicum fruit, which grows in about ninety varieties. The seed pods of the different varieties vary in size and shape and also in color. The best cayenne pepper comes from along the coast of Africa. These peppers are small, conical, very pungent.

Paprika, much milder and less fiery than cayenne, is a bright red in color and comes from a large sweet pepper. It is imported already ground from Spain and Hungary.

Tabasco comes from a long-podded red pepper native to the United States.

The sweet red and green peppers with which we are so familiar have come to play an important part in meal preparation. They add savor to salads, they make good relishes, and they are attractive and good to eat when they are stuffed and baked. Macaroni stuffed green peppers are delicious.

MACARONI STUFFED PEPPERS.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and combine with a little cream, paprika, and cheese, allowing the cheese to melt in the hot macaroni. The amount of cheese to use will depend upon preference. A half cup of grated or sliced cheese per cup of macaroni, measured before cooking, is an average quantity.

Slice off the tops of large green peppers and remove the seeds. Wash inside and out with cold water, drop into boiling salted water and cook gently for five minutes. Remove the peppers from the hot water and fill them with the macaroni and cheese mixture. Sprinkle buttered crums over the top of each, and place the stuffed peppers in a greased baking dish. Pour a small amount of water in the bottom of the baking dish, about a fourth cup. Bake at 375 degrees until the peppers are tender and the crums browned. This will require about 20 minutes.

[ADVERTISMENT.]

WHAT TO DO FOR ECZEMA ITCHING AND BURNING

Wash the affected parts with Resinol Soap and warm water to soften scales and crusts. Resinol Soap is suggested because it contains no excess of free alkali, and is especially suited to tender skin. Dry by patting with a soft cloth—do not rub.

Doctors recommend an oily ointment because it penetrates the outer layers of the skin more effectively. Resinol Ointment meets this requirement, and does even more. For over 40 years it has been—and still is—successfully used to relieve quickly the itching and burning of eczema. It contains soothing ingredients that aid healing. At druggists.

[fi]fty-one, for Miss Frances Orcutt and [M]iss Joeine Norcott have decided to [m]ake debuts this season. Both young [w]omen went to distant colleges last [w]inter, Miss Orcutt to Gulf Park col[le]ge on the Gulf of Mexico, and Miss [N]orcott to Leland Stanford in Cal[if]ornia, but both will go to North[w]estern this winter so they can be [at] home for the debutante gayety.

Miss Orcutt's parents, Dr. and Mrs. [D]wight C. Orcutt, will present their [d]aughter at a tea at their home in [G]lencoe on Christmas. Miss Norcott, [w]ho is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. [O]sborn Marshall Norcott of Sheridan [ro]ad, will make her debut at a lunch[e]on on Dec. 23 at the Lake Shore [A]thletic club.

A young woman who will not make [a] formal debut in Chicago, but who [w]ill be included in much of the [d]ebutante festivity, is Miss Lucia [E]llis, daughter of Rear Admiral and [M]rs. Hayne Ellis. Miss Ellis just has [j]oined her parents at the Great Lakes [st]ation after attending the Sorbonne [i]n Paris. She also attended school at [C]hateau Brillantment in Lausanne, [S]witzerland, after having been gradu[a]ted from Miss Masters' at Dobbs [F]erry. The Ellises' sons, Hayne Jr. [a]nd Long Ellis, have joined their par[en]ts also.

Miss Dorelle Moulton, who recently [r]eturned from a summer abroad with [M]iss Valeria Harris, is planning to [e]nter a French school in Mexico City [l]ater this month. Next Sunday Miss [M]oulton and Miss Ruth Tilden are [g]iving a large cocktail party at the [K]enilworth home of the former's [p]arents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. [M]oulton, for two of the season's [d]ebutantes, Miss Patricia Wilson and [M]iss Ann Loeber.

Another cocktail party for the [d]ebutantes and their beaux that after[n]oon will be one that Miss Frances [P]rice will give at her home in Win[n]etka for Miss Janet Musselman.

Miss Margery Atwater is leaving [t]omorrow for her home in Morris[t]own, N. J., after having spent most [o]f the summer with her uncle and [a]unt, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Pres[t]on, in Lake Forest. Mr. and Mrs. Preston are entertaining at the cock[ta]il hour this evening for their niece.

The Chicago chapter of the Con[n]ecticut College Alumnae association [w]ill hold its annual tea for freshmen [n]ext Monday from 3 to 6 o'clock at [t]he home of Mrs. John R. Howell, 428 [N]orth Sheridan road, Highland Park.

Shreve Badger will go east in about [t]en days to drive his wife and daugh[te]rs home from Vergennes, Vt., where [t]hey have been spending the summer [w]ith Mrs. Badger's mother, Mrs. John [.] Winterbotham. The children go [b]ack to school in Chicago on Sept. 22.

Baron and Baroness Serge Tornow [h]ave arrived from Paris, France, for a [v]isit with his brother and his wife, [B]aron and Baroness George Tornow, [w]ho live in La Grange.

One of the first benefits of the [a]utumn season, and doubtless one of [t]he gayest, will be the Monte Carlo [b]all to be given by the Ridge Service [G]uild auxiliary of Beverly Hills on [S]aturday evening, Oct. 2, in the [C]asino of the Congress hotel. Pro[c]eeds will go to the organization's [c]harities, including the Morgan Park [H]ome for Dependent Children.

Among the young women working [a]s committee heads to complete ar[r]angements for the party are Mrs. [C]harles Mortimer, chairman; Mrs. [R]obert McClellen, Mrs. Horace Glad[d]en, Mrs. Frederick Mudge, Mrs. [J]ohn McKinlay Jr., Mrs. Arthur Ben[n]ett Jr., and Mrs. Arthur Holstein.

Headquarters of the Chicago committee of Arden Shore will be at the Drake hotel this year, and the new office will be officially opened tomorrow morning when the committee meets there to discuss plans for its forthcoming Lace ball on Oct. 9 at the Drake.

Mrs. Thomas J. Fleming, chairman of the Chicago committee, will preside at the meeting, which is scheduled for 10:30 o'clock.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

High Heels Weaken Ankles.

A. R.: It is advisable not to wear high heel shoes at all times if your ankles are inclined to be weak. Correct this condition now, as it usually becomes worse if you continue. Get a shoe with a cuban heel and do ankle exercises to strengthen them. For further details send a stamped, addressed envelope for my booklet on "Leg and Ankle Exercises."

Exercise Reduces Arms.

L. G.: To reduce the upper arms and shoulders swim, play tennis, and go in for all outdoor exercises. Try this exercise: From the shoulder shoot the arms forward and upward and sideways ten times. There are some excellent exercises that will take care of this in my booklet on "Arms and Shoulders."

Night and Day Makeup.

L. H.: When wearing white during the daytime use darker powders, rouge, and lipstick tones. In the evening the general make-up principal is vivid coloring and lots of make-up. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for my booklet on "Build Beauty with Color."

News of Radio

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

If you were among the many who [l]istened to the first of the new radio [s]eries sponsored by Commander E. F. [M]cDonald's concern Sunday evening [a]nd wondered what it is building up [t]o—here is the answer: Telepathy. [O]r perhaps, if your telephatic sense [i]s working, you already knew that. [Y]our reporter did not.

Ever since McDonald reserved time [o]n NBC several months ago we have [b]een plying the commander, his sec[r]etary, and his agents with queries [a]bout his show, which all declined to [a]nswer. Then, one day several weeks [a]go a voice—over the telephone, how[e]ver, and not by telepathy—whispered [t]hat McDonald was planning a telep[a]thy program for radio. This was de[n]ied by the agency planning the pro[g]ram. Telepathy, nevertheless, is to [b]e the subject of this radio series.

And that is why the opening pro[g]rams are being devoted to the busi[n]ess of scotching skeptics. The [f]irst program dramatized the stories [o]f Alexander Graham Bell's early [t]roubles with the telephone, the con[q]uest of puerperal fever, the trial [a]nd death of Socrates, and several [o]ther episodes demonstrating that [s]cience can and does triumph in the [f]ace of skepticism, superstition, and [i]gnorance. These dramatic sketches [w]ere beautifully done by local actors [w]ith striking musical settings by Roy [S]hield. C. L. Menser and Jack Dice [a]re directing the series.

Further groundwork is to be laid [i]n the next two weeks before the [f]ull plan, in which radio listeners [a]re to be asked to participate, will [b]e revealed.

McDonald, it is said, became inter[e]sted in setting up a telepathy laboratory, by radio, as the result of researches conducted in the psychology department of Duke university of Prof. Joseph B. Rhine. One of his research projects, conducted with a deck of playing cards, seemed to show that certain individuals screened from the person turning up cards could call a great many more correctly than they were entitled to by chance. This radio series proposes to try this and similar experiments on the listening audience with Prof. Rhine himself taking part.

Whether McDonald, through his Zenith foundation [which is what he calls this program] establishes proof of thought transferrence or not, he probably has hit upon a radio idea that will attract a great deal of attention this fall. It's new and it's startling.

George Burns and Gracie Allen, who have been on the air more than five years without a rest, are to take a vacation of several weeks beginning Oct. 11. In their absence Eddie Cantor, Bob Burns, Al Jolson, and perhaps others are to pinch perform for their sponsor.

Jack Benny has reëngaged Phil Harris as his musical director for this season. The show starts Oct. 3. Jack expects to visit his folks in Waukegan shortly and then motor back leisurely to the coast with Ed Beloin and Bill Morrow, his writers, who are visiting hereabouts. Fred Allen, Benny's old feud partner, stopped off in Chicago over the weekend en route to Hollywood and picture making. He won't be back on the air until November.

Heredity and Environment Mold Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Don't you find it practically impossible to lay down rules for the bringing up of children?" said a mother to me the other day. "Children are so different. Each one is almost a law unto himself.

"Take my four children, for example. Two of them I've never had a moment's worry over, they are so easy to manage, and I always know where they are and when they'll be home. The other two cause me a great deal of anxiety, really. One is nervous and restless, the other is emotional and inclined to be difficult and a little discontented.

"I am often puzzled as to what is the best course to follow with them. The one thing that comforts me is that they do love their home and me very dearly, I know. I've never been able to plan any definite way with them all; I just have to feel my way along, and I certainly know I can't manage them all in the same way."

Most thoughtful parents, I think, feel pretty much this way, especially where there is more than one child in a family. Each one is so much an individual, for one thing. And then you can't foresee how each one will grow and develop and change. You have to feel your way along and make your guidance fit and follow the growing personality instead of trying to make the growing personality fit and follow your preconceived idea of what it should be and do.

This is particularly true of boys and girls who have gotten into their middle and late teens. Then their personalities often change and new qualities appear or familiar ones become accentuated. We can't know what to expect and so we can't map out a line of action.

The four children of the mother who was asking about them were all born under what would appear to be identical conditions of marital happiness, moderate finances, and a rather uniform social setting. All of which makes us realize that environment is only one factor in molding a personality and that heredity is the other potent force at work.

Have You Baby Bed or Buggy?

"Dear Miss Brown: The nurse from the welfare station said that you might be able to help me. I have five children, including twin girls, 2 months old. Just after I came home from the hospital my husband lost his position and we now are up against it. I have nothing for the twins to sleep in, and would like to have a buggy or a bed for them. As things are now, I can't buy even enough milk for the family, and the doctor said I must drink it. My husband looks every day for work and is exceedingly worried, as we will be unable to go on much longer. Won't you help me?—Mrs. J. M."

CO-SPORT BEATS EMPLOYER BY NOSE AT HAWTHORNE

THE GUMPS—O, MIN!

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. Copyright, 1937, by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

ALLANWOOD IS THIRD; 28,846 BET $650,000

Close Finishes Mark Opening Day Card.

BY FRENCH LANE.

A game battle down the stretch in which he was crowded out into the middle of the track enabled Co-Sport, formerly owned by Warren Wright but now the property of Ben Friend, to score a thrilling nose victory in the Labor Day handicap, inaugural feature of the 24 day racing season at Hawthorne yesterday.

A crowd of 28,846, which wagered approximately $650,000 during the afternoon, saw Co-Sport defeat Employer, owned by Mrs. Bryant Ott of Louisville. Allanwood, which races for Mrs. Clarence Dale of Chicago, was third.

Co-Sport, carrying top weight of 122 pounds, ran the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5. He was ridden by Jocky Bobby Dotter and earned $2,125. The gross value of the race was $3,060.

Employer Has Early Speed.

Employer displayed brilliant speed for the first five furlongs, running the first half in :46 3-5. He never could get far away from his opponents, however. For a time Lassator from Valdina Farm stable ran head and head with him. Lassator weakened at the head of the stretch.

Co-Sport had been back in fourth place, but moved into third by the time Lassator gave up the struggle. Within a few strides Co-Sport picked up Employer. The latter was bearing to the outside and before the two leaders reached the line of finish both were near the middle of the track. Co-Sport had been forced to race wide earlier in the race. While it required a photograph to decide the winner, Co-Sport clearly was the better horse. He was giving Employer eleven pounds.

Jockies Threaten Strike.

Allanwood, a strong stretch runner, got up in the last stride to beat Lassator out of third by a nose. He had raced last in the seven horse field in the earlier stages.

Co-Sport paid $4.80 to win. Employer was the stoutly backed second choice and paid $3.20 to place and $3.20 to show. Allanwood's show price was $3.80.

Despite the brilliant opening, Charles Krutckoff, president of the Hawthorne association, had his anxious moments during the early part of the afternoon.

Jockies threatened to go on strike if the Illinois racing commission insisted that they employ Illinois residents as their valets.

Mr. Krutchoff told the riders he would meet with them later in the week to iron out the difficulty. The jockies voted to confer with him again before calling a strike.

First Favorite Loses.

The crowd was one of the largest in Hawthorne's history. However, the recent changes, particularly in the grand stand section, made it possible to handle the big gathering with very little discomfort to any one.

The track had been brushed and painted to perfection. The infield beckoned invitingly, but the crowd didn't grow quite to the proportion where an overflow onto the greens and benches became necessary.

The first of the holiday features was the Ogden Armour purse at a mile and a sixteenth for 3 year olds. Six accepted the issue and from the time the betting started till they went to the post War Fellow, from the barn

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR HARRY STUHLDREHER has purchased a $5,000 tarpaulin for Camp Randall, so that Coach Harry Stuhldreher will not be able to blame poor footing if his Wisconsin half backs are outrun this fall. . . . The New York Giants claim much of the low hit pitching the Boston Bees have been getting on their home grounds this year is due to the extra long grass in the outfield, which prevents drives from rolling between outfielders for extra bases. . . . Edmund Grainger, movie producer, got so enthusiastic about running onto his old Fordham basketball teammate, Horace McMann, in the Hollywood Athletic club a week or two ago that the first thing he knew he was offering McMann a job as an actor and McMann now is playing in a newspaperman comedy titled "Mightier Than the Sword," at Universal studio. . . . Jack Redmond, trick shot golf artist, says the Durban Country club course along the Indian ocean in the Union of South Africa is the most beautiful golf layout in the world.

A Million Thanks.

This department wishes to acknowledge its sincere appreciation of the letters and messages that followed the presentation of the fourth annual All-Star football game Wednesday night. We are especially happy for the wholehearted indorsement of college leaders. The following comment from Wendell S. Wilson, director of athletics at the University of Illinois, is typical:

"Once again I want to congratulate you for putting on that All-Star football game. It certainly is a great spectacle and a wonderful thing for college football in general. The publicity given that game and the atmosphere it creates is a stimulus to football ticket sales. I think THE TRIBUNE game is largely responsible for the increasing advance sale of football tickets the last four years."

The contributor who reported that during a recent shower he observed that the outer drive near the Field museum was wet while the inner drive was bone dry, hasn't seen anything. One day down in Indiana I'm driving my 2:04 pacer from Mahon to Roanoke and I see a storm coming up behind, so I whip up and try to beat it home. That rain give us a right smart tussle, but me and the horse get in the barn dry as hay in the mow. It was the second consecutive victory for the All-Stars over the Bears in the annual pre-season Cotton bowl contest, they having defeated the professionals 7 to 6 last year.

Guepe Runs Wild.

Guepe was the star of the game, overshadowing the great Sammy Baugh, who captained the All-Stars. He got away for a 43 yard run just before his touchdown sprint, but was dragged down from behind on the three yard line, where the Bears held. When they kicked out Guepe went 12 yards, cleared the way for Funk, huge U. C. L. A. full back, to go 12 more to the 24 yard line, then sprinted off tackle, reversed his field, and pivoted away from three tacklers to score standing up.

The All-Stars missed an earlier opportunity to score, when their 47 yard drive bogged down on the 18 yard line and Wilkinson attempted a field goal, which went wide. Beattie Feathers' fumble set the stage for this drive, which included a 15 yard pass, Baugh to Wilkinson.

He Gets Loose Again.

The Bears moved down to the 27 yard line in the second quarter, but were stopped when Don Geyer, Northwestern full back, intercepted Masterson's pass on the 3 yard line and returned 20 yards. In the third quarter they plowed 46 yards through the mud and rain to the 3 yard line where Manders was trapped 15 yards behind the line and his lateral pass was fumbled, Stovall recovering for the All-Stars. Early in the fourth quarter they missed a first down by inches on the All-Stars 14 yard line.

Immediately thereafter Baugh passed four yards to Guepe, who went 47 yards to the Bears' seven yard line before being dropped by Feathers. A plunge and two incomplete passes left it on the six yard line, from where Wilkinson missed another attempted field goal.

Lyons Defeats Indians, 2-1; Feller Wins by Same Score

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 6.—The White Sox won this morning's game from the Cleveland Indians, 2 to 1, and therefore weren't so chagrined in the afternoon at playing the foil for young Bob Feller. The Iowa youth pleased a holiday crowd of 35,000 as he went about the business of winning a 2 to 1 four hitter with arm and bat.

Ted Lyons.

The boy wonder struck out eight in the first four innings, then found easier methods of bowling over the Sox.

In the fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth innings Feller retired the Sox in order without resorting to the whiff technique. With one out in the ninth Radcliff broke a string of 14 straight outs with a single to right, his second hit and the team's fourth. Conners then was called out on strikes for the third time, Feller's ninth strikeout victim.

The Sox hit safely in only one inning of the afternoon game prior to ninth. In the fourth Feller struck out the side, but Walker, Radcliff, and Dykes singled to tie the score.

In the fifth Feller scored the winning run after the only extra base hit of the game, a 435 foot triple.

With all of Feller's skill the boys might have battled till nightfall but for an amazingly careless error by Luke Sewell which should have retired the side, but which allowed the first run of the game.

That Makes Eleven for Ted.

Thornton Lee, seeking his eleventh victory, suffered his eighth defeat. Four of them have been hung on him by Cleveland, from whom he was obtained last winter. He has licked the Indians once.

The victory in the morning game was Lyons' eleventh of the season and his fourth straight masterful performance. He allowed only five hits, one of which was a scratch.

The defeat in the second game was the first the Sox have absorbed in seven played in the vast Cleveland municipal stadium this year. Feller's victory was the first he ever won in the big arena.

FIRST GAME

Averill, who was pretty fresh with his home runs when the Clevelanders last visited Chicago, got the Indians off to a 1 to 0 lead after two were out in the first inning of the morning game with his eighteenth homer of the season. Nothing else happened in the inning.

The Score Is Tied.

The White Sox tied the score in the sixth despite a run down between third and second and a double play. Walker opened with a double to left center but Hudlin grabbed Radcliff's grounder and trapped Walker. While Walker was being run down Radcliff sneaked to second. Appling singled to center, scoring Radcliff. Conners smacked his second single to left, Appling stopping at second, but Dykes grounded into a double play.

Sewell led with a single in the seventh and Lyons sacrificed. Hayes lifted a fly to Campbell in short right but Kreevich walked. Walker singled to left center, Sewell scoring and Kreevich reached third. Hudlin was taken out and Allen elected to succeed him. He tossed out Radcliff.

SECOND GAME

Feller accomplished five strikeouts and gave two passes in the afternoon game before he gave up the first hit.

Walker became strikeout victim No. 1 with two out in the first inning. Radcliff walked at the start of the second, after which Appling and Conners struck out. Dykes walked and Sewell fouled to Trosky. In the third inning Lee and Hayes fanned and Kreevich flied to Averill.

Lee held the Indians to one harmless single in the first two innings. With two out in the third, Lary walked and went to third as Hughes dumped a Texas leaguer in short

GIANTS DEFEAT PHILLIES TWICE, 6 TO 2, 9 TO 3

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Giants solidified their grip on first place in the National league today as they swept to a double victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, 6 to 2 and 9 to 3, before 46,177 fans. The victories pushed the Giants' lead to three full games over the Chicago Cubs, who split with Cincinnati.

Hal Schumacher and Cliff Melton divided the pitching honors. Schumacher shut out the Phils until the eighth inning of the second game, when John Moore poked a homer with two on. Melton pitched consistently to win his 15th of the year in the opener.

Schumacher held the Phils to five hits and Melton stopped them with eight.

The Giants supplied plenty of hitting thunder, too. John McCarthy slapped a homer in each game and Catcher Harry Danning got one in the first inning of the second game with two on base to climax a five run rally for the victors.

Mel Ott topped the Giants' attack in the first game with three hits and added a double in the second. He has hit safely in the last 21 games. Danning's homer touched off the second game and with Schumacher breezing along the Giants were ahead from the first inning on.

WHIP GRISSOM ON 1 HIT TO END LOSING STREAK

Reds Jolt Carleton in Opener.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The gasping Cubs, who earlier in the afternoon had stumbled ingloriously to their fifth straight defeat in the first game of a double-header with the bothersome Reds, were revived by one hit before their Labor day chores were completed. The one hit was all the late league leaders could harvest off the southpawing of Lee Grissom, but it was enough. It brought on a Cincinnati panic from which the Cubs extracted two runs, just enough to win 2 to 1 after losing 7 to 3.

With the pacemaking Giants winning a pair, the Cubs fell back a full game, leaving them three games behind. And 29,694 spectators were prepared to see the gap widen to four games until the eighth inning of the second contest. It didn't widen because of Curt Davis' brilliant pitching, the hit that Phil Cavarretta supplied, a couple of Red fielding blunders, and a wild pitch.

Cubs Are Big Hearted.

Having the second game handed to them merely compensated the Cubs for the generous attitude they had taken toward their guests in the first game. Either because they were still enmeshed in pennant worries or because Paul Derringer, who has been deviling them for a long time, was present, the Chicagoans could furnish little satisfactory entertainment in the opener. They kicked in almost all the six runs the Reds scored in the first two innings and made only six hits off Derringer.

The six run flying start taken by the Reds went against Tex Carleton's record, but he wasn't much more than an innocent bystander. In the first inning Billy Herman kicked a grounder that might have been a double play and Frank Demaree, who recovered it, added to the comic touch with a wild throw. In the second inning Herman offended again, this time with a bad throw on another likely double play. Thereafter Carleton got along famously with his own mates as well as the Reds, but couldn't dodge his sixth defeat of the year.

Davis Isn't Bad.

Davis, while not quite as skilled as Grissom in the second game, didn't issue a walk and allowed only four hits. The only two hits off him in six innings were paired in the third, a run resulting because a passed ball by John Bottarini was sandwiched in. That was Davis' only troublesome spot until the ninth, when he had to extract himself from a jam caused by Herman's third error of the day on a double play ball.

FIRST GAME

Carleton's troubles in the first inning of the opening game, when three Reds scored, came in various forms. Walker led off with a scratch hit to Herman. After one was out, Cuyler beat out a trick hit to Jurges. The Cubs went blooey on the next play. Scarsella grounded to Herman, who tried to hurry a possible double play and fumbled. Demaree captured the loose ball and threw it wild to second, permitting Cuyler to follow Walker home, while Scarsella took third. Bad Man Lombardi doubled to right, scoring Scarsella.

The second inning began with Myers poking a bunt past Carleton. Derringer fanned and Myers should have been out at second on Walker's grounder, but Herman threw wild to Jurges. A pass to Goodman loaded the bases, whereupon Cuyler ripped off a single, scoring Myers and

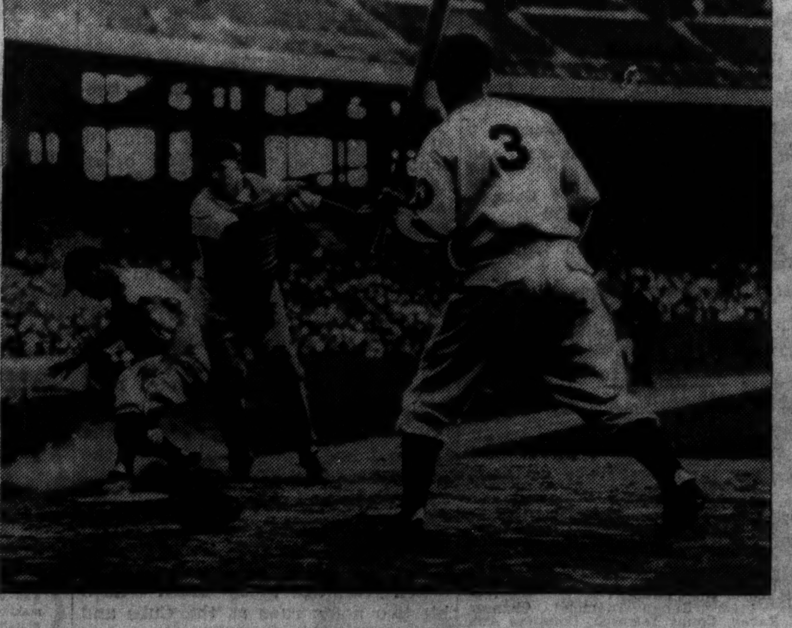
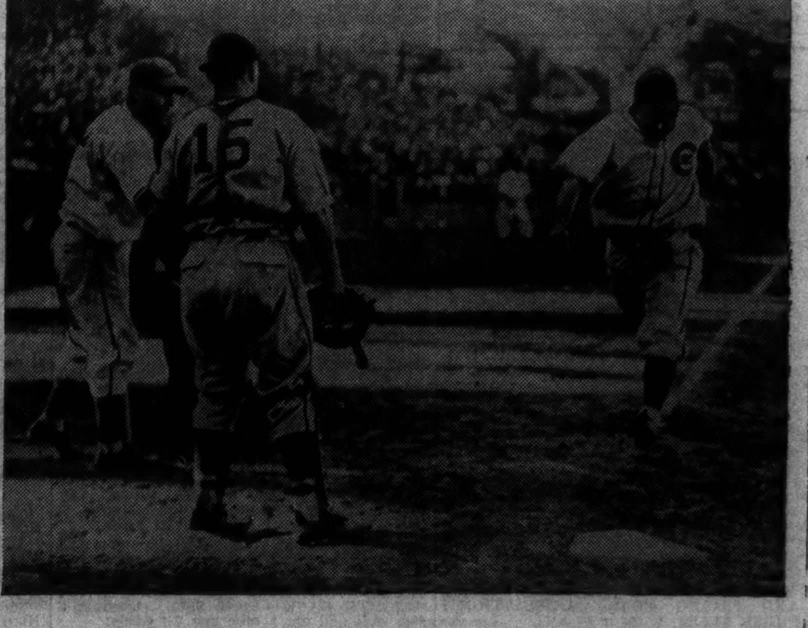
Notre Dame wins again, but this time it's a speedboat. The Detroit owned craft flashes to victory by a wide margin in the annual gold cup event.



Luke Sewell, Sox catcher, drops a throw, letting Lyn Lary score the first of two runs with which the Indians won yesterday's second game at Cleveland, 2 to 1. Earl Averill stands by.



Bill Jurges scores the winning run in the eighth inning of the 2 to 1 Cub victory over the Reds in the second game of yesterday's double-header. Bill Herman looks on. The catcher is Gilly Campbell.

HANDICAP STARS GATHER FOR GOLD CUP SATURDAY

Sahri II. Arrives for Test at Hawthorne.

Ten prospective starters for the $15,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup, to be run on Saturday, already are quartered at the track or are en route. They include Thomas D. Taggart's mare Marica, Mrs. T. Stevenson's Tempestuous, Millsdale stable's Infantry and Giant Killer, J. W. Parrish's Dellor, Valdina Farm's Eagle Pass, E. W. Duffy's Sir Jim James, the Chilean bred mare Sahri II., and Al Tarn's Rushaway.

Sahri II. arrived at Hawthorne yesterday to prepare for her effort in the Gold Cup race. She races for C. S. Shockley, who also had Caballero II. until Hirsch Jacobs claimed him.

Ben Miller, for years track superintendent at Hawthorne, was the busiest man at the track over the weekend. The limited stall room kept him busy making apologies for lack of additional space. Many horsemen had to be turned down.

of Col. Phil Reilly of Minneapolis, was an outstanding favorite.

He didn't run the way the betting indicated, however, and finished third. Desgai and Timberline staged a thrilling battle in the stretch. Desgai was the winner by a nose on the lightning eye camera record. War Fellow ran well back of the two leaders most of the way.

Desgai's Greatest Victory.

Desgai only last spring was performing with $1,500 platers, but is a greatly improved mare. She was a longshot in the betting and paid $23. It was the most important race she had ever won.

The Inaugural purse at six furlongs went to the consistent sprinter, Silverette, a seven year old mare that races for George Watts of Chicago. She was making her nineteenth start of the year. In only four of them has she been out of the money. Naturally she went to the post as the favorite at 6 to 5.

Silverette never left the result in doubt. She bounded into the lead soon after the start, later opened up a lead of four lengths and finally was an easy winner by two lengths in the good time of 1:11 4-5. Synonym drove up from behind to be second. Visigoth was third. There had been a mild plunge on Golden Era. He ran second for a time, but was back in sixth place at the finish.

BUDGE ADVANCES TO FOURTH ROUND AT FOREST HILLS

Baron Von Cramm Beats Surface in 4 Sets.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Barring minor disturbances the combined men's and women's national tennis championship tournament followed its plotted course today before a crowd of some 14,000. When the final match of the day had brought Defending Champion Alice Marble into the quarter-finals, there had been a number of encounters that thrilled the holiday crowd, but no genuine upset.

Alice Marble.

Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany was forced to go four sets before beating Hal Surface, 8-6, 7-5, 3-6, 7-5.

Budge Wins Easily.

Leading by two sets to one, he fell behind at 1-5 in the fourth, with Surface driving for the set on his own service, the German scored a break at love, then won five more games for set and match.

Don Budge lost only two games in running down Joe Abrams of New York, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1.

Bryan Grant trailed Wayne Sabin, two sets to one then chased his opponent all over the court to win the last two sets and take the match. at 6-2, 4-6, 5-7, 6-1, 6-1.

Joe Hunt Advances.

Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, blond, who is ranked fifth, and Yvon Petra of France, who tomorrow meets Budge, also had to work their way through five-set struggles. Hunt dropped the first two sets to Owen Anderson, a fellow Californian, then came back strong to score at 1-6, 5-7, 6-1, 7-5, 6-0, while Petra, matched with Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla., was carried to 7-5, 3-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-0.

Frankie Parker, Jiro Yamagishi of Japan, Sidney Wood, Johnny Van Ryn and Charles Harris went into the fourth round along with Budge on comparatively easy triumphs.

Bobby Riggs moved into the quarter-finals with Von Cramm and Grant by beating Fumitaru Nakano, from Japan, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 8-6.

In addition to Miss Marble, Helen Jacobs, Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, and Anita Lizana, all won in straight sets.

NOTRE DAME OF DETROIT TAKES GOLD CUP RACE

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A hydroplane called the Notre Dame roared over the Detroit river speedboat course today at a speed that at times went well above the 70 mile an hour mark to repel a foreign attempt to capture the famous Gold cup.

The Notre Dame, owned by Herbert Mendelsohn of Detroit and piloted by Clell Perry, shattered a variety of records to win over a field that dwindled under the grind from ten to three boats.

The craft broke the old 30 mile heat record of 60.866 miles an hour made by George Reis of Lake George, N. Y., in his El Lagarto in 1933, by roaring around the course at a speed of 68.645 miles an hour. Then it established a new race record of 63.675 for the 90 miles, bettering the old mark made in 1933 by Horace Dodge's Delphine IX. at 60.28 miles an hour.

Second honors in the race went to the Italian boat Alagi.

The other event on today's program was a 225 division I. class race for hydroplanes which Dr. Robert Herman of Cincinnati captured in three straight heats of twenty-seven miles each. Miss Quebec of Quebec City, Canada, won second place on point showing and Shadow II. of Toronto, was third. In making a clean sweep of this event Dr. Hermann drove his craft at 62.251, 62.034, and 60.668 miles an hour.

SOUTHERN CROSS 1ST ON 3D LEG OF TRIANGULAR RACE

Betty Bro Places Second, Bagheera Third.

The third yacht to take the lead in the annual triangular race, Southern Cross, last night finished first off Grant park in a fleet of 15 sailers which started yesterday morning from St. Joseph, Mich. Scarab had finished first in the opening run to Michigan City, and Revenge had led in the Michigan City-St. Joseph leg.

The 56 miles across the lake was made in slow time compared to those recorded in the heavy blow Saturday and Sunday. Bagheera, John T. Snite's schooner, took the lead when the wind arose off Michigan City, but Southern Cross, a lighter boat, and Betty Bro, finished one, two.

Corrected time results will be released today by the race committee.

High Seas, Commodore Walter Eggers and K. Eastman's white Snipe class sloop, won both races held yesterday off Wilmette to capture the new Cobb cup. The 15½ footer's time for the first three mile race was 40 minutes and 35 seconds. High Seas won the second event at five miles in 1:03:36.

Gladiator, Ewing Johansen's Snipe, was runner-up in the first race in 44:00. Riptide, J. Griffiths' entry, finished second in the final event, in 1:07:43. Peter Johansen was chairman of the race committee that scored the fifteen contestants.

The Sheridan Shore Yacht club held a race for 20 club stars yesterday off Wilmette. Twinkle Ditto, owned by Commodore A. W. Friskey Jr., Max Hayford, and Gordon Jones, and sailed by Hayford and Jones, was the winner. Carol, Harold Elliott and Sam Goss' 22 foot sloop was second, followed by the Bradbury brothers' entry, Sagitta.

SAILING RACE TO BERMUDA ENDS WITH PROTEST

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Sept. 6.—(AP)—After racing over 660 miles of open ocean for nearly two weeks, two square rigged ships, the Joseph Conrad and the Seven Seas, both claimed victory in their race from Newport, R. I., tonight. The Conrad, owned by H. Huntington Hartford, and the Seven Seas, owned by William Gubelman, sailed from Newport Aug. 26. They finished only a few minutes apart today and the decision as to which had won was left to Edward Crane, representing the New York Yacht club, when a protest was lodged by the Seven Seas. The Conrad claimed the victory on the strength of an eleven minute time allowance.

Hammonton, N. J., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—An apparent effort to hold up a sedan containing Tommy Farr, British heavyweight champion, his American representative, Jerry C. Casale, and two trainers was frustrated early today when Casale phoned the state police and asked for protection.

Two troopers were dispatched from Hammonton to Egg Harbor City, where Casale informed them a sedan, bearing Pennsylvania license tags and containing several men, had trailed their car for ten miles.

Rookie Yields Only One Hit; Senators Split

Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Ray Phebus, the Senators' 26 years old rookie, set down the Red Sox with one hit in his first starting assignment of the year today to give Washington the second game of a double-header, 2 to 0, after Boston won the opener, 6 to 2.

Gene Desautels' double with two out in the fifth was the only Boston hit, although the Red Sox reached first seven times on passes and once when Cramer was hit by a pitched ball.

right. Hughes started for second before Lee began his windup. Lee headed him off with a throw to Appling, and when the run down got under way Lary broke for home. Appling's throw to Sewell apparently had Lary by ten feet. When Sewell tagged Lary, however, the ball slipped out of his hand. Lary scoring and Hughes reaching third. Hayes threw out Averill.

Three Strikeouts, One Run.

Feller struck out the side in the fourth, but couldn't keep the Sox from tying the score. Walker opened with the first Chicago hit, a single over Hughes' head, and stopped at second on Radcliff's single to center. Appling fanned and Conners didn't get the bat off his shoulder for any of three straight strikes. Dykes then singled to center, Walker scoring and Radcliff reaching third. Sewell became strikeout victim No. 8.

Feller's 435 foot triple was socked after Appling had thrown out Pytlak in the fifth inning. It was a shot to left center on which neither Radcliff nor Kreevich had a chance for a play. Bob scored on a single by Lary. Hughes also singled, but Averill fouled to Dykes and Hayes threw out Trosky.

Feller caromed a single off Hayes' bare hand as the seventh started. Then Lary flied to Kreevich. Hughes lined to Kreevich and for the second time in the game Mike completed a double play with a throw to Dykes which sank Feller. It was Mike's third assist of the day.

Walker and sending Goodman to third. Goodman scored on Scarsella's fly to Galan, giving the Reds a 6 to 0 lead.

Cubs Bog Down.

The Cubs frittered away three innings without even getting a man to base, but collected two runs in the fourth. This piece of production was launched on a pass to Galan. Herman hung around long enough to slap a few fouls into the stand, then doubled to left, scoring Galan. Herman went to third on Demaree's tap to Kampouris and home on Hartnett's grounder to Myers. Hack followed with a single, but it was chalked up as waste. Hits by Cavarretta and Galan in the fifth also were wasted.

The Cubs made a swell start toward a worth while rally in the eighth, but subsided so quickly that only one scored. Galan opened with his second hit—a single to left. Herman doubled past first, also his second hit, Galan stopping at third. Demaree's contribution was a pop to Riggs. Hartnett was thrown out by Derringer on a high bounder, Galan scoring, and the inning ended with Hack rolling to Myers.

The Reds grabbed a run in the ninth on Derringer's single, a double by Goodman and Cuyler's third single.

SECOND GAME

Both Grissom and Davis pitched hitless ball during the first two innings of the second game, but the former earned a slight edge. He fanned Bottarini, Hack and Stainback in succession in the second. The edge was sharpened in the third when Davis dropped from the hitless class and the Reds climbed into a run lead. Myers singled and went to second on a passed ball. A single to right by Walker scored him.

The only Cubs to find their way to base in the first five innings were Herman and Galan. They walked. Herman was passed in the opening inning only to be mopped up in a double play on Demaree's grounder. Galan walked to start the fourth, but was given no assistance. The sixth was a bit better. The Cubs managed to get a man to third. Jurges survived on Riggs' error and was forced by Davis, who was forced by Galan. Galan stole second according to Umpire Ballanfant and Myers was ejected for complaining. A wild pitch sent Galan to third, after which Herman flied to Cuyler.

That Big Eighth.

Both teams had runners on base in the seventh inning. Campbell doubled to right for the Reds, but two were out and Riggs followed with a bounder to Hack. In the home half Bottarini was nicked by a pitched ball after one was out. Bryant ran for Bottarini and Hartnett batted for Hack, but popped to Miller. The inning was completed on Stainback's poke to Grissom.

Cavarretta's notable contribution at the start of the eighth was a looper over short, Phil stretching it into a double when the ball eluded Walker. Jurges bounced to Riggs, who fumbled. Davis bunted and Scarsella, wanting to delay the tying run, made a hurried throw to third. Cavarretta beat the toss, leaving the bases filled. Grissom let loose a wild pitch, Cavarretta scoring and the other runners moving up. Galan banged a long fly to Cuyler, giving Jurges ample time to score. After Herman had been thrown out, Demaree was purposely passed and Frey fanned.

Lee Faces Cards and Harrell in Opener Today

Bill Lee, who has experienced nothing except misfortune since he won his last game for the Cubs on Aug. 3, will try to get back on the main line today in the opener of a four game series at Wrigley field with the St. Louis Cardinals. Ray Harrell will be the Cardinal pitcher.

Rip Collins, the Cubs' regular first baseman, who worked out on Sunday, was back in uniform yesterday, taking his exercise as batting practice pitcher. Rip hopes to return to first when the Cubs open at Pittsburgh next Saturday, his first appearance since he suffered a fractured right ankle here on Aug. 10.

There'll be a new Cub on the field today. He is Bob Logan, a left handed pitcher purchased from the Indianapolis American association club. Logan, who had a tryout with Brooklyn in 1935 and with Detroit in 1936, is 27 years old, so he should know all the tricks of the mound.

DAY AND GOMER MEET TONIGHT ON MARIGOLD CARD

Five Bouts on 117th Weekly Program.

Tonight's Card

Davey Day vs. Charley Gomer [10], 137 pounds.
Carl Vinciquerra vs. Floyd Sarvis [5], heavyweights.
Bobby La Monte vs. Steve Karas [4], 160 pounds.
Russ Wasser vs. Bill Eck [4], heavyweights.
Joe Chiasr vs. Gene Spencer [4], 126 pounds.

Davey Day, Chicago lightweight contender, and Charley Gomer, newcomer from Brooklyn, N. Y., will meet in a ten round bout topping tonight's show at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. It is the 117th card presented under the joint auspices of Irving Schoenwald, Jack Begun, and Benny Ray since they took over boxing at the north side arena June 3, 1935.

Gomer is expected to give Day a hard fight. The eastern boxer has a bobbing and weaving style which may make it difficult for Davey to score. Then, too, Charley possesses a good left hook and right cross.

The Day-Gomer bout is supported by four contests. Floyd Sarvis, Columbus, O., heavyweight, will make his Chicago debut in a five round bout against Carl Vinciquerra.

Tom Kenneally, Catholic Youth organization international heavyweight winner, and Scotty Withers of the Savoy Athletic club will finish workouts today for their three round bout on the amateur card tomorrow at White City. . . . O'Hara Holds Out Threat of Closing Track

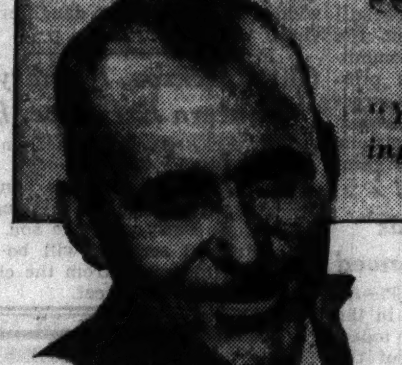
Providence, R. I., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Hitting back at orders of the state racing commission to oust him as managing director of the Narragansett race track, Walter E. O'Hara tonight charged the commissioners' action was invalid and asserted he would close the track if an attempt were made to enforce the demand.

O'Hara's assertion, in his second statement since the controversy broke out early Saturday, came a short time after the management had agreed to a demand of Francis J. Kiernan, head of the state racing commission, that the track's books be viewed by state auditors.

O'Hara agreed that the audit had started and denied that there had been any effort by the track management to prevent it. Twice during the day, state auditors reported, Pawtucket police had massed about the track office and refused them admittance.



"DON'T BE A PIG-HEAD," younger men told me.

"You could save time and money by using Sugars and Syrups in brewing." But when they tasted my beer they agreed that short cuts won't do in making an old-time brew.

By RICHARD SEIBOLD, Meister Bräu Brewmaster

WE BOTTLE or CAN with NATURAL DRAFT BEER CARBONATION

—thus we get the true draft beer flavor without "gassy bite."

Lots of younger men tell me I don't keep up with the times—that I could save time and money by using "new" methods in brewing.

Well, I confess we still make MEISTER BRÄU Beer the same way we made it in 1891. But not because I'm obstinate. Simply because I know there are many who want the old-time brew.

We could save the time of cleaning the Malt and Hops by boiling them twice as long—that's a "new" method.

Or we could use syrup or sugar in the beer. But this might make a sweet beer, not the true beer flavor.

And we could save money by using a cheaper grade of Hops. But that makes a raw beer.

Our old methods keep the life in the beer—keep its natural foam and sparkle. Like in Draft Beer. Hence MEISTER BRÄU in bottle or cans has the true draft beer flavor.

Please try this old-time beer made the slow careful way. We promise you'll prefer it as others do. Order MEISTER BRÄU today in cans or bottles. You'll give thanks for a beer charged naturally with its own draft beer carbonation.

NAME DR. SCOTT AS CONSTITUTION DAY CHAIRMAN

Forgan to Be Treasurer of Committee.

Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university, has accepted the chairmanship of the Constitution Day committee, and James B. Forgan, banker and civic leader, will act as treasurer. This was announced yesterday by Julius H. Miner, director of the committee. Constitution day, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the signing of the great American document, will be celebrated Sept. 17 in a patriotic program at the Chicago Stadium.

In Tune With Current Needs.

In accepting the chairmanship, Dr. Scott declared that the constitution is an adequate expression of the most advanced political philosophy of the age of the nation's founders, and was so formulated that it does justice to our current needs.

"The constitution was not intended primarily to perpetuate any particular political philosophy," he said, "nor to perpetuate special benefit to any particular individual or class. The constitution has always been subjected to criticism and has frequently been changed, but it has served the needs of every generation and has been respected and venerated by all people because their liberties have been protected thereby."

Organizations to Take Part.

Numerous civic leaders and organizations have promised to coöperate in Chicago's observance of Constitution day. Among the organizations are the Chicago Bar association, the Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion posts and the Anti-Defamation league of the B'nai B'rith.

Sept. 12 to 17 has been designated Constitution week. On the last day the main event of the program at the Stadium will be a parade of floats depicting the lives of the Presidents and their views on the constitution.

TROOPERS HUNT FOR KIDNAPER OF TWO POLICEMEN

PROTESTS TVA'S POWER SALES TO PRIVATE FIRMS

Tennessee Attorney Sees Law Violated.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—John R. Neal, Knoxville attorney, who became nationally known as an attorney for John Scopes in the controversy over teaching evolution in the public schools at Dayton, Tenn., has wired President Roosevelt a protest against the letting of TVA power contracts to the Aluminum Company of America, the Electro-Metallurgical company, and the Monsanto Chemical company.

"All these contracts," said Neal "violate statutory provisions of the TVA act giving preference to municipalities and governmental organizations. There also are long-term contracts irrevocable by TVA disposing of vast quantities of power at absurdly low rates, much below rates quoted to cities."

Charges Conspiracy.

Neal charged a conspiracy by the chemical and metallurgical companies "to prevent TVA power competing with power companies in municipal distribution."

"It is unthinkable," he said, "that an administrative body like TVA be permitted to reverse the deliberate judgment of congress in regard to the chemical combine.

"I am confident in protesting to you against these contracts that I reflect the opinions of millions of people in Tennessee valley who do not want the aluminum and chemical trusts to be the sole beneficiaries of millions of federal funds spent on the Tennessee river."

Another Large Deal Closed.

Another deal with a large corporation has just been closed by TVA, but this is to buy rather than sell. TVA purchased a large "reserve" phosphate land tract in Williamson county, Tennessee, from the International Agriculture corporation, for $678,000. Neil Bass, acting chief conservation engineer for TVA and formerly administrative assistant to H. A. Morgan, TVA agricultural director, said the authority had purchased 338 acres of land from the company and had purchased mineral rights on 215 additional acres.

Bass said TVA had not announced definite plans for the new land holdings, but that it was understood these phosphate beds would be held "in reserve."

H. M. Murphy, county agricultural agent for Knox county, said that "average" phosphate fertilizer costs farmers $18 to $30 a ton.

U. S. Railroad Whistles Blow on Land, Sea

Operating more than 2,000 pieces of floating equipment, the American railroads hold an important position in the nation's water transportation system, the Association of American Railroads said yesterday. Their service across Lake Michigan provides the largest and most important car ferry operation in the world, the association said.

The 2,000 pieces of water equipment include steamers, tug boats, car floats, barges, lighters and miscellaneous vessels. To operate their shipping the railroads employ a large army of marine workers.

"In almost any harbor of importance in the country, on the Great Lakes, along the Atlantic, gulf and Pacific coast, as well as on some of the larger rivers in the interior, car ferries are to be found," the association stated. "They range from the rather picturesque blunt nosed car floats to the large and specially trim craft which can stow a fair length train at one time.

Move Millions of Tons.

"Millions of tons of freight are moved annually by means of these adjuncts to rail service.

"The most important and extensive car ferry service is that on the Great Lakes. While most navigation on those lakes closes for the winter, the floating services maintained and operated by the railroads in avoiding circuitous routes and busy transfer points carry on as usual throughout the year."

Discussing the Lake Michigan service, which during the winter encounters some of the most severe storm and ice conditions in the country, the association said that from the point of view of the lines, steamers and routes operated, character of trafic handled and deep water operation, this service is the largest car ferry system in the world.

Nine Routes Operated.

Six railroads operate nine routes across the lake, serving ten ports or terminals. The shortest route, across the Straits of Mackinac, is about 10 miles and the longer routes range from 65 to 100 miles. Some 20 large and powerful steamers maintain this service, all being built as ice breakers. The first Michigan service was established in 1888, across the Mackinac straits.

All lines in one recent year handled 4,400,000 tons of freight and 14,000 passengers on Lake Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—August sales of Hudson and Terraplane automobiles totaled 10,177 units, an increase of 21.5 per cent over sales of 8,372 units in August, 1936, W. R. Tracy, vice president, reported today.

U. S. TO REFUND $817,483,000 IN FEDERAL NOTES

Need No New Money This Quarter.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau announced today the government would offer two series of treasury notes, totaling $817,483,000, in exchange for a like amount of 3¼ per cent notes which mature Sept. 15. One series will bear interest at 1¼ per cent and mature in 15 months, while the other will bear interest at 2 per cent and mature in five years.

Sec. Henry Morgenthau Jr.

This is the first time that the treasury has been forced to pay 2 per cent on five year notes since June, 1934. Last June the rate was only 1¾ per cent. Secretary Morganthau admitted that the treasury was being required to pay higher interest rates because of increased commercial borrowing, which he said he welcomed as a healthful sign.

No New Money Needed.

In announcing the terms of the refinancing issues, treasury officials explained that it would not be necessary to borrow any new money this quarter because of their estimate that September income tax collections would total $500,000,000, the largest since 1929 and about $140,000,000 over September collections for a year ago. Income taxes may be paid quarterly, on the 15th, of March, June, September, and December, and most corporations and wealthy individuals take advantage of this privilege to save interest.

The treasury officials made their $500,000,000 estimate for September collections on the basis of higher returns as a result of the controversial tax on undistributed earnings. This tax forces the distribution of dividends, which means higher individual income taxes. However, treasury officials, basing their estimates for income tax collections in March on the operation of the same tax, were about $400,000,000 too high.

The treasury plans to apply $350,000,000 from the September income tax collections to the retirement of maturing discount bills, and this would reduce the national debt below the 37 billion dollar mark. As of Sept. 2, the debt stood at 37 billion 154 million.

Debt Still to Climb.

Even if reduced in this amount, however, the debt would rapidly climb back up because the treasury plans to issue a new series of bills after Sept. 15 in anticipation of March income tax collections. Weekly $50,000,000 issues have been sold in anticipation of December collections, but Secretary Morgenthau said they had been discontinued at $450,000,000, instead of the $500,000,000 which he had planned to raise in this manner. He was in a jubilant mood over the "saving" of this $50,000,000.

On Sept. 2 the deficit for this fiscal year—on the second day of the third month—was $407,415,279, against $373,938,063 on the same date last year. Expenditures for the two months and two days totaled $1,300,366,000, against $1,031,363,000 for the same period last year. Receipts were $892,950,000, against $657,425,697 for the same period last year. Thus, while receipts were up $235,545,000, largely as a result of collections from the social security taxes which are exchanged for government bonds and used for current spending, expenditures were up $269,003,000 and the deficit was up $33,577,000.

Acting Budget Director Daniel W. Bell said there would soon be a reduction in expenditures, however, because of the curtailment of WPA.

Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance.

Investors' Guide: I am thinking of putting some money into an annuity, with the Phoenix Insurance company in mind. Would it be safe?—Mrs. G. O. C.

Answer: The Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company, Hartford, Conn., has been in business since 1851. Originally a stock company, it was made purely mutual in 1889 and now is controled by its policyholders. Management has been by able insurance men for many years, and results achieved by the company are well above average. It is licensed to do business in thirty-six states.

Insurance in force increased from $589,864,000 to $610,499,000 during 1936. Insurance written amounted to $54,956,000 in 1936, compared with $47,794,000 the preceding year.

Admitted assets rose from $195,393,000 to a new high of $209,883,000 during 1936. Excluding $29,404,000 of loans to policyholders, 57 per cent of assets was in bonds considered of excellent quality. Mortgages made up 18 per cent and real estate 15 per cent of assets.

Income amounted to $43,735,000 and total disbursements were $30,849,000 during 1936—a favorable ratio. Cash yield on assets as a whole was 3½ per cent—a fair rate of return.

Expenses are regarded as quite low, mortality is favorable, and lapses are low. Net cost to policyholders has been low. Reserves are set up mainly on the strongest valuation basis in general use, and margins for contingencies appear to be ample.

Iowa Public Service 5s of 1957.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give me a brief analysis of Iowa Public Service company 5 per cent bonds of 1957. —J. E. P.

Answer: The Iowa Public Service company supplies electricity to about 225 communities and gas to twelve communities in western and north central Iowa. The population of the territory served is approximately 225,000. The company is controled by Penn Western Gas and Electric company, which owns all the common stock.

Both gross revenues and net income have fluctuated little during recent years. Interest and fixed charges were covered 1.66 times in 1936, 1.61 times in 1935, 1.51 times in 1934, 1.54 times in 1933, and 1.79 times in 1932. Peak earnings of 1929 covered charges 2.26 times.

The $13,293,000 of first mortgage bonds—5s of 1957 and 5½s of 1959—may be considered reasonably sound.

Everyday Economics

Start of the Packing Industry.

As population on the eastern seaboard increased during the early development of the country, live stock producers in that area found it impossible to keep pace with demand. Settlers in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys started to raise live stock.

With the advent of the railroad, stock was shipped to eastern centers where it was killed and processed. The first trend toward removal of the industry from the east occurred when pork packing was inaugurated in cities west of the Alleghanies. This consisted of packing pork in barrels with salt to keep it fresh during transit. From this practice the industry derived its name, now a misnomer. During the civil war Cincinnati was the nation's largest packing center.

About 1875 the refrigerator car was developed, which made possible the shipment of fresh meats, resulting in the rapid development of packing centers in Chicago and other middle western cities. Refrigeration made possible a continuous flow of fresh meats from the middle west not only to the east but to all parts of the world.

Tomorrow: Growth of the Packing Industry.

WHEAT, COTTON IN LIVERPOOL ARE SLIGHTLY LOWER

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Wheat and cotton closed moderately lower in quiet trading here today. Wheat finished at an American equivalent of ½ cent a bushel lower and cotton declined 1 to 3 points.

Early selling developed in wheat on reports of fair rains in Australia and Argentina and a bearish private crop estimate. Short covering helped boost prices later, however, and the close was steady. Wheat prices follow:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
December	$1.26⅛	$1.24¾	$1.26⅛	$1.26⅝
March	1.21⅞	1.20½	1.21⅞	1.22⅜

Exchange, $4.96.

Urges Strikes to Lower High Cost of Living

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—The rising cost of living, a cause of much complaint from housewives for many months, today was given attention by both government and labor.

D. E. Montgomery, consumers' counsel director for the Agricultural Adjustment administration, said that consumers might perform a "real public service" by conducting a buyers' strike to "end this alarming steady increase in prices."

Labor Demands Raises.

The American Federation of Labor declared:

"Rising costs of living make wage increases urgent. Any worker whose pay envelope this fall does not bring him 5 per cent more than last fall will be forced to a lower living standard. Living costs in July were already 4.3 per cent above 1936.

"Before the end of the year, prices are expected to increase further in meats, eggs, woolen clothing, furniture, floor covering, and rents. It is conservative to estimate that before winter it will take 5 per cent more to buy last year's living."

Montgomery declined to give his official approval to a consumers' strike because he said it is "not up to the consumers' counsel or any other government official to tell the consumers whether or not they have a right to strike."

But It Would "Help."

"But if you're asking," he said, "whether consumers could do any good for themselves by striking—

"I think they not only could help themselves immediately as consumers, but if they succeeded in putting an end to this alarming steady increase in prices, they would probably be performing a very real public service."

The question now seems to be, he said, whether "we are going to spend up our prosperity in a year as we did before, or whether we are going to try to balance our economic system."

BANKHEAD RAPS COTTON LOANS, U. S. THEORISTS

Charges Attempt to Depress Prices.

Jasper, Ala., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Government "theorists" were charged by Senator Bankhead [D., Ala.] today with a "deliberate effort" to lower cotton prices as southern farm groups sought a way to bolster growers' returns from the staple.

Bankhead, disappointed that the federal price pegging plan did not offer loans of 10 cents a pound on cotton and that adjustment payments will be made only on 65 per cent of base production, urged farmers to put their cotton in a holding pool financed by the government 9 cent loans to await better prices.

Assails Theorists.

"The loan plan," he charged, "was worked out by departmental theorists to accomplish two definite objectives: first, to reduce the price so as to bring about larger exports of cotton; second, to make the loan so unattractive that few farmers would put cotton under a government loan."

A spokesman for Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in Washington replied with the assertion that the sole purpose of the loan subsidy program was "to increase the income of the cotton farmer."

Defends Loan Plan.

"Loans," the spokesman added, "were made low enough to allow cotton to move freely in trade. We have found that when loans are fixed too high the government accumulates cotton, and exports are reduced."

From Memphis, meanwhile, came reports that a plan was afoot for formation of an organization in which New York brokers and southern planters would be aligned in a fight to regain world markets.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

War on Poison Ivy

September 6, 1937.

WAR has been declared on poison ivy at the Wheaton farm. Men immune to the poison from this plant have been assigned to grub, burn, or kill with chemicals every poisonous vine on the place.

This year weather conditions not only have been extremely favorable for the growing of feed and food crops, but also have been ideal for development of trees and shrubs and some of their worst enemies, particularly vines that choke and rob them of food elements. The woods in many spots are alive with poisonous vines, some having sprung up in areas where workers had them under control.

Up to this year men on the farm have been able to keep poison ivy fairly well under control by mowing with a scythe the patches of young vines that come up in the open areas between trees and by grubbing out the vines that grew on or near trees and valuable shrubs. These methods will be continued and supplemented with chemical treatments.

Tests to Show Best Ways.

The farm will make tests to find out the most effective and least expensive way of getting rid of poison ivy. The ivy is by far the most troublesome and persistent of the vines on the Wheaton place. Some poison ivy vines—2½ inches in diameter—were found in a survey of the woods lately. These will be grubbed out because they are growing on trees.

Common salt, generally recommended by experts, will be tried first. The farmers have little difficulty in keeping the vines under control in the cultivated fields or in the meadows regularly mowed.

In the open areas where the vines are growing a safe distance away from valuable plants the farm manager is going to treat the vines with a salt solution, made by dissolving three pounds of common salt in one gallon of water. The salt solution will be poured on the ground around the plants to kill the foliage. Dry salt also will be tried on a small patch.

Salt Kills Foliage.

Farmers have found that where the salt solution is persistently applied the poison ivy will gradually disappear. The salt kills the foliage. The underground stems of the ivy plants depend upon the leaves for food and will die without them.

The salt solution will be used again next year, perhaps in June, when the leaves are about full grown. The treatment will be repeated if new shoots appear.

Later the farm also may try waste oil taken from crank cases of tractors and automobiles. Some have been successful in getting rid of poison ivy vines by thinning old lubrication oil with kerosene to the point where it can be easily applied with a spray.

The farmers will continue to rely on grubbing, which still is regarded as one of the most effective means of eradicating poison ivy. The salt solution often is desirable where persons are susceptible to poison ivy and wish to avoid handling the plants.

In burning dry poison ivy plants, farmers are warned to keep away from the poisonous smoke.

Poison ivy is easily identified by comparing the foliage with that of Virginia creeper—the leaves look alike, but poison ivy has three leaflets and Virginia creeper has five. At this time of year poison ivy also has white berries while other simple vines have colored fruits.

AN OPEN LETTER TO AMBITIOUS GIRLS:

Much of your future happiness and success is at stake in the selection of a special training. Today's newspaper columns offer you courses in Nursing, Secretarial work, Modeling, Beauty Culture, Dressmaking, Designing, etc. Of these, Beauty Culture is the largest field for the natural talent every woman possesses. American women today spend more than six million dollars every week on hairdresses, manicures, and facials.

The largest, most successful school offering a complete course in Beauty Culture is the famous Marinello System of Beauty Culture at 108 N. State-street, Chicago, with branch schools in New York, London, Paris, and in twenty-two other cities in the U. S. Marinello preparations are approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. This is the only school licensed to teach the well known Zotos Machineless Permanent Wave.

Ambiguous statements and flowery promises have often misled the most cautious. There is no need to exaggerate the advantages, position preference, and prestige of Marinello training. Judge the possibilities of your future success by the past accomplishments of this worldwide institution that has trained more than 55,000 women.

Day or evening classes at Marinello must necessarily be limited and present low tuition rates cannot be guaranteed beyond this month. It will pay you to visit our School today and talk with our dean, L. A. Perraud. If you cannot do this, write or phone State 5057 for the National Descriptive Manual. Enrollments now for the semester.

JAPANESE WOMEN DEVELOP DANCE BASED ON GYMNASTICS—The war continues in North China between the Japs and the Chinese, but all Japanese women are not engaged in war activities. These dancers are developing a new rhythmical number based on the five fundamental poses of gymnastics. The new dance, resembling a calisthenic drill, was devised by Haku Ishii.

CROWD SEES FIREMEN IN THRILLING "RESCUES" AT TOURNAMENT—Fire fighters from Gary, Ind., (foreground), losing to team from Cicero in aerial ladder rescue contest yesterday during first annual tournament at Soldiers' field, held as feature of Chicago Charter Jubilee. The race was from the bottom of the ladders to the top, and then down with a "rescued" person on the shoulders. (Story on page 3.)
